A LA NYE STYLE JUNKETING DAYS CLOSE AT HAND

Senators' Wives Are All Aflutter.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—While declaiming against special privilege as the great iniquity of the age, the senate radicals have brought to a state of unprecedented perfection their pet special privilege of junketing at public expense. It remained for Senator Gerald P. Nye, the 38 year old radical Republican from Cooperstown, N. D., to reveal possibilities of luxurious travel at public expense which had never occurred before to his fellow friends of the plain people, but some of them are running him a close second in this respect.

Senator Nye it was who took the members of the senate public lands committee, of which he is chairman, and their wives to Florida during the Christmas holidays at public expense for the ostensible purpose of investigating the project of creating a national park in the Everglades.

Wives All Agog.

Now the congressional feminine contingent is aflutter with pleasurable anticipation of participation in the numerous junkets being planned to start immediately after the adjournment of the congress nine die next week.

There are to be tours of inspection of army posts, navy yards, public lands, national parks, water power sites, the Philippines and other insular possessions, waterways, the Panama canal, and Indian reservations, not to mention postoffices and other public buildings in the big towns with the bright lights.

The itinerary by the congressional explorers will be determined by climatic considerations, in according with the time honored principle enunciated by Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho].

Go South in Winter.

"I have noticed," said Senator Borah, "that congressional committees of investigation invariably go south in the winter and north in the summer."

And are the wives going along? They most certainly are, at least they intend to, thanks to the publication of young Mr. Nye's expense accounts, disclosing how wives, if not entire families, may be taken on the congressional junkets at public expense.

For this dispensation the women are indebted to the epoch making precedent of the Nye expense accounts, establishing that senatorial dignity on tour requires one Pullman drawing room per senator. Inasmuch as the Pullman company exacts a minimum of two railroad fares for each drawing room, it would be downright wastefulness, reasoned Mr. Nye, if a junketing senator were not to take the wife along on the extra ticket. Senator Nye denies that he established the precedent, but the women who were ignorant of this perquisite to be had for the picking insist upon regarding him as their benefactor. He may not have been the first to do it, but he was the first to be found out and thereby to spread the glad tidings.

Nye Gets $50,000 More.

Mr. Nye himself as chairman of the campaign funds investigating committee has been provided with a liberal travel allowance for the recess of congress. Having obtained senate approval of his $96,000 expense account for election surveillance, which included frequent trips to North Dakota and at least one committee conference in Glacier National park during the heat of term, Mr. Nye has been given carte blanche to draw on another $50,000.

Mr. Nye's Christmas holiday expedition to explor the Everglades included a voyage on a Miami yacht with orchestra and other Lydian delights which set Uncle Sam back in the amount of $1,687.50. That sport of millionaires, tarpon fishing, was also indulged in by the senatorial yachtsmen, Mr. Nye getting into the rotogravures with his catch.

Accompanying Mr. Nye on the Christmas junket were two other radical foes of special privilege, Senators Thomas J. Walsh [Dem., Mont.] and Peter Norbeck [Rep., S. D.]. Then there were Senators Otis F. Glenn [Rep., Ill.], Tasker L. Oddie [Rep., Nev.] and Henry F. Ashurst [Dem., Ariz.]. Senator Glenn, however, balked at the yacht trip. He surveyed the Everglades from a blimp furnished

HIDDEN GUARDS FIRE AS FELONS REACH OUTSIDE

Accomplices Escape Toward Chicago.

In a break for freedom from Joliet penitentiary early yesterday, three convicts from Chicago ran into an ambuscade of prison guards and were shot to death in the darkness along the gray stone walls.

Forewarned by the burst of gunfire, accomplices awaiting the escaping convicts in two cars, sped away from the prison toward Chicago. Pursued by prison cars, the plotters escaped in the darkness.

THE DEAD.

Joseph Norkiewicz, 30 years old, formerly of 837 Milwaukee avenue, who was serving from one to ten years for larceny. Shot in the head, the throat and shoulders, he died instantly.

Julio Chileno, 29 years old, a confidence man and suspected leader of the plot. He had served prior terms in the Maryland and New Jersey penitentiaries and in this instance was convicted in Chicago and sentenced to serve from one to ten years. He, too, was instantly killed.

Alvin J. Kilmon, 32 years old, former salesman of 5240 Winthrop avenue, convicted of six robbery charges and serving from one to twenty years. He died ten hours after the shooting in the prison hospital.

For three weeks the prison authorities had been aware that some of the inmates were hatching a plot to escape. Not knowing the extent of the plot, Warden Henry Hill ordered twenty guards to night patrol duty outside the wall.

Becoming ill, the warden came to Michael Reese hospital here for treatment, but the vigilance was unrelaxed. Col. Frank Whipp, state superintendent of prisons, took the warden's place at Joliet.

British Chief Inspects Prison.

There was tension among the guards when, on Saturday, Alexander Patterson, commissioner of prisons in England and Wales, made a visit to the institution. His inspection passed without incident, however.

But within the east cell block, housing some of the more trusted prisoners, five men were plotting the final details of a scheme to bring them liberty. All five had been detailed for some months to early morning duty in the kitchen.

Their opportunity came at 3 a. m. yesterday. Awakened by guards, they shuffled in line down the yard to the refectory house where, in the course of normal routine, they would be busy for the next few hours cooking oatmeal and coffee for the breakfast of the 1,800 other inmates.

Lone Guard Is Overpowered.

As usual, one guard, Frank Lambert, was left in charge of them. For a few minutes until the footsteps of their escort across the yard had died away, the five pretended to be busy with their regular duties.

Covertly, then, Norkiewicz and Chileno armed themselves with butcher knives. All five rushed the guard. With knives at his throat, Lambert dropped his prison club and permitted his captors to thrust him into a refrigerator. They slammed the door.

From the adjoining bakery one of the five men seized an armful of four foot sticks, ordinarily used to shove pastries into the ovens. Within twenty minutes, using nails they had smuggled from the machine shop, the plotters had constructed a 20 foot ladder, crude and shaky, but strong enough for the brief use they intended.

Start Race to Walls.

All was ready for the break at 3:40 a. m. The steel door of the refectory was unlocked and unguarded. Passing out, they trotted at a crouch across the deserted yard to the southeast corner of the prison plant, where stands a two story structure housing a tool shed and barber shop.

Against this building they planted the ladder. Norkiewicz, the first to clamber up, carried a length of cable ending in a steel hook, which had been smuggled with the nails from the machine shop.

Norkiewicz gained the roof, followed by Chileno and Kilmon. Creeping across the tarred surface, he wriggled onto the abutting wall and clamped the hook inside leaving the cable hanging outside.

Ambushed Guards Open Fire.

Norkiewicz slid safely to the ground. Chileno followed, and the ambushed guards made no sign. The third man was about to drop over the

MELBOURNE, Australia, Feb. 23 (Monday).—(AP)—Dame Nellie Melba, 65, famous Australian soprano, died here early today after an illness of weeks. The famous prima donna returned to Australia after having contracted an illness in Egypt which responded to treatment at first but recurred after she began the journey back to Australia.

She had to leave her ship and enter a hospital at Sydney, but became better and continued to Melbourne, which she regarded as home. She took ill again and has been in a hospital since, her condition aggravated by the intense heat of the Australian summer.

Her illness took the form of a strange skin disease, believed to have been contracted in Egypt, which baffled physicians.

APPEARED HERE IN 1893.

Mme. Melba, the "Australian Nightingale," first appeared in the United States with De Reskes at Chicago during the World's Fair in 1893. In 1897 she headed the Damrosch-Ellis Opera company on its American tour, opening in Philadelphia Nov. 29 in "Faust," with the French tenor, Ibos. She reappeared in America in 1900 and 1902 in "Rigoletto" and again in 1903 in "Faust."

In 1907 she sang lyric roles at the Manhattan Opera house. In 1908 she was heard in "La Boheme," "Tosca," and Verdi's "Otello." In 1913, in company with Jan Kubelik, she made a concert tour of the United States and Canada, giving more than 100 performances.

Born Near Melbourne.

Mme. Melba was born near Melbourne, Australia, and took her stage name from that city. She was the daughter of David Mitchell, a contractor. When 19, she married Capt. Charles N. F. Armstrong, son of an Irish baronet. The following year a son, George Nesbit Armstrong, was born to her. A separation from both husband and son followed a short time later, and in 1900 Capt. Armstrong, then engaged in ranching near Galveston, Tex., obtained a divorce.

During the years she was separated from her boy Melba continued to lavish upon him everything within her command except her maternal presence. When he was 23 came the reconciliation and young Armstrong joined his mother in Kansas City while she was touring America. In 1906 he married Ruby Otway, daughter of a London millionaire, and it was reported that his mother presented him a castle in Ireland and an annuity.

In recognition of her work on behalf of the British soldiers during the war Mme. Melba was made a Dame of the British Empire, a title she is said to have valued second only to her marvelous singing voice.

FALLS OFF HOTEL FIRE ESCAPE AND BREAKS SKULL

Walking upon a fire escape of the Palmer house in the belief it was an exit stairway, John P. O'Leary, 28 years old, fell a floor and a half to the sidewalk on the State street side early this morning and was critically injured. He was taken to St. Luke's hospital suffering from a skull fracture.

According to police, O'Leary attended a fourth degree initiation of the Knights of Columbus, council No. 773. He left the induction rooms and started for a stairway. He stumbled upon the fire escape, lost his balance, and fell. Two addresses were found in his pocket, one 7971 South Marshfield avenue, the other 847 West 50th street.

Woman to Die with Lover in Chair at Dawn

Rockview Penitentiary, near Bellefonte, Pa., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Irene Schroeder and W. Glenn Dague waited quietly for death tonight, apparently facing the realization that they must pay with their lives for the murder of a state highway patrolman.

When the hour hand of the clock reaches the figure 7 tomorrow morning the blonde who forsook the prosaic life of waitress to blaze a trail of crime half way across the continent will be led from her cell in "death row" to the electric chair. Mrs. Schroeder probably will die first, Warden Stanley P. Ashe said.

Sleep, Eat and Read Papers.

Both drifted into an untroubled sleep between 10 and 11 o'clock last night. They were called for breakfast at approximately 7 this morning. They seemed refreshed and appeared unmindful of the fact that they had but twenty-four hours more to live.

After eating heartily of breakfast Mrs. Schroeder asked if she might have some "funny papers." They were supplied and she read them with apparent pleasure.

Irene, who is 22, will be the first woman ever to be electrocuted in Pennsylvania and the second in the United States, said a final farewell to her father, Joseph Crawford, and her brother, John Crawford, this morning.

It was barely possible that the lovers might be allowed to say good-by to each other tonight. Warden Ashe would not say definitely whether he would permit such a meeting.

If they were not allowed to say a last good-by Irene may catch a glimpse of Dague in his death cell as she walks the 15 feet to the electric chair.

Six Couples Executed Together.

New York, Feb. 22.—(AP)—When Irene Schroeder and Walter Glenn Dague go to the electric chair tomorrow in Pennsylvania it will be the sixth time in the history of the United States a man and a woman have been executed together.

Mrs. Schroeder will be the 27th woman to pay the death penalty and the eleventh to die in Pennsylvania for a crime.

Bandit Shoots Victim as He Protects Wife

While robberies and burglaries increased over the week-end police, sheriff's men, and government agents hunted Al Capone, the gang chieftain who, while keeping under cover, was reported making plans for throwing his weight into the mayoralty campaign tomorrow. Details on Page 2.

As his wife, holding their infant child, hid in terror behind a locked closet door, Samuel Gorbatkin, 32 years old, was shot three times in the back and probably mortally wounded by a colored bandit in the rear living quarters of his delicatessen at 5309 Indiana avenue late last night. In the same hour Raymond Jones, 28 years old, 6046 Harper avenue, a railroad fireman, was probably fatally stabbed while resisting two Negro strong arm men at Oak and Franklin streets.

The shooting of Gorbatkin was described by police as coldblooded. He was in his shop when the robber entered and took $100 from the till. His wife, Jane, and their son, Samuel, 1 year old, were in the rear. After taking the loot the Negro demanded more money and started for the rear. Gorbatkin pleaded against his entering the living quarters.

Tries to Protect Family.

"Only my wife and child are there and you'll frighten them," he said.

The bandit brushed Gorbatkin aside. At this moment, Mrs. Gorbatkin, noticing the holdup, locked herself and the child in a closet. As the gunman stepped to the rear he failed to see the storekeeper's family. Apparently angered over what he believed deception on his victim's part, he leveled his revolver at him and fired three shots, all taking effect. He escaped and Mrs. Gorbatkin called police. Gorbatkin was taken to the Chicago hospital, where it was said he might die.

The stabbing of Jones was followed by the arrest of his assailants. The prisoners are Louis Lendiman, 50 years old, 822 Townsend street, and Clive Taylor, 34 years old, 906 Orleans street. They were captured after a chase in which police fired twelve shots.

Robberies Show Increase.

A survey of police records shows a general increase in holdups and burglaries from Jan. 1 to Feb. 18, 1931, over a similar period last year, and also reveals the same number of murders, 46, for the same period as last year. Excluding 47 robberies reported Saturday night and Sunday up to 6 p. m. yesterday, it is disclosed that up to and including Feb. 18 there were 1,590 holdups as against 1,143 for a corresponding time in 1930. Burglaries for 1931 total 841 as against 611 up to Feb. 18, 1930. The 1931 crimes sum up to 2,404.

Records reveal further that 22 men have been slain committing crimes this year. Of these, fourteen were killed by civilians, and eight by police. The most recent slayings of law breakers were those of Daniel Costello, bandit, and Joseph Muscato, extortionist, both of whom were brought down by civilians. Costello was shot by Peter Chrusiel, storekeeper at 1749 Huron street, and Muscato by Attilio Scalditti, 730 South Loomis street.

Record of Day's Crime.

The crime record of 47 robberies in twenty-four hours, as taken from police teletype messages forwarded to all stations, is as follows:

SATURDAY.

6 p. m.—Frederick Wilson, 5824 Michigan avenue, laundry wagon driver, held up by two Negroes at 45th and State streets and robbed of $1.80.

FOR MAYOR
☒ JOHN H. LYLE

BY PARKE BROWN.

As he finished his first day under the police guard provided for him without solicitation by Acting Commissioner Alcock, Judge Lyle turned last night to the two motorcycle policemen who had been escorting him.

"Go back to Chief Alcock," he said, "and tell him not to worry about me. Tell him to do his worrying about Al Capone. There are two warrants out for Capone which I issued and neither has been served. Tell Alcock to get service on those warrants.

"I'll take care of myself. I have done it so far in this campaign. Capone and his gangsters are cowards and they wouldn't attack me.

Better Use for Policemen.

"There's better use for policemen than guarding the mayor or singing campaign songs for him. As a candidate for mayor, I don't approve withdrawal of policemen from active duty, when Al Capone comes to town, or at any other time for political purposes. When I am mayor my chief will arrest gangsters like Capone or I'll get a new chief."

"I have no criticism of your service," said the judge in dismissing his guardians. "It has been that of the honest, courageous men who constitute the majority of the city police, but I know that you'd rather be out doing real police work instead of parade duty. We'll all go to work together next April."

More Thompson Promises.

Except for this, the Sunday before tomorrow's primary passed almost without incident. Mayor Thompson appeared before a Negro meeting in the Eighth Regiment armory, where he promised all sorts of things to the colored race—promises that he had failed to keep, some of his auditors said, during his present term.

The Lyle enthusiasm appeared to converge toward a final rally at the Studebaker theater this noon and the Thompson supporters centered their attention on work of the payrollers in the wards today and tomorrow. The candidacies of Ald. Albert F. Albert, George K. Schmidt, and Eugene McCaffrey seemed to fade out of the picture because of the importance generally conceded to the major contest.

Litigant Starts Attack.

Thompson launched an eleventh hour attack on Judge Lyle by announcing that, regardless of the result of the primary, he would support an Evanston resident, Newell Mecartney, in an effort for impeachment of the judge. Mecartney, it was disclosed, was a disappointed litigant before Judge Lyle and admitted his own prejudice because of that fact.

"But," said Chairman Snow of the Republican county committee, "as I understand it, this is simply another evidence that Thompson still considers himself outside the Republican party. He went away from the party last year when he indorsed Lewis for senator and now, although submitting himself to the voters of the party, he announces that he will not abide by the decision of the party if it goes against him. He is no longer a Republican."

Urges Citizens Be Protected.

In his speeches during the day Judge Lyle urged that the protection of the law be thrown around the innocent citizen.

"Any one," he said, "who will take the time or trouble to glance over the tables shown in the annual report of the police department is surprised at the great difference between the number of persons arrested and the number of convicted.

"Many persons are arrested for technical violations of city ordinances and similar minor offenses and are thrown into filthy cells in police stations and held there for many hours without being permitted to telephone to their friends or relatives. Others are given 'tickets' which later are 'fixed,' thereby serving the purpose of putting the victim under obligation to some politician.

Heedless Arrests Resented.

"That the indiscriminate, heedless and thoughtless arrests of persons is resented by our citizens is shown by the fact that during the ten years from 1920 to 1929, inclusive, there were 1,129 policemen arrested upon complaints by citizens who resented the treatment given them by officers of the law.

"There was an average of 111 policemen arrested each year during that ten years.

"When I am mayor the heedless and oppressive arrests of law abiding citizens who are not suspected of crimes and who are not guilty of violating the laws or ordinances will not be permitted."

Would Part Police and Politics.

Judge Lyle also talked of ridding the police department of politics.

"The police department," he said, should be entirely free from politics. Politics is the root of all evil in the administration of the police departments of this and other cities. The police department without politics may be inefficient, but the police department controlled or even influenced by politics is sure to be inefficient and worse.

"During my administration of the city government there will be no appointment, promotion or transfer of a policeman, no expenditure of a single dollar, no grant or refusal of a single one of the tens of thousands of licenses and permits, which the police commissioner controls, which will be influenced by any political consideration.

Base Promotion on Merit.

"I believe that a majority of the members of the Chicago police force would like to see the department kept out of politics and when I once convince them that no political influence can help or hurt them, then they will realize that their opportunity of promotion rests wholly upon the proper performance of their duties.

"The police commissioner whom I shall appoint will himself be independent of political control. He will, thereby, create his own atmosphere in the department, and will not be importuned for improper favors which the fixers will soon learn are not to be had.

"As the mayor is the only public official to whom the police commissioner will be responsible, I wish to assure the people of Chicago that I will never make any request or intimation on him designed to influence his official action, through favor shown to me or to my friends, on any matter.

For an Independent Chief.

"On the contrary, I will repeatedly assure him of my chief desire, that he should maintain that independence of judgment and conduct, which will be the basic condition of his acceptance of the office of commissioner of police during my administration as mayor.

"I will absolutely divorce the police department from politics.

"I will select a police commissioner possessing high and comprehensive ideals of police efficiency.

"Police graft will be stamped out and commercialized racketeering and gambling will be smashed."

HUNT AL CAPONE AS HE GATHERS GANG FOR POLLS

Henchman Pledges First Ward to City Hall.

Police, deputy sheriffs and government men were hunting last night for Al Capone, public enemy No. 1 and reputed contributor of $150,000 to Mayor Thompson's primary campaign fund, who was reported to be back in Chicago to direct the activities of his gangsters at the primary polls tomorrow.

Although Capone apparently has avoided his usual haunts on the south side and in Cicero, it is reported that he is in hiding at a place where he can see to it that his interests at the polls are looked after.

Capone is due to appear in the federal court Wednesday to answer an old contempt of court charge. The police have a vagrancy warrant issued months ago by Judge John H. Lyle charging him with vagrancy.

Pledges First Ward to City Hall.

One of the fresh indications of Capone's presence in the city was that Frank Rio, his personal bodyguard and a helper of City Sealer Dan Serritella, Capone lieutenant and member of Thompson's cabinet, gave assurances to the Thompson headquarters during the day that the First ward would be delivered for Thompson.

Rio is a handy man with a gun. He has been accused of the murder of a policeman and has been in several penitentiaries. He served a prison term with Capone in Philadelphia for carrying concealed weapons.

The Serritella forces, which by Capone's orders carried the First ward for Senator Deneen in the primary a year ago—the only ward that he carried—reported difficulties with one group, the Carrozza followers, and the need of such men as Rio was made known.

Serritella After Three Wards.

Serritella was said to be anxious to have the First ward give Thompson a heavy vote and to be able to "do business" in the Twentieth and Twenty-seventh wards.

While the police were looking for Capone, Benjamin Epstein, one of the gang chief's counsel in the federal court case, said he had not heard from Capone and knew no more of his whereabouts than what he had read in the newspapers.

It was noticeable yesterday that other gangsters with Capone affiliations were in seclusion. This was regarded as evidence that the gang leader has ordered his henchmen to attend a meeting at which he would deliver instructions for their conduct on primary day.

THOMPSON ENDS CAMPAIGN WITH PLEA TO NEGROES

Speaks on Football at Meeting.

Mayor Thompson made his principal speech yesterday before a colored audience at the Eighth Regiment armory, 3517 Giles avenue. He told them that Negroes will "go in the front gate" at the World's Fair if they help keep him in office.

Thompson said: "The fair's going to be right over here on the other side of the railroad tracks," but if his opponent was elected he said the colored people would go in the back gate or not at all.

"If I talked here two hours I couldn't make a vote because every damn one of you will vote for me anyway," he said.

Crowd Around Him.

As Thompson came down the aisle the crowd surged toward him and several Negro women tried to put their arms around his neck. There were shouts of approval as he shook hands with the colored speakers and when State Senator Adelbert H. Roberts introduced him as "Father Thompson."

Thompson told a story about a football game, but he was interrupted several times by noise outside the building.

He said that the only way for the Negroes who are out of work to get jobs would be to beat his opponents so that one million visitors a year would come to Chicago, each spending $10, and thereby giving the Negroes their share of ten million dollars. This arithmetical calculation took nearly ten minutes of his speaking time.

Concert Follows Speech.

"You people know how to vote and I know how you're going to vote," he concluded. "Go out and give 'em hell."

As Thompson left the armory a struggle between several white policemen and Negro soldiers over possession of a gun carried by a Negro attracted a large part of the crowd in one corner of the building. After the soldiers got the gun some of the audience stayed for a band concert and further speechmaking by Thompson candidates for city offices.

VOTE TOMORROW.
Polls open 6 a. m. to 5 p. m.

RUSH POTLIKKER VIA AIR MAIL TO MAYOR WALKER

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—Mayor James J. Walker of New York, the only personage who has been brash enough to plead ignorance of the existence and delights of potlikker and cornpone, tomorrow morning will no longer have an excuse.

His honor will receive a liberal sized thermos bottle of real Georgia potlikker, prepared by Henry Jordan, southern cooking authority, and a pone or two of cornbread mixed by Willie Daniels, Atlanta cateress.

MOTHERS now learn value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy, every mother should learn all about Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by souring food in the little digestive tract, such as sour belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, colic. As a mild laxative, it acts gently, but certainly, to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding and preventing hard curds. Its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting book, "Useful Information." It will be sent you, FREE. Write The Phillips Co., 170 Varick St., New York, N. Y.

In buying, be sure to get only genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely, and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely.

To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid Arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid Arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

MOBILIZE 70,000 TO GUARD POLLS AGAINST FRAUD

Judge Jarecki and Ballot Board on Alert.

Prompted by warnings against fraud and violence at tomorrow's primary, County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki and the board of election commissioners determined yesterday to take extraordinary precautions to protect the polling places and insure an honest count of the ballots.

Judge Jarecki announced that approximately 70,000 persons, scattered among the city's 2,987 precincts, will be officially interested in enforcement of the election laws. He said that 45,000 credentials have been issued to watchers. In addition to these there will be 15,500 judges and clerks, 6,200 challengers, a policeman in each precinct, and special squads of policemen and "trouble shooters" at the city hall.

Investigates All Complaints.

"Everything humanly possible has been done," Judge Jarecki said. "We have received many complaints and there has been some talk of violence. All complaints are being investigated."

Judge Jarecki made public his answer to a letter from Judge Lyle expressing concern over reports that city hall gangsters would attempt to steal the election. He promised that his office and the election board will exert every effort to prevent any such occurrence.

Former Gov. Edward F. Dunne, attorney for the board, spent several hours yesterday in conference with a special staff of attorneys who will settle any disputes arising at the polling places. These men will be placed at the telephones in the election board's offices.

Fire on Council Candidate.

The police last night were investigating two reports of pre-primary violence.

Theodore Clifford, 8218 South Wabash avenue, aldermanic candidate in the 8th ward, reported that two men in an automobile had fired at him as he was driving away from his political headquarters. One bullet shattered the glass in the door beside the driver's seat and smashed his windshield, Clifford said. His face was cut by glass.

Two men were beaten in the 20th ward, according to a report made to the police by John Dooley, political worker for John O'Shay, an aldermanic candidate. The men beaten are Bernard Sheehan, 4443 Wilcox street, and John C. Grady, 4312 Monroe street. Sheehan was forced into an alley and beaten while Grady was kidnaped by men in an automobile, struck several times, and thrown out, Dooley said. Both had been distributing political circulars.

ALDERMAN HAS RIVAL ARRESTED ON LIBEL CHARGE

Joseph S. Kobrzynski, candidate for alderman in the Thirty-second ward against Ald. Joseph Higgins Smith, was arrested last night on a warrant sworn out by Ald. Smith charging him with the distribution of slanderous literature. Kobrzynski was taken to the Racine avenue police station and released on bond.

J. S. KOBRZYNSKI.

Ald. Smith alleged that Kobrzynski instigated the distribution of handbills reproducing an account in an afternoon newspaper of the arrest of James Pope, 2339 West Superior street, in connection with a reported attack on a young woman. The account mentioned an "unnamed alderman" as being involved. A typewritten note is reproduced on the handbill which contains innuendo against Ald. Smith, it is charged.

Kobrzynski denied emphatically that he knew anything about the handbills or that he had anything to do with their distribution. Several copies found in his office, he said, were brought there by a messenger whom he did not know. He said he would start court action against Ald. Smith, charging false arrest.

A NIGHT LETTER from Ring Lardner

New York, Feb. 22.—[Special.]—This is the day set aside for the commemoration of George Washington's birth and another holiday for the unemployed. It is said of George that he threw a dollar across the Rappahannock river, but Mr. Coolidge examined the opposite shore carefully and couldn't find it. It is also said that George never told a lie, but that was long before they had an income tax. RING LARDNER.

J., after participating in the annual American naval maneuvers. She is expected to arrive at the Cuban naval base late tomorrow afternoon.

Burglars broke into the apartment of George Depasta, 6801 Sheridan road, Greek consul general in Chicago, some time Saturday, ransacked closets, dresser drawers and cases, and took jewelry valued at $16,400, it was learned last night.

Consul Depasta reported the burglary to Rogers Park police. He and his wife left their apartment in the Rogers Park hotel about 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon for a visit with friends in Glen Ellyn. They returned shortly after midnight and discovered their loss. Lieut. Steve Barry found the thieves entered the Depasta apartment by picking the lock.

Among the jewelry articles stolen were twelve diamond rings ranging in value from $120 to $1,200; three sets of diamond earrings valued at $1,200, $100, and $1,300; three watches costing $850, $1,000 and $100; a pearl chain valued at $500; four bar pins costing from $30 to $500, and a diamond brooch worth $200.

ALBERT VISIONS MAYOR'S DEFEAT IN FINAL TALKS

Says Waste, High Taxes Are Real Issues.

Ald. Arthur F. Albert brought his campaign for the Republican mayoralty nomination to an end last night by predicting that the voters would send Mayor Thompson into "political oblivion" at the polls tomorrow.

Addressing six mass meetings and speaking over the radio, Ald. Albert declared the people of Chicago were prepared to redeem their city, and the only question was "how sweeping the vote will be."

"Rescue from the staggering taxes is the one thing," Albert said, "in which the voters are interested in this campaign. They know that the graft, inefficiency, incompetency and unscrupulous governmental methods of the Thompson administration have caused these unreasonable taxes. They know their only hope of saving their homes, property and earnings from eventual confiscation is by ousting Thompson."

Says Even Jackasses Know Result.

"Not even Thompson's jackasses are so dumb that they cannot see the doom of Thompsonism in this frantic fleeing of the voters," Albert said. "The only question left unanswered is how deeply the voters will plunge Thompson into oblivion on Tuesday.

"I have conducted a clean, constructive campaign," Albert said. "I have told why taxes are high and how I propose to lower them. I have told why crime is rampant and how I shall clean up that situation. I have outlined my system of budgetary control of municipal finances. I have promised to give the children of Chicago the best schools in the world without bankrupting their parents."

Allen Sees Albert Victory.

Jacob D. Allen, Albert's campaign manager, issued a statement saying: "It's all over but the counting. With the hardworking organization represented in every ward and precinct in the city, the world will get the welcome news on Tuesday night that Chicago has redeemed itself, overwhelmingly and decisively, and nominated Arthur Albert.

INSURANCE MAN HANGS SELF IN CLOSET AT HOME

Walter D. Jacobson, 50 years old, La Salle street life insurance representative, was found hanging in a closet of his apartment at 3424 Leland avenue by his wife, daughter, and son on their return home early this morning from a visit with friends.

For a while detectives investigated on the possibility that his death was not suicide, because the apartment was in disorder. Chairs were overturned and other household articles were disturbed. However, Lieut. John Burke of the Albany Park station, in charge of the inquiry, could find no evidence of a forced entrance by an outsider and said he believed Jacobson had ended his own life. He said, however, that the investigation would include the possibility of Jacobson having been slain.

No motive for suicide was discovered. Jacobson had offices at 208 South La Salle street.

Wives of Senators Are All a-Flutter.

The wives accompanying the expedition were Mrs. Nye, Mrs. Ashurst, Mrs. Glenn, and Mrs. Oddie. Senator Walsh is a widower. Mrs. Norbeck said she didn't care to go, as she had been to Florida.

An ingenious combination of business and pleasure was the trip to Alaska arranged last summer by another radical senator, Robert B. Howell [Rep., Neb.], to investigate the Alaska railroad. The other members of the committee were Senators John B. Kendrick [Dem., Wyo.] and John Thomas [Rep., Idaho]. The journey to and from Alaska was made on two destroyers furnished by the navy department.

Classmate of Coontz.

Senator Howell is a graduate of the United States Naval academy, class of 1885. One of his classmates and a boom friend is Admiral Robert E. Coontz, now retired, who rose to be chief of operations. Admiral Coontz once served in Alaskan waters and was married at Sitka, forty years ago. At the instance of Senator Howell his old friend, the admiral, was recalled from retirement for this expedition and given command of the two destroyers taking the senatorial party to Alaska. The admiral was enabled to revisit the haunts of his youth. The admiral and the senators were enabled to renew recollections of their early days at sea.

The committee was appointed to find out why the government owned and operated Alaska railroad costs the government $1,000,000 a year. Senator Howell is a noted government ownership champion. He came back with the report that the railroad operated at a loss, not because of government ownership, but in spite of it. The cost of the investigation was $4,360.

Frazier Also Travels.

Senator Nye's colleague, Lynn J. Frazier, another radical, who is chairman of the senate committee on Indian affairs, is an extensive traveler, together with other members of the committee in inspecting conditions on Indian reservations. These tours have cost $55,619 up to date.

Still another radical who is traveling widely is Senator John J. Blaine [Rep., Wis.], who is chairman of a senate committee investigating postoffice leases in many cities. His expense account, so far, exceeds $14,000.

Senators F. C. Walcott [Rep., Conn.], H. B. Hawes [Dem., Mo.], Key Pittman [Dem., Nev.], C. L. McNary [Rep., Ore.], and Peter Norbeck [Rep., S. D.], traveled extensively investigating the conservation of wild life at a cost of $18,864.

A new form of government for American Samoa was devised by a joint senate and house committee, which journeyed to the south seas last fall on the cruiser Omaha, at a cost of $13,000. The committee consisted of Senators Hiram Bingham [Rep., Conn.] and Joseph T. Robinson [Dem., Ark.] and Representatives C. L. Beedy [Rep., Me.] and Guinn Williams [Dem., Tex.].

Notorious as junkets have been many of the funeral parties appointed by the senate and house to accompany the bodies of deceased members to the place of burial.

Formerly, and to some extent, still, these parties were marked en route by much drinking and poker playing. At stops en route, there was sightseeing. Arrived at the destination, the committee invariably disperses, few of the members even attending the funeral. The custom is for members, upon arrival, to obtain from the sergeant at arms accompanying the party, a voucher good for the expense of return transportation at any time. Then the member may depart upon business and pleasure, returning to Washington at his convenience.

File Requests in Advance.

The vice president and the speaker appoint to the funeral committees members requesting the honor. It is well recognized that the requests in the majority of cases are made by members desiring to go home on business or to travel for pleasure at public expense. Many are the stories told of requests filed in advance of the death of a member who is seriously ill and not expected to live.

There is much congressional winter travel to the Panama Canal Zone, where senators and representatives can go free of charge on government steamers, and live at zone hotels at 20 per cent discount from regular rates if not entertained by zone officials. Liquor is one of the Panama attractions. A statesman possessing the freedom of the port on his return can bring back enough liquor to last him a year.

TAKES POISON

MRS. CATHERINE K. FOGARTY

Dallas, Tex., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—Catherine King Fogarty, who idled away some time at Hot Springs, Ark., while Gene Tunney was in the same town and subsequently sued him for $200,000, attempted suicide last night by taking poison.

Beside her on a table in the apartment hotel in which she was living with her mother was a large photograph of Tunney.

She was taken to the municipal hospital. After recovering her senses she said she would repeat the attempt until successful. Her mother said she had been depressed by financial worries and lack of congenial employment. The woman is 38 and a Fort Worth divorcee.

MYSTERY, CAST STILL CLOAKING W. PERKINS BULL

Police Seeking Hoodlums "Out to Get Him."

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—There was snow on the front steps of the Bull mansion today and ice in the voices of those who attended the wounded W. Perkins Bull, K. C., in a nearby hospital. The Toronto police had been punching their aristocratic doorbells—in the case of the senior Bull's home, an elaborate bronze steer head knocker equipped with horns.

The police were seeking information concerning reports that Chicago hoodlums were in town to "get the Bulls." The officers tonight confessed they had obtained little information and had found no gunmen. They were asking the same question that is on every one's lips here:

"What is it all about?"

Don't Expect Gunmen.

"We had no authentic information that Al Capone's gunmen were here, or coming here, to get W. Perkins Bull," said Inspector of Detectives Alex Murray tonight. "There is no police guard placed upon Mr. Bull at the hospital or is there any guard at the home. Not within my recollection has there been an American gunman come across the border into Canada to kill any one. The truth is American gunmen fear the rope and they fear the efficiency of Canadian police and Canadian justice.

"There are no moving pictures and baseball games in connection with Canadian prisons as there are in American penitentiaries. They molly-coddle them over there and as a result many of their criminals would rather be in prison than at home. No—I don't believe any Capone men are coming across the border."

Young Bartle Bull and Dr. W. C. Wooton, the family friend from Arkansas, apparently were considerably annoyed by the police interest in the case. They were reported to have been questioned.

Young Bull Takes Flight.

Bartle Bull, found sauntering up and down the main reception room of the hospital, took to an elevator and refused to answer questions this afternoon.

Dr. Wooton, known locally as mystery man number two in the great Bull drama, dropped by the hospital early today and then went into retirement behind the horns of the Bull knocker that adorns the Bull mansion.

The Toronto physician, who is treating Mr. Bull, was avilable for questioning, but knew nothing about the background of his case. "Mr. Bull," he said, "should be able to see newspaper men in from four days to a week. I am going to suggest that he do so, but that is as far as I can go. We put him in a plaster cast yesterday and when he began to revive from the anesthetic he was mumbling about his travels in various parts of the world.

"No, I cannot tell you anything he said."

Meanwhile, the hotel lobbies and clubs were filled with gossip about the kaleidoscopic career of the opulent Mr. Bull since he was a practicing barrister in Toronto more than twenty years ago.

A search through the yellowing files of Toronto newspapers revealed that the same Bull who set Chicago scratching its head in curiosity, had staid Toronto puzzled a decade or more ago.

Call Him "Jersey Bull."

The Toronto World of Dec. 20, 1912, reports: "Our friend W. P. Bull of the Jersey herd at Brampton, of the Assyrian museum whiskers and the Cuba orange groves, is back in London again selling Red Deer, Canada, lots to the British public. But W. P. is known in the London papers as 'Mr. W. Perkins Bull, K. C.' Up at the stock exhibitions they call him 'Jersey Bull.'

A more recent slipping from the Star concerns the presentation to Mr. Bull of a young bull calf while he was residing at the old Belmont hotel in New York City i nthe fall of 1923. The story says in part:

"There is at the Hotel Belmont a hearty gentleman named W. Perkins Bull who hails from London. He promotes, I believe. He is known for his dominant and masterful conversation. Each morning he brushes his abundant whiskers with firm invigorating strokes and then goes out to make up bundles of our most prominent financiers. One recent morning was his birthday and he was presented with a bull calf in a crate."

Then on July 13, 1913, the Toronto Star Weekly wrote of Mr. Bull as follows:

"That well known member of the Toronto bar, as he is known in London, Mr. W. P. Bull, K. C., is again in the limelight of the British metropolis—for some time Mr. Bull practiced law in Toronto, being a member of the firm of Bull, Hollis & Wilson. Bull, it seems, made some money in Cuban lands, orange groves or something of the kind, after which he went over to London and became quite prominent as president of the British-Canadian Realty, Ltd., a company with great faith in real estate in Red Deer, Alberta. When Mr. Bull was in Toronto he always extended an atmosphere of prosperity."

When a message was sent into the Bull apartment at the hospital requesting comment on the divorce granted yesterday in Wisconsin to Mrs. Maybelle Horlick Sidley from Dr. John Streeter Sidley, there was no answer forthcoming. Mr. Bull had been acting as attorney for the Horlick Malted Milk heiress and a $250,000 damage suit brought by Dr. Sidley had grown out of the now famous case.

LONGWORTH TO BE SPEAKER AGAIN IF G.O.P. RUNS HOUSE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Nicholas Longworth of Ohio is considered certain to be the Republican candidate for speaker of the house.

The selection will be made at the party caucus next Thursday. Many members high in the Republican ranks said today there would be no opposition to Speaker Longworth, who now is serving his third term.

The Democrats plan to caucus on Dec. 5, two days before the regular session, unless a special session is called.

Because of the close division between the Democrats and Republicans, neither party knows which will organize. The Republicans have 218 seats, the Democrats 216, counting 2 vacancies, and the Farmer-Labor party 1.

YOUNG KIRKLAND FACES TRIAL FOR GIN DEATH TODAY

Charged with Murder in Liquor Tragedy.

Valparaiso, Ind., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—Virgil Kirkland, 20 years old, of Gary, charged with the murder of his high school sweetheart, will go on trial for his life before Circuit Judge Grant Crumpacker in Porter county court here tomorrow.

Indicted by a Lake county jury last Dec. 3, Kirkland obtained a severance from four others, Leon Stanford, Paul Barton, Henry Shirk, and David Thompson, who were indicted with him on a charge of murder as the result of the death of the girl during a gin party in a Gary home.

After being granted a severance Kirkland's attorney obtained a change of venue, contending his client could not obtain a fair trial in Lake county due to public indignation over the girl's death.

Plan "Social Conditions" Defense.

A panel of seventy-five veniremen has been drawn and the talesmen instructed to report at 9 a. m. tomorrow. Associated with County Prosecutor Robert G. Estill will be Attorney John Underwood who, as a special prosecutor last December, presented the case to the grand jury. W. W. Unarth, Edward Freund, and James Clemens will also be associated with the prosecution.

Representing Kirkland is Attorney Oscar B. Thiel of Gary, assisted by Barratt O'Hara, Chicago lawyer. John Crumpacker, a son of the presiding judge, has also been retained by the defense.

O'Hara said today that he and his associates will plead a double defense, contending, first, that Miss Draves died of an accidental fall, rather than from the ravishment which, according to both the coroner and the grand jury, she was subjected to. In addition, O'Hara will plead in mitigation that social conditions arising from the prohibition law are responsible for such parties as the one resulting in the girl's death.

State Calls 40 Witnesses.

The state has summoned forty witnesses, among them several who are expected to testify that they saw the girl lying dead or unconscious in Kirkland's car after he and the other four had returned from a ride with her. In addition, the prosecution has a confession, alleged to have been given by the defendant to the police when he was arrested.

Dr. R. O. Wharton, to whose home the youths brought Arlene when she failed to revive after the ride, is expected to testify that, when he pronounced her dead, the boys fled.

Under Indiana law, any death resulting from ravishment is construed as first degree murder, punishable by death, making it unnecessary for the prosecution to prove premeditated malice.

Murder Trial of Youth Starts Today

The fight was a feature of the 33d annual Washington's birthday fiesta in Laredo, Tex., across the Rio Grande. The bull ring had the largest crowd in its history, being jammed with nearly 9,000 spectators.

Friendly rivalry of Mexico and America was evident, with one bull fighter American and the other, Marcial Lalanda, Spanish. Cries of "Viva Lalanda!" were mingled with choruses of "Atta boy, Franklin!" Lalanda killed the first bull, a fierce animal, with a perfect death thrust. Franklin, alternating, made a good play with the second animal. Lalanda killed the third animal easily.

MILD WEATHER DRAWS CROWDS TO LAKE, PARKS

Moderate temperatures still remained in Chicago and most of the middle west yesterday, continuing the mild weather which has thus far established a February record.

Thousands of Chicagoans took to the parks, and the Lincoln park zoo attracted hundreds of visitors.

Toward evening a dense fog came in from the lake, but did not penetrate far inland. Predictions by the weather bureau for today were for cloudiness and possibly showers and little change in temperature.

TURN TO DONORS FOR NEW GIFTS IN RELIEF CAMPAIGN

Launch Final Effort to Reach Quota.

The $5,000,000 campaign for unemployment relief enters its final phase today with $55,000 still to be raised. The campaign will end Wednesday night, Philip R. Clarke, chairman, announced.

Convinced that only those who have been generous before will come forward now, Mr. Clarke and his aids spent yesterday planning an intensive solicitation anew of the hundreds of public spirited citizens and corporations already listed among the largest donors. Little is to be expected, the committee believes, "from those who, having been solicited repeatedly in person, in the press and by mail, have turned a deaf ear."

Provisional Gifts in Danger.

"Further response by persons and concerns interested in the success of this campaign and in the welfare of the community," said Mr. Clarke last night, "affords us the only path out of the woods. Those being approached have at all times in the past come to the front when the going was bad, and we are counting on them to show the same spirit at this time.

"With only $55,000 yet to be raised, it is hard to understand how our public-spirited people can stand back and see the campaign miss the mark. These persons and concerns are being made aware of the fact that unless the entire $5,000,000 is raised, more than $95,000 in 'provisional plus' subscriptions will become void. Deducting that much money from the general fund at this time would be disastrous, for the needs of the community are steadily widening and increasing.

Two Large Gifts Received.

"Two of the first to heed the call for plus gifts are A. D. Lasker, with $5,000, and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company, with $2,500. Emulation of this sort of giving by a few hundred of our well-to-do individuals and business concerns would put us over the top and give us something to look back on with pride.

"We have been at this task for more than three months and we must get back to our own neglected desks Wednesday night should find everything in that is coming in, and we sincerely and earnestly hope that the results on the last three days will be sufficient to crown the campaign with success."

Calls Canada Tariff on U. S. Cars Retaliatory Measure

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—(AP)—The raising of the Canadian tariff on American automobiles is regarded by Senator George [Dem., Ga.] as a "further effort on the part of our best customer to fix tariff duties for the protection of Canadian industry, not upon a basis of sound economics, but as a retaliatory measure." George said high priced American cars would be virtually excluded from Canada under the new rate. He declared official figures showed American exports to Canada in January, 1931, fell off $154,849,000, compared with the same month last year and imports declined $125,967,000. For the seven months ending in January, he added, exports to all countries declined $1,010,956,000 and imports $916,045,000, making a total "loss" of $1,927,001,000.

SHOALS MEASURE SLATED TO PASS IN SENATE TODAY

Veto Appears Certain if Bill Is Approved.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—The problem of Muscle Shoals is again before congress.

The compromise measure, drawn up at a conference between the two houses, having passed the house by a vote of 216 to 153, will be taken up tomorrow by the senate, where its passage is assured.

It will then go to President Hoover, who may sign it, veto it, or kill it with a "pocket veto."

Though the President has given no sign of what his action will be, it is considered probable that he will not give the measure his approval.

Vote on a Veto Would Be Close.

In the senate, to which the question of sustaining or overriding a veto would be first addressed, the margin either way would probably be close, with the chances favoring the sustaining of the veto. In the house the vote by which the conference report was adopted, showed more than enough votes already in hand to sustain the President.

The question of Muscle Shoals, therefore, stands every chance of more months added to its long record, which stretches back to 1916, when the project was first authorized.

The "Muscle Shoals Corporation of the United States" is created: To be governed by a board of three directors appointed by the President.

The board is authorized, among other things, to operate existing plants and to construct experimental fertilizer plants, and to produce, distribute and sell electric power.

Authorized to Sell Power.

The board is authorized to make preferential sales of power on ten year contracts to states, counties, municipalities and private companies.

The government reserves the right to take over the plant in time of war or national emergency.

The sum of $10,000,000 is authorized, of which $2,000,000 is to be available to begin construction of Cove Creek dam during 1931. All appropriations necessary to carry out the act are authorized.

Then follows the leasing proviso: For twelve months following passage of the act, the President is given authority to lease the nitrate plants for a term not exceeding 50 years; the President is to fix the rental.

The lessee shall use the property exclusively for the manufacture of fertilizer and fertilizer ingredients, but may process and sell any byproducts which are not fertilizer ingredients.

The lessee shall have a preferential right to purchase an additional amount of primary power, equal to 15 per cent of the power used in the production of fertilizer, but this power must be used off government property.

Find Jokers in It.

During the twelve months leasing period, the provisions of the act relating to fertilizer are suspended and if a lease is negotiated, shall continue suspended during the term of the lease.

If no lease is negotiated within the twelve month period, the leasing proviso becomes null and void and the suspended provisions go into full effect.

Opponents of the measure were quick to point out the jokers in the leasing proviso. For example, only the fertilizer provisions are suspended, not those pertaining to power. The lessee can manufacture nothing but fertilizer on government property, and the chances are, it is asserted, that he would lose, rather than make, on this manufacture. The 15 per cent additional power, while frankly inserted by the conferees as a bait, cannot be used to process byproducts that are fertilizer ingredients and must be used off government property.

Longshoremen Go on Strike Today at New Orleans

New Orleans, La., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Longshoremen tonight perfected plans for picketing New Orleans docks tomorrow when a general waterfront strike called by two locals of the International Longshoremen's association is scheduled to go into effect. Although 800 men are immediately affected, union leaders say the strike will involve "between 6,000 and 7,000 men employed in the port."

CONGRESS IS DUE TO QUIT MARCH 4 WITHOUT FUROR

Almost No Chance of Extra Session.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—Congress faces a busy period during the ten days remaining for final adjustment, but with no prospect of all night filibusters, such as frequently mark the closing days of a short session, or of a legislative jam which might force a special session in the spring.

The remaining days will be packed with controversies, but none of such a character as might be likely to hold up appropriation bills, which are the key to the special session situation.

Senate Finishes Supply Bills.

With the passage by the senate yesterday of the naval appropriation bill it approved the last of the supply bills. It still must pass the second deficiency bill, which came from the house last week. Conference reports on the naval and deficiency bills must run the gauntlet of the two houses, but all of the other appropriation bills either have become law or are ready for the President's approval.

The naval appropriation conference report is likely to be out of the way by the middle of the week, which will leave only the deficiency bill which will be held back until the closing days in order to permit the adding of eleventh hour items recommended by the budget bureau. Even if the deficiency bill should get caught in a filibuster, its failure would not make it necessary for the President to call a special session.

Hoover Against Extra Session.

President Hoover has repeatedly declared his desire that congress should remain in recess between March 4 and Dec. 7, on the theory that it will be beneficial to business to get rid of the uncertainties which surround the consideration of legislation.

Actions on veto measures from President Hoover are likely to furnish the high lights of the final days of congress. The President's veto of the veterans' bonus loan bill, which is now in his hands, is promised for the middle of the week. It is regarded as a certainty that both houses will vote to override the veto.

A veto message on the Muscle Shoals bill, on which final action is scheduled in the senate tomorrow, also is expected.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 22.—Sir Oswald Mosley, dubbed by the Labor regulars as the "young man in a hurry," who is already called the "English Hitler," is planning to resign from the Labor party within the next few days to inaugurate his own political drive in the industrial sections of the country.

The Sunday Observer says an undetermined number of Laborites, who were signers of Mosley's manifesto to the government demanding a dictatorship to pull the country out of its difficulties, will follow him out of the party.

Mosley's determination to "make an appeal for support from outside usual channels of the party," the Observer says, "is far more than an ordinary outburst against official discipline. Efforts to compose the differences in the Labor party have failed." The Observer lays the defection of the Mosley group to Chancellor of the Exchequer Snowden's recent speech demanding sacrifices from all classes of the country to balance his next budget and to his subsequent failure to offer an explanation demanded by the party left wingers to appease their distrust that a wage reduction campaign was contemplated.

Philip Snowden's isolation has increased, according to the Observer, because other groups in the party are being weaned from free trade.

BODY FOUND IN HARBOR.

The body of an unidentified man, about 6 feet 7 inches tall, weighing 225 pounds and about 45 years old, was recovered from the harbor of the Great Lakes naval training station yesterday. The man, apparently a laborer, had been dead several weeks.

THE "hair root" (papilla) rarely dies. Even in long-standing cases of baldness this inactive source of hair growth is alive and ready to respond to proper scientific stimulation. Thomas' treatment skillfully supplies this necessary stimulation and makes it possible for hair to push through the scalp and again grow normally. Local scalp disorders—such as extreme dryness or oiliness, dandruff, or irritable itching—which cause the "hair roots" to become inactive, are readily overcome by Thomas' treatment.

Sixteen years of success and more than a quarter-million satisfied clients recommend Thomas' scalp treatment. It is physiologically sound—it produces positive benefits. Thomas' can help you, too, to end dandruff, stop falling hair, or to re-grow hair on the thin or bald spots. Call today for a free scalp examination. TROOPS OF PERU MARCH ON CITY HELD BY REBELS

Army Planes Fly Over Fallen Arequipa.

LIMA, Peru, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Airplanes and reservists were mobilized today to quell an uprising in southern Peru which has arisen to menace the government of Provisional President Luis M. Sanchez Cerro.

With a strict censorship in effect it was impossible to confirm reports that the entire southern half of the country was in revolt against the régime of Lieut. Col. Sanchez Cerro, who himself is a revolutionary president, but the government admitted in an official statement that the large city of Arequipa was captured by revolting troops Friday night and several loyal officials had been killed in defense.

The Arequipa uprising followed by only a few hours a revolt at Callao, port of Lima, just outside the capital, in which some 60 persons were killed before the movement was suppressed and 30 were arrested for court martial.

Planes Hop for Arequipa.

Today government airplanes from Lima flew over Arequipa to survey the situation, while 1,600 reserves between the ages of 21 and 30 were called into active service for 60 days. They will be incorporated into regiments of the second military region at Lima and Callao.

In addition, it was stated, loyal troops from Cuzco, Puno, Juliaca and Tacna were stated to be marching on Arequipa to crush the rebellion.

When the revolt began at Arequipa several loyal officers were killed, including Lieut. Col. Gamarra, the divisional commander, and Capt. Gomez Sanchez. A number of enlisted men also died.

As soon as it learned of the trouble the central government at Lima immediately shut off traffic to Mollendo, seaport for Arequipa, and also closed the Mollendo airport to all except government traffic.

Cheer Government Flyers.

Government sources said tonight that all through the south there was deep resentment against the revolutionary chieftains and that the people were eagerly awaiting the advance of loyal troops to suppress the insurrection.

Reports from Chala said residents of Arequipa gave a mass funeral for the loyal soldiers killed during the action, civilians carrying the coffins on their shoulders to the cemetery.

This afternoon several government airplanes flew over the city, dropping copies of newspapers and posters addressed to the people of Arequipa, calling on them for loyal support.

The papers carried the news that the Callao rebellion had been a failure and this was expected to have considerable effect, as the Arequipa insurgents were reported to have broken loose because they heard that Callao and Lima were in the hands of other rebels. This news, declared a government bulletin, set up a demonstration among the people, who cheered the government aviators enthusiastically and organized demonstrations in favor of the Lima administration, cheering Sanchez Cerro.

Urge Revolt Crushed.

Several thousand persons paraded the streets in Lima this morning in a demonstration for the government, cheering Sanchez Cerro and carrying large banners urging citizens to join the army and put down the revolt. The demonstration halted in front of the palace and shouted for Sanchez Cerro to appear. He listened carefully as several speakers urged him to take the most drastic measures against the Callao and Arequipa rebels, and promised that they would be punished.

THE PARTNERSHIP OF DOOLEY AND HORSE IS ENDED

Fire Is Fatal to "Old Faithful."

The partnership of Patrick Dooley, 65 years old, a rheumatic cripple, and Old Faithful has ended.

Perhaps it wasn't one of those beautiful alliances, but it was at least a practical one, and paid dividends to both. For years Old Faithful lived in what might be deemed rather close contact with Dooley in a one story, patched up shack at 5200 West Roosevelt road, which had been Dooley's home for 40 years.

Lived in Same House.

Old Faithful was a horse, scrawny, emaciated, and spavined, who slept in the rear of the shack in an improvised stall which opened into Dooley's living quarters. Whenever there was a light hauling job in the vicinity, which was seldom, Dooley hitched his horse to a rickety wagon. Their joint earnings, though slim, were enough to keep both in food and maintain their partnership.

For weeks, months and years the union continued, Old Faithful plodding into his stall in the shack nightly and Dooley hobbling into his living rooms.

Fire Attacks the Home.

They were together last night. Dooley sat asleep in an easy chair. Old Faithful pawed the straw covered floor. Suddenly there was a spark and a flame. In a moment the litter on the floor burst into fire. Old Faithful pawed at the door leading to the living rooms—fresh shoe marks were found as proof—to rouse Dooley. But Dooley slept on.

Shortly afterward Policeman Michael O'Rourke of the Fillmore street station, Chief Dennis Curtin of the 23d battalion, and Pipemen Tom O'Malley and Leo Doyle broke into the dwelling, carried out Dooley unconscious, and took him to the county hospital, where it was said he would recover.

Up to a late hour last night no one had told Dooley that Old Faithful had been burned to death.

2 LIQUOR BOATS REPORTED SUNK BY U. S. GUNFIRE

Newport, R. I., Feb. 23.—(AP)—Two rum runners were believed to have been sunk just outside Newport harbor early today during a running fight with coast guard patrol boats.

Police received reports that the crews of the two boats were taken aboard coast guard patrol boats, which proceeded to New London, Conn.

The rattle of machine gun fire and the boom of one-pounders could be clearly heard in the city. From the high bluffs that overlook the sea at the outskirts of the city, two patrol boats could be seen engaging in battle with a squirming power boat, which headed for the open sea and seemingly escaped.

The booming of the one-pounders could be heard from the distance for some time. Then all was quiet.

100 WOMEN PLAN A UNITED BATTLE ON VICE IN MIAMI

Miami, Fla., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Walt Whitcomb, Miami minister, today announced a committee of 100 women had organized to rid this city of vice, crime, and lawlessness.

The resolution charged "evidences on every side of gambling, bootlegging, and prostitution."

Meantime deputy sheriffs raided a house near the business center, marched 400 patrons through the doors, and arrested four men on charges of gambling and unlawful possession of gaming devices. The place raided today was recently visited by masked bandits, who lined 75 patrons against the wall and picked approximately $9,000 from the tables.

GERMANY'S ARMY OF REPUBLICANS ON DRESS PARADE

Many Hurt in Europe's Sunday Rioting.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

BERLIN, Feb. 22.—Despite sleet and snow 40,000 stanch republicans turned out to demonstrate in the Berlin Lustgarten for the republic and against the radicals in both the Fascist and communist camps. Five thousand of Berlin's fully trained Reichsbanner men, in linen uniforms, paraded to the former kaiser's palace and listened to their national chief, Friederich Otto Hoersing, who said that the Reichsbanner had completed preparations to defend the republic in case of her need.

"We have 150,000 trained members throughout the reich," he said. "They are ready to fight if called upon."

Deep cordons of police separated the crowd, refusing to allow thousands to cross the bridges surrounding the Lustgarten to join the main body of demonstrators. Counter demonstrations by communists were speedily crushed. Out of the 30 towns in which the Reichsbanner men demonstrated, only three clashes were reported tonight. Stuttgart lists nine casualties. Brunswick and Chemnitz reported several injured.

Nine Hurt in Red Riot.

WOLFENBITTEL, Germany, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Several hundred communists who arrived today in motor trucks from Hanover, Lehrte, Peine, and other near-by cities for a massmeeting clashed with police and injured one with stones. The officers retaliated with their clubs, injuring eight Reds and scattering the others.

Two Shot in Marseilles.

MARSEILLES, France, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Communists and Socialists battled this afternoon at a propaganda meeting which had been called by the Socialists and two spectators were wounded by revolver shots, one seriously.

The meeting was conducted under the presidency of the Socialist Deputy Vincent Auriol. As Auriol concluded his speech communists rushed for him. Socialists drew revolvers and fought back the Reds.

Trouble in Warsaw.

WARSAW, Poland, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Three communists were wounded and 33 were arrested in a street demonstration near the prison last night. Police used their revolvers to break up the manifestation after they were stoned by the demonstrators.

JUDGE ON BENCH READS CARDS AS LOSERS LOOK ON

New York, Feb. 22.—(AP)—"Please notice, gentlemen, that there is nothing up my sleeve," said Magistrate Barney Mogilesky today as he sat on the bench doing card tricks.

The decks he thumbed had been seized in a raid on a West 9th street resort. Without looking at their faces he named the cards, while a dozen empty pocketed laborers and chauffeurs gaped.

They had lost $5,000 in recent weeks trying to win with those cards and with magnetic dice rolled on an electrically wired table, police said.

AMBUSH, KILL 3 JOLIET CONVICTS IN PRISON BREAK

Shot Down as They Scale Walls.

Springing out of the protective shadows of the wall, Norkiewicz ran into Collins avenue, which parallels the east wall of the prison. From a restaurant across the street and from a car standing in a vacant lot beside the restaurant, guards aimed shot after shot at his figure, a good target under the street lamps.

Norkiewicz fell on the tracks of the Chicago and Joliet interurban railway, which traverse Collins avenue. Meanwhile other guards were closing in on Kilmon and Chileno.

The latter, cowering in a narrow aperture formed by the prison wall and corner turret, was riddled with bullets and shotgun slugs. Kilmon, about to slip down the cable when the first shots sounded, had clambered backed over the wall and was caught in the fire from the turret he had thought deserted.

Pursue Accomplices in Car.

Guards took up pursuit of the accomplices, who had parked their cars a half block north on Collins avenue, giving the watchers a hint as to where to plant their ambuscade. The two cars sped towards Chicago and were lost from sight between Lemont and Lockport.

Within the prison dormitories, echoes of the fusillade had awakened the inmates and brought them realization that the escape, of which some of them at least had knowledge, had ended in death. Col. Whipp was awakened and ordered the guards doubled.

At 6:30 p. m. the prisoners marched into the refectory for breakfast. There was no demonstration. Col. Whipp, in relating details of the frustrated escape to the newspapers, refused to name the guards participating, lest the enraged prisoners retaliate for the deaths of their fellow felons.

Bodies Taken to Morgue.

The bodies of Norkiewicz and Chileno were taken from the places where they fell to a Joliet mortuary. Kilmon's body was secretly taken from the prison hospital in the afternoon to the same mortuary. Coroner E. A. Kingston, Will county, informed the prison authorities he would hold an inquest at 10 o'clock this morning in the parole room at the prison.

Col. Whipp refused to name the two convicts who, when the firing started, escaped death by dropping from the barber shop roof within the walls. It was thought that they might be summoned at the inquest, however, together with some of the guards involved.

One of the escaping men, a Mexican serving a life term for murder, was captured a few minutes later, Warden William Dellbridge said. The warden said none of the convicts was believed to be armed.

HAVANA MASSES POLICE AS THIRTEEN BOMBS ROCK CITY

HAVANA, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Thirteen small bombs exploded in various parts of Havana last night, one within a block of Central police headquarters. Only small damage was reported, but authorities took precautions to prevent further trouble, calling extra reserves of police. Eighteen students were arrested when police raided a meeting of the student council of the closed National university.

PILOT SAVES HIS LIFE BY LEAPING AS PLANE FALLS

Tiny Heath Ship Goes Into a Spin.

Crashing towards earth in a tailspin during an experimental flight near Des Plaines, Milford M. Lambert, 30 years old, 2531 Southport avenue, a test pilot, leaped from the cockpit of his plane yesterday, snapped open his parachute, and dropped 1,500 feet to safety.

Lambert landed in a field near Potter road and the Northwest highway, suffering only a slight bruise on his left leg. By his leap he automatically becomes a member of the Caterpillar club, the requisition to membership being a parachute jump to save life.

Recalls Death of Heath.

The leap took place a short distance from the spot where Edward W. Heath, small plane inventor and manufacturer, crashed to his death several weeks ago. Lambert is a test pilot and the field manager at the Heath experimental airport, at Potter road and Dempster street, just east of Des Plaines.

Yesterday Lambert took up a tiny Heath Parasol monoplane and made eighteen spins in the plane to give it an exacting test. Suddenly the monoplane went into a spin. Lambert attempted to right it, but the controls failed.

Jumps Over the Side.

With death a certainty if he remained with the plane, Lambert squeezed himself from the small cockpit and dropped over the side. He pulled the ripcord of the parachute, but fell 800 feet before the device opened and broke his fall. The monoplane fell zig-zag 600 feet away and was demolished. Dozens of aviation enthusiasts and others saw the jump.

Following out the tradition among pilots not to become unnerved by narrow escapes from death, Lambert fifteen minutes later climbed into another Heath Parasol plane of similar model and ascended again.

SEE 'FOOLPROOF' PLANE IN RANGE OF AVERAGE MAN

Novice Can Learn to Fly It in 20 Minutes.

Ten companies have devised small, light, moderate priced planes, and their potential customer is the average man who, a dozen years ago, was finding that he could afford an automobile. The airplane manufacturers hope this next summer to open up the air for democracy.

More than half a dozen models of the new planes will be displayed at the national aircraft show in Detroit April 11 to 19.

The builders of some of these new ships promise the novice he can learn to fly them in 20 minutes of dual instruction. The planes are heralded as "almost foolproof," with speeds of up to 90 miles an hour, landing speeds as slow as 20 miles an hour, and a range of 25 miles to a gallon of gasoline. They will sell at $900 to $1,500.

Several of the new planes will be listed in the 1931 year book of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce has suggested this democratization of the air as the next important step. In Great Britain progress has already been made with "flying clubs" most of whose members own smaller planes.

The light 'planes offered this year differ from former flivver plane ventures in that they embody what has been learned about airplane construction in the last few years.

With a low landing speed they can be brought to earth in comparatively small spaces, and with narrowing wing spreads they can be parked in modest hangars.

BRITISH FIGHTING PLANE FIRES SIX GUNS AT ONCE

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Feb. 22.—Claimed to be the deadliest and fastest climbing single seater military aircraft yet devised, the British air ministry is experimenting with a new "interceptor" model having six machine guns which can be simultaneously fired by the pilot. The plane's speed is 200 miles an hour and it can rise 15,000 feet in 9 minutes.

Four of these machine guns have been mounted in the leading edge of the wings, the other two being in a normal position on either side of the motor and fired by means of a synchronized gear through the whirling blades of the propellor. The pilot can thus pour streams of bullets from six machine guns into his adversary at once.

PILOT IS HURLED FROM PLANE IN AIR AND KILLED

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—Roy Duval, world war pilot, was killed on a private airport here today when he was hurled from the open cockpit of a Mercury monoplane as he was preparing to land.

Capt. Lynn E. Pickard, owner of the plane, said that when Duval was at an altitude of about 500 feet and preparing to land he nosed the plane down too quickly.

For two years Duval was pilot for D. W. Flying Service at Leroy, N. Y. Last summer he was pilot for Maurice Mann, Mount Morris, Ill., business man. His wife and two children live at Rochester, N. Y.

Dr. Young, Companion Killed.

Chino, Cal., Feb. 22. — (AP) — Dr. Thomas C. Young, 46 years old, noted aviator, and Ray Wertz, 32, both of Glendale, Cal., were killed near here today when their plane crashed.

Butterfly Caught by Two Men Near New Boston, Ill.

New Boston, Ill., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—H. J. Prell and Harvey Crow hold the record for catching the early butterfly, which they found sailing over their heads near the Mississippi river. They have put the butterfly in a fruit jar to prove that they caught a February butterfly in Illinois, not California.

BRITAIN MUST FREE US! INDIA'S HOLY MAN CRIES

Has No Faith in Pledges Made by London.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Copyright: 1931: By The Chicago Tribune.]

NEW DELHI, Feb. 22.—A frail little man with a wizened but kindly face, squatted on the veranda of a friend's home, worked away at his beloved spinning wheel as he talked with me for an hour this afternoon. This strange individual was Mahatma Gandhi, "holy man" of India, and worshiped by its millions as their political savior. On his bony little shoulders rests the responsibility for peace or continued revolution in the huge subcontinent.

His frail body, clothed in a loin cloth and a light blanket around his shoulders, does not look equal to the hardships of prison life or the exertions of a great political struggle. His eyes are penetrating, though, and there is a mysterious power in his conversation which holds you in his spell. His voice is mild and soothing.

As he squatted there spinning and talking, one wonders how this meek-like man, who brands modern western civilization as "satanic," could have almost single handed started rocking the foundations of the British empire; how almost over night he could have aroused 300,000,000 persons to resist what he believes is abject slavery and taught them the technique of a new revolutionary method, against which western guns and eastern bamboo sticks proved useless—nonviolent, passive resistance.

No Faith in British.

"It is love and truth, you see," Gandhi smiled. "And no force can avail against them."

"Have you still faith in the British and their promises?" I asked.

"I had faith in them until 1919," he responded. "But the Amritsar massacre and the Punjab atrocities changed my heart and nothing has happened since to make me regain my faith, certainly not the last ten months.

"But my faith in my own people has increased. I hail the part played by women and children in the present movement. The world has never seen such a magnificent spectacle before. Especially the awakening among the children. Certainly God is with us in this struggle."

Still Stands for 11 Points.

He spun away and talked on.

He still stands, he said, for his famous eleven points, upon the granting of which by Great Britain, he offered to halt his civil disobedience campaign. They include total prohibition of alcoholic drinks, the abolition of the salt tax, reduction of land revenue, and military expenditures by 50 per cent, the release of political prisoners and a prohibitive tariff on foreign cloth.

"These points are vital to India's needs and any future constitution will be judged by its capacity to satisfy these demands," he declared.

"If you obtain independence for India would you consider your labors finished and retire, or would you take an active part in its reconstruction?" was the next question.

"I should like to take an active part in the reconstruction of my country, provided I retain my health and vigor and my people's confidence in me and my methods," replied Gandhi. "That, indeed, would be a labor of love."

Sees Freedom as Only Cure.

Gandhi admitted that he believed most of India's ills will be solved by independence, but naturally not without trouble and difficulty.

"And your languages; what about English under a nationalist government?"

"English would still be retained as the cultural language," he said. "It would be as useful to us as French is to Europe. Hindu would become the national language used in courts and universities. The native vernaculars possess rich literature and their use will be encouraged.

"It is not true that I would abolish schools. I am as anxious as any to maintain our great culture by education. But in our schools today we learn only what our foreign masters want us to learn. We do not get the training we most need."

At this point a prominent Christian politician slipped onto the veranda.

"Ah, my friend," exclaimed Gandhi, "I learn that you have given up smoking as a commemorative act of self-purification on Pundit Motilal's death. I congratulate you!"

Twenty-three years ago Mr. Gandhi wrote a book, "Indian Home Rule," which stunned India and the rest of the world with a terrific onslaught on modern western civilization.

"It is satanic, and the Hindus call it the dark age," he wrote, and envisaged an ideal state with no factories, railways, armies, navies, and as few hospitals, doctors and lawyers as possible.

"My idea about the evils of western civilization still stand," he repeated today.

British Woman Leads Prayer.

It was getting dark and outside the house thousands gathered for prayers which Gandhi leads each evening at 7 o'clock. They squatted on the front lawn, bowing as Gandhi came out barefooted to sit in their midst.

Miss Slade, or Mirabai, as she is known in India, daughter of a British admiral who gave up the luxury of British society to become a disciple of the "holy man," chanted the prayer.

The All-India national congress working committee today gave Gandhi full power to act in the negotiations with the viceroy and upon him solely rests the decision whether peace or revolution will reign in India.

Chilean Girls Find George More Charming than Wales

SANTIAGO, Chile, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The prince of Wales and Prince George, who arrived yesterday by plane from Antofagasta, may set new styles in this Latin-American land, which is one of the last to adhere to the traditional dark dress.

When the British princes arrived they were wearing straw hats of the sailor type, light gray suits, and colored shirts. Santiago hatters said today that there had been a considerable rush for sailor hats as a result. Straws have been little worn here before, and some of them were black.

It is Prince George who has set the hearts of Chilean girls fluttering rather than his elder and more famous brother, the prince of Wales.

George's smile, his reserved manner, and his striking good looks have drawn the opinions of the Chilean maidens that the prince of Wales, hitherto known as the conqueror of feminine hearts the world over, now has a great competitor in his younger brother.

Go to Church.

The British princes today attended St. Stephen's War Memorial church, a British edifice. There they heard the Rev. W. C. Couch preach on England's great mission in spreading peace and good will throughout the world. He said the present trade trip of the two princes was the best evidence of this being carried out.

The prince of Wales sat in a front pew with Lady Chilton, wife of Sir Harry Getty Chilton, ambassador to Chile, while Prince George and the others were across the aisle.

King Talks with Wales.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—(AP)—King George spoke today with the prince of Wales. The fact that the father was at Buckingham palace in London and the son at the British embassy in Santiago made no difference in these days of long distance telephony, and the conversation was carried on easily for some minutes.

ESTONIA TO HAIL REPUBLIC'S 13TH YEAR TOMORROW

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TALLIN, Estonia, Feb. 22.—All the people of Estonia will join on next Tuesday, Feb. 24, to celebrate the 13th anniversary of Estonian independence. On this date in 1918, following the Russian revolution, the people of Estonia threw off the ties which, through centuries, had bound them first to one and then another neighboring nation.

To preserve their national institutions, the Estonians fought off bolshevism and repelled the invasion of the German adventurer, Gen. Von der Goltz. On Feb. 2, 1920, the soviet union recognized Estonian independence, and on June 15 of the same year a constituent assembly passed the constitution making Estonia a republic.

While Estonia will celebrate the birthday of its independence on Tuesday, the day will also mark the progress the country has made during the last decade in commerce, industry and agriculture.

KANSAS, CRADLE OF PROHIBITION, IS ANYTHING BUT

All Kinds of Moonshine, Alcohol for Thirsty.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Topeka, Kas., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—Kansas, the western cradle of prohibition, is rocked by waves of moonshine, alcohol, and home brew with crests of bonded liquor. From the braying of dry gospelers the stranger is led to believe the state as dry as Sahara, but he finds thirst assuagement scarcely less difficult than in the more wicked states bordering the dry Eden.

In Topeka, which touts itself as the driest city of its size in the country, and in Emporia, which holds itself above the faint implication of dampness in the Topeka boast, getting a drink is merely a matter of meeting the right people. I found the matter of price to be the only distinguishing feature in comparison with neighboring states. Local entrepreneurs have greedily grasped the opportunities afforded by dry ballyhoo.

This fact was brought home sharply in a leading hotel. I asked a bellboy if the state were as dry as outsiders have been led to believe. He answered readily he could procure all the whisky I wanted at $7.50 a pint.

"What kind of whisky?"

"Rye," said he.

"What brand of rye?"

Price Varies by Location.

The price scale varies, I learned on meeting several convivially minded residents. At a small house with weather beaten gray paint and a side porch, near a large red brick factory on a blind street, a pint bottle was exchanged for $2. The guide parked his car several houses beyond the place we visited, explaining his caution by saying Kansas has the most efficient pattern of enforcement in the Union.

A rambling house on Topeka boulevard, near the railroad, yielded alcohol at $2.50 the half pint. The householder held his price to be the cheapest in town, condemning those who charged as much as $4 as "robbers," who ought to be prohibition agents."

At a roadhouse a waiter offered "whisky" at $4 a pint. At the table guests drank gayly. Bottles were tipped into ginger ale glasses with the freedom of large city night clubs. At two other similar resorts which Topeka affords those inclined to merry nights, waiters refused to sell. When I pointed out lifting of flasks at adjoining tables, he shrugged his shoulders.

At a café on the main street a Negro proprietor haggled over the price of gin. He refused to cut his offer of $6.50 the quart. He said he was the only one in town who sold gin with the old flavor and would cut his price only on gallon orders.

Is Never Called "Moon."

A poolroom and smoke house not far off demanded $3 a pint for whisky. In another, owned by an amiable Irishman, the price was $2.50. A resident told me that I might get it for $1.50 if I knew the right telephone numbers. In no place was the liquor referred to as moon. The product of the Kansas stills, unknown until national enforcement, is dignified by the appellation of "rye or corn whisky."

With the exception of the roadhouses the thirsty stranger finds no place to drink the "whisky" except his hotel room or the home of a chance acquaintance. The ax of Carrie Nation in its glittering descent on Topeka bars wedged drinking into a place at the hearthstone. The ax and not the law of 1881 really made Kansas dry, for it was swung on well stocked, openly flourishing saloons long after the legislature's solemn enactment.

If one desires beer he can have the conversation which makes the bottle a delight. But while many people brew their own, few offer it for sale. The stranger must find some one to take him to the home of a friend not adverse to picking up change. I was brought to a house with fluted porch pillars where a bottle came at 25 cents. We drank in the dining room, but were later asked to retire to the kitchen when the host's wife had cleared the evening dishes.

The House That Jack Builds.

Empora has two show places—the home of William Allen White, editor, leading citizen, and ardent dry, and the house that Jack is building. The latter is of more interest to a thirsty traveler, for Jack is building his house out of his profits in meeting a whispered demand.

Jack began his task last October. He has completed the foundation and basement of stone and transformed it into cozy quarters for his family for the winter. By spring Jack expects to complete the body of the house and add an attic during the summer. His only source of revenue is as middle man for liquor—still commonly referred to as whisky—at $3 the pint.

Jack will tell you he worked for years without being able to own his home. When he lost his job last summer he turned to bootlegging and made enough to buy a lot and begin the house. Jack will not sell to strangers unless they are properly introduced by a friend, and will not allow drinking on the premises.

As we returned to the hotel we saw two college boys emerge from an alley. One of them was replacing a bottle in his pocket. The other called boisterously to two more further up the street.

"That's what prohibition has done for Kansas," my guide said.

LUCY COTTON THOMAS MARRIED TO NAVAL OFFICER CHAS. HANN

New York, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Mrs. Lucy Cotton Thomas, widow of Edward G. Thomas, publisher and turfman, and divorced wife of Col. Lytton Gray Ament, was married Feb. 7 in Towson, Md., to Lieut. Com. Charles Hann Jr., it was announced tonight.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. F. D. Clark of Towson, who officiated at the two previous weddings of the famous international actress.

On the death of Thomas, former owner of the Morning Telegraph, Mrs. Thomas came into several million dollars and her daughter, Lucetta, was left $5,000,000. Mrs. Thomas was divorced in Reno, Nev., on May 26, 1930, from Col. Ament.

Hann is a member of the Wall street law firm of Hann & Rapp and was a tackle on the Harvard football team in 1910 and 1911.

HOUSE EXPECTED TO GIVE ILLINOIS 2 MORE JUDGES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—Two new judgeships for the northern district of Illinois with headquarters at Chicago seem to be definitely in sight. The house is expected to pass tomorrow a bill creating the two new judgeships which was passed by the senate a year ago, but held up in the house at that time because of differences of Illinois Republican political leaders.

While the bill may become law within the next few days, it is doubtful if any appointments are made until after congress adjourns. Senator Otis F. Glenn, who will be the only Republican senator for Illinois after March 4, and as such will have control of all federal patronage, has failed thus far to make an agreement involving the reappointment of some of the office holders sponsored by Senator Charles H. Deneen [Rep., Ill.].

If no agreement is reached this week, all pending appointments, including those of several job holders whose terms expired months ago, are likely to go over until after congress adjourns. If this is the case, Senator Glenn will be in a position to dictate recess appointments without consultation with Senator Deneen.

VOTE TOMORROW.

For important offices in active campaigns the number of citizens who do not go to the polls is not as large as one would infer from the advocates of compulsory voting and others dissatisfied with political conditions. For example, at the mayoralty election of 1927, 1,142,799 citizens of Chicago registered. In a total population of about three millions this is a fair proportion. Of the number registered, over 999,000 voted, and this, too, seems to us a fair proportion, if we take account of illness and other unavoidable reasons for inability to go to the polls. If all who were registered and failed to vote had cast their ballots for the defeated candidate, it would not have changed the result.

A less satisfactory picture is shown by primary records. Of the 1,142,799 citizens registered in 1927 only 668,511 voted in the primaries, or about half. This is partly explained by the fact that there was not a serious contest for the Democratic nominee and only 162,552 voted in the Democratic primary. In the Republican primary, where there was a contest, 505,959 voted, or nearly half of the registered total.

Abstention from voting in the primaries is greater than in elections, but it is often less justifiable than at an election in local politics. Failure to vote at a primary may result in the nomination of the wrong man and in his subsequent election. In the present campaign citizens should realize that every vote at the primary may have important results in the subsequent election. This is at least true of the Republican primary. It is of utmost importance to the credit of the Republican party and to that of the city that Thompson should be eliminated at the first stage of the proceeding. His victory in the primary would add to the momentum of his drive for reelection. With Thompson and his machine eliminated, citizens would be free to consider the claims of the successful nominees and the Republican party membership would have the honor of disposing decisively of the shame of Thompsonism. The Republican party in Chicago would then be on the way to a sorely needed rehabilitation.

Every Republican therefore owes it to himself, his party, and his city to go to the polls tomorrow. If he wishes to end Thompsonism in Chicago, tomorrow is the time to do it. It seems to us hardly less obvious that if he wishes to be as sure as possible of accomplishing this public service he will vote for Judge Lyle and not contribute to the success of Thompson by casting a vote for a third candidate who, whatever his personal merits, has no reasonable chance of defeating Thompson. This is a practical consideration which ought to control practical action.

MUSCLE SHOALS AND THEN WHAT?

The house of representatives has passed the conference report containing the bill for the operation of the Muscle Shoals power plant under communism. The federal government is to make and sell electric power, a collectivist effort in the development of wealth and the use of resources. Under the bill this doctrine of the soviets may be extended later to the manufacture of nitrate and fertilizer. It is not called communistic that it may appear horrific, but that it may be given its proper definition in political terms.

In a selected industry congress is preparing to put the government into action which Mr. Stalin would recognize as familiar. His contempt for it would be based first upon its illogic and then upon the source of its authority. He would deride its authority because it proceeds from a representative assembly of bourgeois composition elected by universal suffrage. The thing is a mess of contradictions. Stalin would brush it aside unless he were patiently waiting to make a breach in the walls of private property, private enterprise, and individualistic society. Stalin knows that the bourgeoisie cannot maintain communism. This class must be suppressed. Universal suffrage cannot be tolerated in it. It requires dictatorship.

The illogic is in its selective character. Why the distribution only of power? Why not the distribution also of goods made by the power? Why only power wires? Why not also wires of communications and the rails? If the Muscle Shoals bill represents sound government policy and procedure, is there any exemption which makes the idea unsound in the making of steel, the growing of wheat, and the sale of retail goods? If so, what are the distinctions?

The enthusiasms for communism are in the senate. The house of representatives seems to act without spirit, rather to get rid of nuisances than to accomplish any purpose, but even in the senate there is no revealed sign of direction. People cannot be sure whether the senate has a program or not, or what it is if there is one. A proposal for the nationalization of the railroads or for collective operation of wheat lands by commissars of the department of agriculture would indicate purpose. Is this next?

Congress may be certain of one thing. If the representatives of the American democracy have started on a road which they intend to follow, they will find their own tickets of leave before they get to the end of it. One thing this program cannot endure is a representative assembly. Another is free suffrage.

FOR A BETTER COUNCIL.

Amidst the heat of the mayoralty campaign voters should not lose sight of the aldermanic contests. As the Municipal Voters' league has pointed out and as every citizen ought to know, the selection of good aldermen is hardly less important to good government in Chicago than the selection of a good mayor. The present council has not been on the level of official ability which such a body should reach. The problems the council will have to deal with in the next two years are difficult and their proper solution is vital to the city and the citizens' welfare.

THE TRIBUNE publishes elsewhere for the voters' guidance the recommendations of the Municipal Voters' league. It also publishes THE TRIBUNE'S recommendations, which in some cases, for reasons given, differ from those of the league. From these recommendations voters can take their choice.

THE PILING UP OF PERPETUITIES.

Every day or so the news of another bequest to a philanthropic or religious institution is reported. All too frequently these gifts are in perpetuity. The trustees are forbidden to dispose of the principal of the gift, but may spend only from income. Commonly, too, these gifts, when in the form of real estate, are tax exempt.

There is real danger that we are repeating the mistakes of previous generations. In the feudal era the church received so many bequests of land, then the principal form of wealth, that eventually the church in many countries was found in possession of a large proportion of the nation's productive capacity. The revolt was inevitable. It was resisted, but when the church had been deprived by violence of its lands it was strengthened rather than weakened. Freed of their preoccupation with financial administration, the ecclesiastical leaders were enabled to give their whole thought to their true calling.

Many of our contemporary foundations and trusts also suffer from fatty degeneration. The trustees regard it as their first duty to conserve principal; the fact that the gifts were intended for human betterment in one form or another is lost sight of. Trustees who ought to be thinking about uses to which money can be put are absorbed in thinking about prudent investments.

The dead hand is blighting. As Mr. Rosenwald recently pointed out, the more thoughtful givers, including the Rockefellers, provide that their foundations may be spent, principal as well as income. Many, like Mr. Rosenwald, go farther and provide that their gifts must be completely liquidated within a specified time. Some of the newer foundations, like Senator Couzens', have similar provisions.

If the movement against perpetuities can be hastened by denying tax exemption, that method ought to be given a trial. The rapid accumulation of wealth in the hands of a self-perpetuating group of trustees carries with it a positive menace to the general welfare. It ought to be discouraged.

FOR HANLEY AND KEARNS.

Two city officers besides mayor are to be nominated in the primary tomorrow. We suggest for the Republican nomination for city clerk C. Thomas Hanley and for the Republican nomination for city treasurer James A. Kearns.

Mr. Hanley is a lawyer, born in Illinois and educated at the Universities of Illinois and Chicago. He was for four years assistant state's attorney in charge of delinquent personal property taxes, showing zeal and ability. In 1916 he volunteered for service on the Mexican border, and in the late war, also as a volunteer, he served as apprentice seaman in the navy. We think Mr. Hanley has demonstrated his competence and good citizenship and will make a good city clerk.

James A. Kearns was for twelve years clerk of the Municipal court and for four years a member of the council. In both offices his record was excellent and fully justifies public confidence and support for the office to which he now offers himself. He will make a reliable and competent city treasurer.

Editorial of the Day

CHAOTIC.

[Ogle County Reporter.]

IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE "Voice of the People" Saturday appeared what purported to be a protest against adverse criticism leveled at William Hale Thompson. The concluding sentence in the contribution was: "Let's go, Thompsonites." Just so.

One might reasonably assume that with conditions in Chicago as they are, and prospectively and literally getting worse, residents of that hapless metropolis would welcome with jubilation the opportunity of loosening the tenacles of the Thompson octopus that for years have gripped Chicago, paralyzing commercial and industrial enterprise, poisoning social life, perverting political strata, corrupting morals, suborning the judiciary, demoralizing courts, bartering police authority for criminal potentiality, selling official prestige for the off-scouring of the slums and the ooze of pandering sewage.

The rottenest, most venal régime that an American municipality ever suffered—and that is saying a good deal.

So rotten that the stench of its putridity is nauseating to all honest people. So rank that the very name Chicago has become a synonym for all that is vile; all that is corrupt; all that is cowardly in the unspeakable truckling with crime and with criminals that distinguishes Chicago—and with these normal reactions a fear of that lawless element that rules Chicago—a natural fear that prompts non-Chicagoans to give Chicago a wide berth.

As a trade center, Chicago is losing millions of dollars because of this very tangible condition.

Yet, Thompson is a candidate for renomination and reelection to the Chicago mayoralty.

And Thompson may be the nominee of the so-called Republican party in that city.

Unthinkable, isn't it?

But it is this particular mental slope that makes Chicago what Chicago is. Probably the manifestation of a like tendency to that which prompts swine to wallow in the mire.

There seems no other explanation.

The opportunity is available to get rid of the Thompson incubus. You'd think the citizenship of Chicago would avidly grasp that opportunity. Well, just observe the political convolutions in that burg at the present time.

What chance has Chicago of retrieving its lost reputation?

DON'T GIVE UP THE FIGHT.

IN 1923 the Metropolitan Life Insurance company began a study of obesity, which study led them to the conclusion that it is better for a fat man to have tried and lost rather than never to have tried at all.

In that year they undertook to reduce the weights of about three hundred of their overweight employés. The job was under the direction of physicians and dietitians, and the employés were exceptionally coöperative. At the end of the intensive course four-fifths of those who were trying to do so had lost weight; the average reduction was fifteen pounds; at the end of one year only one-third had continued to lose weight; the others had gone back to their food and had regained their fat. At the end of five years it was found that one-fifth had stuck and four-fifths had relapsed.

But even the faint of heart had received benefit from temporary reducing. The fat persons who had high blood pressure saw their blood pressure come down, even though the fall in weight and the continuance of dieting was disappointing. The same general good effect followed dieting when the fat persons had heart disease associated with their obesity. People with other organic diseases had some decrease in their symptoms.

The study also showed that overweight people should be more careful in the selection of their parents. Of those studied at least one-half had one parent that was fat; one-fourth had both parents fat. When only one parent had been fat that one was generally the mother.

Another discovery made during this study was that people who were overweight were apt to be children of parents who had some one of the diseases related to obesity. This was especially true of diabetes. When the family history of fat people is investigated it is found that an undue number of the parents had diabetes. The same tendency is found, though in lesser measure, for the medical history of the parents to show undue prevalence of high blood pressure, apoplexy, heart disease, and kidney disease. This shows that the sins of the parents are visited on the children in the first generation, since improper habits have something to do with diabetes, heart disease, high blood pressure, and kidney disease. Perhaps the taste for fattening foods and the appetite for excessive amounts of food is, in part, inherited.

ON EATING YEAST.

B. G. writes: 1. Is yeast fattening? 2. Should it be eaten before or after meals? 3. Does it help constipation?

REPLY.

1. Not directly. It may stimulate appetite and thus act indirectly.
2. Either or both.
3. Sometimes it does.

HOW TO REMOVE CORNS.

Mrs. T. C. writes: What is the cure for a painful corn?

REPLY.

A corn medicine properly applied and reapplied will make the corn easily removable. Salicylic acid is the active ingredient in these remedies. A pad to remove pressure may be worn during the removal period. To prevent the return of the corn and renewal of the pain the shoe should be changed to one that does not rub the corn area, or rubs it only as much as all other areas.

SENSITIZED TO COLD.

Mrs. E. Y. writes: My 12 year old daughter weighs—103 pounds, is very strong and healthy looking, is athletic, swims, plays basketball, and all kinds of sports. However, she cannot stay out when it is cold. Her hands and feet swell and she cannot get her shoes on. Can you tell me the cause of this? She had ruptured appendix when she was 3 years old.

REPLY.

Your daughter appears to be sensitized to cold, probably due to some disturbance of the vasomotor nervous system. There is no reason to charge this up to the attack of appendicitis. The best cure for her is change of climate. Am not certain that she would get anything from treatment.

FOODS WITH VITAMIN E.

F. B. writes: What foods, oils, and fruits contain vitamin E?

REPLY.

Wheat germ, cereals and flours in which there is germ, yeast, egg yellow, vegetable oils such as olive oil, lettuce and vegetables of that group.

MORALLY, YES; LEGALLY, NO.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A has children who, with other boys of the neighborhood, were engaged in playing football in their yard when one of B's boys came over and joined in the sport, which resulted in B's boy's misfortune of having his leg broken.

The families were close neighbors and had enjoyed friendly relations heretofore, and it was sorely regretted by all concerned. However, B's family feels that A should assume the rôle of paymaster to the doctor and hospital. To what extent, if any, do you feel A should be held liable. H. H. S.

MORE CAR LINE.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—[Friend of the People.]—I see where the car line on South Western avenue has been extended to 87th street and I want to know if it is going to be extended farther out to 111th or 119th street and if so, are they going to do so now, or when? E. D.

The Chicago Surface lines has completed the extension of the South Western avenue line as far as 87th street and intends, as soon as work opens up in the spring, to complete the laying of track to 111th street. HALBERT O. CREWS, Supt. Publ. Relations, Chicago Surface Lines.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

YES! WHAT MORE COULD THEY ASK!

Etaoin Shrdlu, the Line's candidate for mayor, in a last minute call to the sovereign voters, says he should be elected, if for no other reason, because—

(1) He can blow smoke through his ears.
(2) He can wiggle his scalp.
(3) He lights a match with his thumbnail.
(4) He can make funny faces.
(5) He can do handsprings and stand on his head.
(6) He can imitate a rooster crowing and bark like a sea lion.
(7) He can do funny tricks with coins and cards.

"An' if them things hain't qualifications enough for any office a-tall," said Mr. Shrdlu, simply and somewhat ungrammatically, "then what do the voters want?"

True enough! What?

LEGACY.

These shall I leave to you,
When I am gone. . . .
Red in a western sky,
Primrose at dawn,

Fountains that toss their spray,
Moonlight through trees,
Storms over mountain tops,
Salt from the seas.

Plants on a window-ledge,
Rose-shaded light,
Fragrance of growing things,
Music at night,

Children who laugh at play,
Thrushes that call,
Mem'ries to ease your grief,
God over all.

FRANCESCA MILLER.

AND ON THIS glorious holiday up jump the Wets to point out that G. Washington had a still on his plantation and made and sold a very good quality of likker. And the Drys come right back with the argument that in those days everybody had a still and sold a very good quality of likker. Peace, children; besides furnishing you with arguments for your pet hobby, George also licked King George, was the first President of the United States, and won the title of "Father of His Country."

THERE WERE REALLY SIX REASONS.

AND DOWN SOUTH they're quarreling like everything over whether or not cohn pone should be gedunked in pot likker. Georgia says no; you can crumble your cohn pone into the pot likker if you're a mind to, but no gedunking. On the other hand, Louisiana says that gedunking the cohn pone in the pot likker is the favorite indoor sport down there. Maybe they've just started the row to rup it into us up north that we have neither pot likker nor cohn pone. And pot likker and cohn pone are heavenly manna—food for the gods—a Lucullian feast—nothing but!

BECAUSE NOBODY KNOWS THE WORDS, ANYHOW.

Sir: Isn't now the time to bring "The Star-Spangled Banner" down to date? Isn't "Oh, say" a bit out of style? Why not start it, "Say, lissen!" W. P.

BRUCE BARTON says he interviewed Cal Coolidge the other day at Cal's home in Northampton and that after the interview Cal took him out to the kitchen and made hot chocolate. Think of those two young devils sitting up in quiet old Northampton until nine or half-past nine and then swigging down nightcaps of hot chocolate! What's the world comin' to!

AND CAL told Bruce that he was the best chocolate maker in Northampton. Which ought to pull him a big vote in the hot chocolate belt in 1932.

MONDAY COMPLAINT.

There's really nothing more vexatious
Than being clever and sagacious—
And writing ads that effervesce
On thirty-five a week or less.

Why rhapsodize on formal dining
When your best frock is past maligning?
Or chant of sun and sailing boat
While freezing 'round in last year's coat?

It surely warps the soul to rant so
About the spots to which you can't go—
Ho hum!

Vocabularies are alarming—
Let's turn to being dumb and charming!

AND ASK any bright child why we have a holiday today and what great things did George Washington do and you will be told that he cut down his papa's cherry tree and then said: "I cannot tell a lie; I did it with my little hatchet." Sometimes we feel as though we don't want to be famous. R. H. L.

PROHIBITION

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 23, 1915.

THE HAGUE.—Thirteen men are reported missing from the American steamer Evelyn, which was destroyed by a mine in the North sea. Inquiries of the coast guard stations have brought the reply that nothing has been seen or heard of that part of the crew which was reported to have proceeded for Holland after the steamer was blown up.

CALAIS.—A German Zeppelin dropped ten bombs on this city. Five persons were killed and a number of houses wrecked. The German craft dropped two bombs on Fontinettes. Several buildings were damaged, but civilians escaped injury. From Fontinettes the airship flew in the direction of Dunkirk. As the craft hove in sight sharpshooters in the allies' camp took pot shots at the invader, forcing it to change its course and fly around the city over the channel.

PETROGRAD—Horrors perpetrated by the Turks are revealed by the Tiflis correspondent of the Russkoe Slovo, who says that after Dec. 30, when the news of the Russian occupation of Ardahan was received, the local Mussulmans threw off the mask and the same evening organized a systematic massacre. One hundred and fifty Armanians were led out into the street and shot or had their throats cut.

VIENNA.—The Austrians have repulsed the Russians south of the Dniester river, taking 2,000 prisoners, four guns and much war material, according to an official communication.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 23, 1901.

SAN FRANCISCO. — The steamer City of Rio de Janeiro was wrecked in entering the harbor here and 122 of the 201 persons on board perished. The big Pacific liner struck on Fort Point Ledge, just outside the Golden Gate. The disaster was due to a fog. The vessel sank in fifteen minutes, carrying down most of the small boats, which still hung on the davits.

PARIS.—During an attack upon the French garrison of 160 at Tunimoun, Algeria, by 1,000 native Barabos, three officers and six men were killed and twenty-one wounded. The natives were repulsed with 100 killed and about the same number wounded.

OMAHA, Neb.—E. A. Cudahy has received a letter—unmistakably genuine—from Pat Crowe, in which Crowe denies all complicity in the kidnaping of Eddie Cudahy, and states that he will soon give himself up. He also says further that he has not surrendered before because he feared lynching.

CHICAGO.—Chicago was never so rich as now. The banks are crammed with money and so great is the public prosperity that few seem to need it enough to pay even the low rates of interest that prevail. The surplus wealth belongs not only to the big concerns which carry their accounts with the national banks, but to the individual depositors—the working men and women who place their surplus with the savings banks.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 23, 1881.

CHICAGO.—The factory inspectors of Chicago have completed their first annual report, from which it appears that there are 5,420 factories, 7,411 stores, and 1,779 miscellaneous places where persons are employed. The total number of persons connected with these establishments is 125,125, of whom over 17,000 are females.

WASHINGTON. — From parties claiming to be well informed it is understood that Gen. Garfield has determined on the following gentlemen for members of his cabinet: Senator Blaine, secretary of state; Judge Folger, secretary of treasury; Nathan Goff Jr., the incumbent, secretary of navy; Gov. Foster of Ohio, postmaster general; either Senator Allison or James F. Wilson of Iowa, secretary of interior; Horace Davis of California, secretary of war, and ex-Senator T. O. Howe, attorney general.

WASHINGTON.—Gen. Sherman, acting as grand marshal of the inaugural parade, has appointed Gen. Field, an ex-confederate general and present doorkeeper of the house, to command a division of the procession. The inaugural military committee objects, but Gen. Sherman insists that Field shall serve, and a lively row is in prospect.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

RELATIVE COSTS.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—Our friend Faherty is soliciting support for Thompson for mayor from property owners along streets which have been widened. I have property at the corner of Ashland avenue and Augusta boulevard, both of which streets have been widened, and I should like to know if Mr. Faherty can explain why paving 23 feet on Ashland avenue should cost $600.45 [paving done by his board of local improvements], while the cost of paving the Augusta street side—100 ft. frontage—should cost only $322.40, the paving on Augusta street being done by the west park board. Mr. F. has his nerve in soliciting the property owners' support for Thompson. F. B. CAMPBELL.

NO MAN'S COLLAR.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—Is Andy Gump in politics again? "Wears no man's collar?" No, wait; let's see—got our politicians mixed; here it is—it's now, "Wears no man's halter"; that's Big Bill. O, well, what's the difference? Six of one, half a dozen of the other.

A YUNGWUN.

AN M. V. L. RECOMMENDATION.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—For years I have followed the Municipal Voters' league. They have performed a valuable service in the past. This year, however, their investigations appear to be incomplete in sundry instances. In my ward, the 44th, the league does not recommend Albert E. Loescher, the present alderman, who has voted—without exception—against Thompsonism on every important roll call during the last six years, while other aldermen are condemned for voting for the city hall. Ald. Loescher has voted against overloading the budget, waste in padded pay rolls and extravagance in exorbitant contracts. He has stood for the renter, property owner, and the people against the reckless city hall machine.

I am creditably informed that a member of the executive committee of the M. V. L. hand picked for endorsement an opponent of Ald. Loescher. Such a candidate, of course, has not been tested by the Thompson pledges and threats and it is uncertain, therefore, whether he would vote for or against the city hall. JAMES A. STEVEN.

DAILY AND SUNDAY.

La Grange, Ill., Feb. 20.—I am very agreeably surprised to find that THE TRIBUNE is still being published. After listening to Mayor Thompson's tirade against your paper a few nights ago over the radio, in which he advised all and sundry to stop buying or reading THE TRIBUNE, I feared that he had sure ruined you all. C. W. D.

THE FLOOD RELIEVER.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—Thompson is a great showman and revels in the gullibility of the public. Will he answer the flood charges flung out by Judge Lyle?

HOMER H. RYBOLT.

COURAGE.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—The main quality necessary to cope with the present crime situation is not youth, but extraordinary courage, to which should be added honesty and intelligence and a resourcefulness born of experience. Of the Republican candidates seeking the primary nomination there is one who has demonstrated that he has the necessary courage to fight the criminal and a resourcefulness born of experience. That man is Judge Lyle, Chicago's Crime Fighter. O. R. WETGAND.

EYE COLORING.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—According to the Mendelian law and two professors, brown eyed children are never born to blue eyed parents; my boy has brown eyes and both my husband and I have blue eyes, so it is possible.

MRS. MABLE PARET.

FREE INSTITUTIONS.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 16.—Why not leave King Alfonso alone? He has his troubles. Why kick him when he's down? [Not entirely out, though.] Why not content yourselves with remarks against another King Alphonse, who is more of a king at the present time and more noted than the king of Spain—the almighty and powerful King Alphonse Capone!

You elaborate upon the "intolerance" and "bigotry" of Charles V, and Philip II, and speak so patronizingly of the "freer institutions of England." Why is it that Spain must be made to bear the brunt of all charges of bigotry and intolerance? Yes, Spain did have an inquisition! It was a purely political tribunal, presided over by the state, and though it punished heretics and Jews the accounts of its history have been grossly exaggerated. Although you can give a full account of intolerance in Spain, your memory is quite rusty on the facts concerning intolerance in England. You say that England had "freer institutions." Was that shown in the bloody despoiling of Ireland and the forbidding of the Irish to practice their religious belief? Perhaps it was shown when good Queen Bess, as they call her, and her successors for many generations inflicted fines, imprisonment, and death on those who differed with them in religious matters.

The honored Pilgrim Fathers were renowned for their heartlessness and cruelty to disbelievers. Would any one believe that as late as 1844 there were religious riots in Philadelphia and many Catholic churches were burned down? Yet we still hear of the "bigotry and intolerance" of Spain. Many of these religious persecutions mentioned are of English extraction—most of them, in fact. Whence comes the phrase "freer institutions" of England and why has that country a reputation for tolerance under such evidence to the contrary?

MARGARET G. CUNNINGHAM.

JINGO AND WET.

Culver, Ind., Feb. 17—Editorials like the one in your paper this morning entitled "For a Helpless America" are so blatantly jingoistic as to disgust even an instructor in a military academy. When the peace forces of the world have made sufficient progress to make it safe to reduce our national defenses, and release to a slight extent the tremendous burden of expense caused by past, and possibly future, wars, we ought to applaud their efforts, and not refer to "mischievous pacifism" as you do. This editorial fits in very well with your utterly destructive editorial attitude toward prohibition. If you had a constructive substitute for it that would carry more weight.

While I get your paper daily and read the news and advertisements with interest, your editorial policies on peace, international good will, and prohibition certainly give me a daily dose of distasteful misinformation.

M. W. WOOD.

IN HONOR OF PASTEUR.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—I admire the monument of Pasteur which is placed near the Field museum. This is a fine tribute, but could we not go further toward honoring him? Let the drive on which the monument now stands be named Pasteur drive or Pasteur boulevard.

ALFONSO'S FOES UNITE FOR NEW WAR ON CROWN

Vote to Boycott King's National Election.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Feb. 22.—Spain's new reigning cabinet, captained by Admiral Juan Aznar, sighted its first real insight in the decision of the national executive committee of the socialist party and labor union to boycott the national elections and consolidate to the fullest extent with the Republican revolutionary committee.

So wholehearted is the Socialists' determination to make a common front with the Republicans until their cause shall win that the moderate elements, urging caution and a lone hand policy, have resigned.

Most notable among these is Prof. Julian Besteiro, president of the national committee. It is expected that in his place will be elected Largo Caballero, two fisted general secretary of the union, now in jail for leading the communities in the last revolutionary movement. Four other apostles of caution have resigned from the committee.

Monarchial Dream Bursts.

Their resignations have ended the government's dream of splitting the revolutionary ranks by divorcing the socialists and their 300,000 workers with their terrible weapon of a general strike from the purely Republican element with their backing among the bourgeoisie and friendly soldiery.

In a note issued tonight before the end of the session, which will confirm tomorrow, the Socialist committee said:

"The general political situation has not changed, but, on the contrary, the present government reveals a crisis in the régime itself. The king has given office to the old Spanish political cadre, whose sole representatives are men who cannot possibly resolve any national problem. The party and the union have decided to do everything in their power to give Spain a new political régime, and so will continue their relations with the Republican party."

No Decision on Strike.

A general strike was discussed at length today, and a majority of the comrades argued that it should start within a week as a signal for a general movement for revolt. No decision was taken, and when it is taken, it will actually not be revealed.

An overwhelming majority voted against participation in the general elections for King Alfonso's constitutional assembly. They decided to go to the municipal elections, which may be called within a month, on the ground that these have no national political significance.

The Republican and Constitutionalist groups will meet tomorrow to decide on a plan of action now that the support of the Socialists is assured. The Socialist committee's decision was communicated to the prison tonight, where it caused the greatest jubilation.

"Merger" Menaces Régime.

Among the Constitutionalists tonight it was predicted that now that old Nicolas Guerra, with his monarchial scruples, is out of the way, their group will go frankly Republican. Their position has suffered thus far because opposition to Alfonso at such a moment, with no suitable heir, is said to amount to republicanism anyway.

The Aznar government thus finds itself faced with exactly the same obstacles as faced Gen. Damaso Berenguer's cabinet, and with prospects of greater ones.

Unsolved Murders Lessen Prestige of Scotland Yard

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 22.—British justice, long celebrated, and the world-wide reputation of Scotland Yard are suffering through unfavorable publicity arising from a number of murders.

The phenomenal orgy of crime—it amounts to that in law abiding Britain—in which murderers, rapists, bigamists and morons generally have indulged themselves for the last two years has given the famous police more than they have been able to handle, and in the courts, at least in one instance, a case was decided in a way that aroused a storm of public protest. Scotland Yard is now without a real head because of the long absence of Lord Byng, who is ill. Subordinate officers have been running the department.

During the last few months four women have met death by violence and the police have failed to solve the cases. In the most sensational murder case of the year—the "blazing car" murder of an unknown man—they secured the conviction of Arthur Alfred Rouse, bigamous traveling salesman, and brought down a welter of criticism on the jury, which automatically condemned him to death by its verdict of guilty.

Scotland Yard Baffled.

Scotland Yard is now at a standstill in two cases where women have been murdered, and the police of Northumberland are under charges of palming another murder by a rapist off as a pathological case of suicide to escape criticism.

The first of these cases which baffled Scotland Yard was the slaying of Agnes Kesson at Epsom on Derby day last spring. Her body was found lying by a roadside at dawn. Months of investigation revealed only that the waitress had attended the races with an unknown young man and that she was leaving her place of employment for another job.

Her employer was questioned repeatedly at the inquest and by the police, but the murderer and his motive remain a mystery.

Elderly Woman Slain.

Shortly afterward Miss Beatrice Prendergast, an elderly shopkeeper in Brighton, was found with her head bashed in. The yard was not called in on this case, but local police have let the case trail into another investigation. It was dropped simply because nothing could be found out about it.

Last month Miss Evelyn Foster of Otterburn, Northumberland, was found badly burned beside her car, which was half destroyed by flames, gasping out a story that a stranger had struck her, thrown her into the tonneau, fired the car and sent it hurtling down a hill.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of murder. This went counter to the instructions of the coroner and of expert testimony at the hearing. Pathologists swore the girl was a victim of hallucinations, in their belief.

Assail Theories of Police.

But the verdict forces the police to continue a hunt for a murderer whom they do not believe exists. Widespread attacks on their theories are appearing in the newspapers. Her father, J. J. Foster, has taken the matter up with the home office. He bitterly denounced the Northumberland police.

"My daughter made a lucid statement which explained that she had been attacked by a passenger in her car and that this man had poured some liquid over her and set her car on fire," he wrote. "Many painful and scandalous innuendoes against my daughter's character were made during the inquest."

These had to do with testimony that no such stranger as the girl described as asking her to drive him to another town for a fare had been seen in the village, and suggestions that she set fire to the car to obtain insurance or gain notoriety.

Girl Slain by Maniac.

In the midst of the Otterburn murder London was shocked by one of the most vicious crimes against women in years. An 18 year old servant girl, Louisa Steel, was attacked and brutally mutilated on Blackheath common and her body left in plain sight of a busy crossing.

The murder took place on the night of Jan. 22 and the police have obtained nothing but a scanty description of a man sitting on a bench in the common with a weeping girl at about the time of the slaying—a girl not identified as the victim.

The crime they believe the work of a maniac. Original theories that it was the type made notorious by "Jack the Ripper" decades ago have been discarded. Scotland Yard took over the case, since it was in the London area, but the murderer still is free.

MOVE TO HALT NEW YORK POLICE GRAFT INQUIRY

New York, Feb. 22.—[Special.]—A concerted attempt to halt the search for police graft being made by Referee Samuel Seabury in the Appellate division inquiry into the lower courts was foreshadowed today when Harmon L. Falk, attorney for Charles A. Wand, a policeman with a bank account showing deposits of $82,000 in less than six years, said he planned to ask, on Tuesday or Wednesday, for a court order exempting his client from further examination concerning his financial affairs.

It was learned at the same time that a fight against the investigation from another angle was being prepared on behalf of police inspectors, captains and lieutenants named in the most recent subpoena for their bank accounts and brokerage house records.

The accounts of six police thus far examined in public have revealed aggregate deposits made in a period of about five years of nearly $500,000, about five times their total salaries.

Mr. Falk, Wand's attorney, today said he will go into the Supreme court and ask for a restraining order to protect his client from being examined any further on his bank accounts.

TURKEY ACTS TO STOP SMUGGLING DRUGS INTO U. S.

ISTANBUL, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Largely due to America's vigorous stand against contraband narcotic drug traffic, the Turkish government today took drastic measures to suppress illegal exportation of narcotics from this country. After representation on this subject from Joseph C. Grew, the American ambassador, the government sealed all three drug factories in Istanbul, as well as the complete stock, until the factories present documents attesting the amounts of production and exportation.

Exports to countries such as the United States, which do not allow unrestricted entry of narcotics, is henceforth expected to be impossible, as a government official has been attached to each factory to control production and exportation.

Factories must report to the government every 24 hours the amount of raw material purchased and the amount of production. The director of the Japanese factory here says the new order is so severe that his factory probably will be forced to cease functioning.

AVALANCHE KILLS A FAMILY OF SIX IN SPANISH TOWN

SECRET GAS ENDS BIG RUMANIAN OIL WELL BLAZE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUDAPEST, Feb. 22.—The great oil well fire at Moreni, near Bucharest, Rumania, which burned constantly for nearly three years at the cost of millions of dollars and many lives, was finally extinguished this week by three Budapest firemen. Defying the efforts of engineers from all over Europe and America and the latest methods of fire fighting, the blaze raged steadily throughout this time, throwing flames hundreds of feet in the air, lighting the country for 50 miles around, and making the oil field a veritable inferno.

The successful firemen, headed by Johann Schilzong, general secretary of the Budapest department, put out the stubborn blaze through the use of a new chemical gas called "Methylpronit." This gas was developed by Herr Schilzong in coöperation with the Americano-Romano Naphtha company, a subsidiary of Standard Oil company, owners of the burning well. The composition of methylpronit is being kept secret by Herr Schilzong.

Sparks Cause Blaze.

The fire started on May 28, 1929, when Standard Oil drillers struck oil 4,767 feet down in the ground. Immediately the pent up gas belched to the surface, tearing our casings, blowing tools, equipment and unfortunate drillers to smithereens. Sparks from the impact of iron tools ignited the gas, and flames reaching as high as skyscrapers shot into the sky.

Company engineers immediately tried to extinguish the blaze, but the terrific heat, which could be felt for miles about the well, would not permit workers, though thickly dressed in asbestos, to get within 300 yards of the well's opening. Three tunnels were then dug to reach the oil column some feet below ground, but on nearing the shaft explosions wrecked two of the tunnels, killing the diggers, and work on the third was abandoned.

Science Fails to Help.

Suggestions for extinguishing the flames, which were devouring 5,000 tons of oil daily, poured into Moreni by the thousands from engineers all over the world. But the most advanced methods of science were unavailing due to the tremendous heat of the flames preventing consistent efforts against them. Priests even offered to pray in behalf of the owners of the well, but their prayers for the control of the great pressure of oil and gas were without result.

Other wells nearby, dug into the same strata that fed number 160 in order to reduce its pressure, only added to the conflagration when they came through.

Winter Haven for Gypsies.

While the fire cost millions to the operators and probably reduced the general pressure throughout the area, it was a constant delight to gypsies who swarmed about it in winter. The flames turned rain and snow into steam, and the ground for hundreds of yards around remained dry during the entire time.

The three firemen, for their success in halting the fire, will be given a bonus of $25,000 by the American-Romano Naphtha company.

RAID RUM DENS IN LAKE COUNTY TO ROUT GANGS

A move to dry up Lake county and discourage gangsters from making the lake region their summer haven was begun yesterday by Sheriff Lester Tiffany in raids on three alleged speakeasies at North Chicago and Waukegan.

The first raid was made at 145 14th street, North Chicago, where 10 gallons of alcohol and two cases of beer were seized and John M. Andracki, the owner, was arrested. Next the deputies raided the saloon of John Sedej at 114 10th street, North Chicago, arrested Sedej and confiscated a small amount of beer and alcohol.

The third raid was directed against the saloon of Leonard Townsend at 828 10th street, Waukegan. Anthony Martini, the bartender, was seized and a case of beer was found. The prisoners were released on $2,000 bail each before Justice of the Peace Harry Hoyt in Waukegan and their cases set for hearing today.

Sheriff Tiffany said he will ask jail sentences for the men instead of fines. The raids were prompted in part, he declared, by reports that Chicago gangsters plan to make the lake region their stronghold this summer.

LIQUOR CAUSE OF 1,295 NEW YORK DEATHS IN 1930

New York, Feb. 22.—[Special.]—The annual report of Chief Medical Examiner Dr. Charles Norris, made public today, shows that alcohol poisoning killed 625 persons in New York City in 1930; and that, in all, about 1,295 deaths were caused either directly, or indirectly, by liquor. These figures, Dr. Norris pointed out, covered only such cases as came to the attention of his office.

"There probably are hundreds of alcoholic deaths we never know of," he said. "Physicians conceal them by putting other causes on death certificates. They do this to spare disgrace to families of the dead persons, for insurance, and for a dozen other reasons."

The report indicates that wood alcohol deaths increased from 58 in 1929 to 75 last year, or about 40 per cent.

Autopsies established also, the report says, that poisonous denaturants employed by the government in its efforts to stop the diversion of industrial alcohol were responsible for many deaths.

Lists Apartments by Locations and Size

The simple, efficient system of classifications used by the Tribune Want Ad Section enables the home-seeker to find quickly the type of apartment desired, in any locality.

Saves Time

The Tribune system saves its readers both time and energy. You don't have to grope blindly through a large number of want ads. Only a few minutes' time is required to examine every offer that might interest you in Chicago's rental directory, the Chicago Tribune Want Ad Section.

How It Works

To find an apartment, look first in the Want Ad Index under the heading "To Rent." Here the page numbers are given. Upon turning to the page indicated, you will find the classification divided geographically—North, Northwest, South, Southwest, West, and Suburban. Under each of these headings are others; "General List," "One, Two, and Three Rooms"; and, "Four, Five, Six Rooms and Larger." If you want to find a three room apartment on the North Side, find the column marked "North," and pass quickly along until you find the subheading "One, Two, and Three Rooms," and select the most interesting of the offers made.

Same System Throughout

The same system of geographical divisions is used for convenience in listing rooms, housekeeping rooms, board and lodging, and houses to rent.

Likewise, the real estate classifications—houses, apartments, business properties, and other properties for sale—are listed according to this same convenient system.

DRY LAW FACES SUPREME COURT TEST THIS WEEK

Judge Clark Ruling on Its Validity Comes Up.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—(AP)—The supreme court may pass this week upon the validity of the national prohibition law. It will reconvene on Tuesday after a three weeks' recess, and a number of important decisions are expected.

JUDGE WILLIAM CLARK. (International Press Photo.)

Included in the list of forty-six controversies on which the justices have been preparing opinions is the decision of Federal Judge William Clark of New Jersey holding the prohibition law invalid because it was ratified by state legislatures instead of state conventions.

This case was speeded to the supreme court for an early decision, and it was expected in some quarters the opinion would be handed down on Tuesday.

Is Speeding Up Cases.

The court has managed to keep up with its work while other federal and state courts are laboring with congested dockets. It is now able to hear cases as rapidly as attorneys can prepare them for presentation while other courts, in many instances, require a year or more.

Aside the Muscle Shoals case, upon which congressional interest now is centered and in which Alabama claims that the United States must pay it rent on hydro-electric power developed at Wilson dam and sold.

Included in the remaining cases are those relating to taxes.

Suit of Breweries Also Pends.

The right of brewery companies put out of business by the prohibition law to relieve taxes by claims for obsolescence of the plants is presented in three of the tax cases.

The government, in cases from New Orleans and Waterloo, N. Y., is insisting that it can prosecute persons under the internal revenue laws who have already been convicted under the prohibition law.

A protest over the validity of the Minnesota statute under which the Saturday Press was suppressed also may be decided on Tuesday.

DRY LEADERS TO MEET TODAY FOR COUNCIL ON 1932

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Plans for a general mobilization of the dry forces, with an eye to the 1932 presidential campaign, today awaited only the final approval of a conference of 23 prohibition organizations scheduled to meet here tomorrow.

Meantime, there came a warning to the Democratic party from the Methodist Episcopal board of temperance to "stop slapping Democratic dry sentiment in the face" and to keep "moral issues" out of the 1932 campaign.

The board, in its weekly clip sheet, blames the statement of Senator Simmons of North Carolina that the Democratic party will find itself in trouble if it takes the wet side of the prohibition issue.

"In 1928," it said, "the same men who are today saying that the Democratic party must be wet were hooting at the very idea that Gov. Smith could lose southern states because of his attack on prohibition. What happened in 1928 will almost certainly happen in 1932 if national Democratic leadership once again plays with the burnt saw of southern and western resentment."

LEGGE WARNS U. S. FARMER TO SLASH ACREAGE

Board Backs Him with Half Billion, He Says.

ALEXANDER LEGGE.

"The government," Legge will say in the issue of the Country Home to be published Tuesday, "has backed the farm board with a fund of half a billion dollars, and the question is, What has the farm board done with that money and what does it hope to do for the farmer?

Must Lower Cost of Production.

"The world market for American wheat is pretty hopeless. American farmers, to sell their wheat abroad now, would have to accept 20 cents less than they are getting at home.

"Our farmers must lower their costs of production on wheat and corn like the men with the steel factories and the automobile factories. But they must also adjust their production to the potential demand.

"It seems to be hard for the farmer to realize he can make more by raising less.

"Look at the potato crop. The market can normally consume 400 million bushels. If the farmers raise 10 per cent less than that, they get a high price and make money. If they raise 10 per cent more they have to accept a ruinous price.

"In 1923 the south produced 10,200,000 bales of cotton and sold it for $1,600,000,000. That looked good for the cotton planter. If he made that much on 10,000,000 bales, what could he do with 12, 15, 18 million bales? So he kept increasing his crop until in 1926 he raised 18,000,000 bales. And for that he got a billion dollars—$600,000,000 less than for a crop 75 per cent smaller.

Organization Is Key.

"Various plans have been offered to handle the export of the so-called exportable surplus of wheat. Well, my suggestion is to abolish it. What's the use of raising an exportable surplus when there is no place to export it profitably? The farmers must bring about a condition where American farmers will no longer raise wheat for export.

"How are we going to do that? Well, there is only one way—by organization. And this brings us to the major effort of the farm board.

"What must be done is to encourage the farmers to join their local cooperatives and to encourage the local cooperatives to become affiliated with the national association. When a majority of the wheat growers belong the farmers' marketing problem will be well on the way to a solution.

"Will the farmers join? That is the question, and on its answer hinges the success of the whole plan. Other farmers have done it in other crops than wheat."

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Up and at 'Em Again

FATHER KILLED; SON, 3 OTHERS HURT IN CRASH

Auto Rolls Over in Collision.

A collision between two automobiles, one of which rolled over three times, at Crawford and Touhy avenues, Tessville, fatally injured one man yesterday and bruised four others. The death victim was Martin Nelson, 53 years old, 6341 Sheridan road.

With his son, Marvin, 18, he was driving north in Crawford avenue, when he collided with another car traveling west in Touhy avenue. The second machine swerved after the crash and turned over three times, alighting right side up. Its occupants, F. E. Shapera, 1318 Sherwin avenue, head of the Alliance Finance corporation, 2429 South Michigan avenue; Lawrence Shapera, 1407 Sherwin avenue, his nephew, and Joseph Leibler, 7731 North Marshfield avenue, sales manager of the corporation, escaped with slight injuries. They were on their way to play golf. Martin Nelson was taken to the Swedish Covenant hospital, where he died.

Two Other Deaths Recorded.

This death and two others increased the Cook county motor toll for the year to 192.

Peter Wietecka, 40 years old, address unknown, was killed last night when he was struck by the automobile of Joseph Harper, 3541 Warren boulevard, at 43d street and Ashland avenue.

Killed Directing Traffic.

Serving as a volunteer traffic guide at the scene of an accident cost the life late last night of George Pappas, 45 years old, 104 North Elmwood avenue, Waukegan. The accident was a slight smashup of two cars in Rockland road, near Telegraph road, two miles west of Lake Bluff. Pappas stepped from his machine and stood directing traffic. One motorist failed to see him and struck him down, causing fatal injuries. Deputy sheriffs held H. W. Burnett, 5240 School street, Chicago, as the driver.

F. H. Howard, 28 years old, 231 East Superior street, a clerk, and Andrew Schmitz, 30 years old, of 5211 North Marshfield avenue, were seriously injured yesterday when their machine, driven by Howard, overturned at the east end of the Roosevelt road viaduct over the Illinois Central tracks. They were taken to St. Luke's hospital. Police said Howard was intoxicated.

Warning to Drivers.

Warning to motorists not to drive with three persons in the front seat was given last night in a bulletin by the Chicago Safety Council. Obstruction of visibility and operating ability of drivers are responsible for a large percentage of the automobile death toll, the council states in citing the danger of "three in the front seat" driving. Traffic codes provide penalties for this overloading evil, the bulletin adds.

THREE ARE KILLED AND FOUR INJURED AS AUTO, TRAIN HIT

Springfield, O., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Three members of a family of seven lost their lives and four were injured in a crossing accident here today. The dead were Mrs. Mona McNamee, 40; her son, Shelby, 20, and a daughter, Etta, 19.

B. S. McNamee, husband and father, suffered a fractured skull, while three other children, Virgil, 3; Vernon, 8, and Viro, 6, received lacerations and bruises. The family lived here.

Shelby McNamee, who was driving, died a few minutes after a passenger train struck the family automobile. Mrs. McNamee and her daughter died in a hospital several hours later.

ERNEST KREAMER, AUTO INDUSTRY ATTORNEY, DEAD

Ernest L. Kreamer, 48 years old, well known as an attorney in the automobile industry, and candidate for congressman in the Second district last year, died yesterday at his home at 5000 East End avenue.

E. L. KREAMER. (Matzene Photo.)

Mr. Kreamer was a member of the law firm of Howe, Zimmerman, Kreamer and Mack, 33 North La Salle street. He was active in charity affairs, and frequently at Christmas played Santa Claus to hundreds of crippled children. He belonged to the American, Illinois, and Chicago Bar associations, and the Union League, South Shore Country, Olympia Field Country, and the Executives' clubs.

Funeral services will be held at the chapel at 4227 Cottaye Grove avenue at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow, with interment following in Buffalo, N. Y. Mr. Kreamer is survived by his widow, Mrs. Cornelia Kreamer.

FIRST FEMININE LORD MAYOR OF LIVERPOOL DIES

LIVERPOOL, England, Feb. 22—(AP)—Miss Margaret Beavans, first woman to be lord mayor of Liverpool and known as "Little Mother" because of her interest in child welfare and charities, died here today.

Starting her social work in a dingy back street of Liverpool, Miss Beavan later organized the Liverpool Child Welfare association, which assisted more than 100,000 children and maintained 30,000 in homes and special hospitals.

Although she weighed only 125 pounds, the former lord mayor was a strong and fluent speaker. Before her election as lord mayor she was a justice of the peace and a member of the city council. She was a Conservative in politics. In 1929 she ran for the house of commons, but was defeated by the Labor candidate, Derwent Hall Caine, son of the novelist.

RUFUS DAWES IN ALABAMA; GUEST OF HUNTING CLUB

Mobile, Ala., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—Rufus C. Dawes, Chicago banker and president of the Chicago World's Fair, is a guest on a hunting trip on the Boykin game preserve at McIntosh.

Mr. Dawes is en route home from a trip to Yucatan, where he went on business in connection with the World's Fair, and is accompanied by his wife and other relatives. The party will motor from McIntosh to Cironelle, Monday, to resume the journey to Chicago.

According to a telephone message from McIntosh today, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dawes bagged a 25 pound wild turkey gobbler shortly after the hunt was started yesterday.

OZARKS TO CLAIM WORLD LARGEST ARTIFICIAL LAKE

Dam Will Flood 125 Miles of Valley.

The gates of the Bagnell dam are closed, and back of their mighty concrete bulwarks, mortised into the bedrock of the Osage river channel and the cliffs on either side, is being created the largest artificial lake in the world.

As the waters deepen and spread they will fill the valley for a distance of at least 125 miles, flooding more than 60,000 acres. Thirteen hundred miles of shore line will greet the vacationist in the heart of hills already famous for their scenic beauty.

Atop the dam a state highway will run for half a mile, luring new recruits to the army of sightseers who have descended upon the region 5,000 strong every week-end for more than a year. Sites for cabins, hunting lodges and resorts are selling fast along the boundaries of the lake-to-be.

To tame the rush of water from the dam's dozen spillways, so endless vibrations from a 100 foot wall will not shake and finally crack the dam, the currents are guided down a graduated slope, then up a series of "stairs."

Complete, as it will be some time this summer, the plant has a capacity of 268,000 horsepower. The current it generates will flash over high tension lines to St. Louis and to lead mines in southeastern Missouri.

Arthur C. Savage, 61, Life Insurance Co. Official, Dead

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Arthur C. Savage, 61 years old, vice president and assistant treasurer of the Royal Union Life Insurance company, died at his home here today. Death was caused by a complication of heart and lung diseases. Mr. Savage served three years in the Iowa senate and in 1911 was a candidate for election to the United States senate, being defeated by Senator A. B. Cummins.

LAST SURVIVOR OF MONITOR AND MERRIMAC DIES

Ponco, Neb., Feb. 22.—(AP)—James H. McKenzie, believed to be the last survivor of the famous civil war battle between the union gunboat Monitor and the confederate ironclad Merrimac, celebrated his 90th birthday at the county home here.

McKenzie is a ward of the county and does not receive a government pension. He served in the civil war for another man, a son of a Brooklyn merchant who paid him $350 for the substitution.

He first served aboard the Constitution, and in February, 1862, was selected as a member of the Monitor's crew.

After the war, McKenzie drifted west, reaching Nebraska in 1879. He has been a resident of the state since.

HOMEWARD VOYAGE.

John Falconer came up the companionway with a feeling of triumph. He was going home—home this time in the broader rather than the more personal and intimate sense. The word meant to him at this moment merely roads between trim hedges; Hyde Park corner, with the traffic moving in a stately parade; pale, lovely mists veiling the park and a sun red as an orange somewhere, but kindly, not with the golden, blinding blaze of these days of the south. He did not realize that his mind clung to these pictures of home but he should see instead a cold and silent house and hear the dreadful, echoless crying of a child.

They were at sea. Already, beyond the miles of dazzling waters, a pale and wavering line alone remained of the world he had left; and now, with only three weeks away, this other had become an alien world from which he was escaping with relief.

It was the basest ingratitude, he knew, for he had been made much of—perhaps much for his own taste. Desiring only to be let alone, he had a fortune at times of Fate sitting aloof in malice and pulling strings to defeat him.

Since the voyage home, therefore, he had been cunning in the extreme, leaving his steamer at the last moment to avoid the clamor of farewells and the ordeal of introduction to fellow travelers, and sailing not by one of the Castle boats where he would have been immediately recognized, but by the Pericles. Ports Durban and Cape Town were merely ports of call, and crowded with passengers already weeks at sea. These would speculate about him perhaps, envy him most certainly, but the newcomer would have to do the running and intend to invade that superior world of shipboard intimacies and enmities they had already established. Falconer, strolling along the deck, aware of the hagrid glances, smiled to himself, happy in the prospect of solitude.

He had already enlisted the deck steward's aid to this end, and the man found him a sheltered spot beyond the purser's cabin, far from the sports deck, and Gilberto roped off and filled with unused chairs. The steward had made a puzzling this desirable corner with a view to profit; at a nod from Falconer he seized his rug and chair and volunteered to put them in possession. His self-satisfaction had a heady effect upon John, who had lived for years past with something so nearly the reverse. When, therefore, he reached the corner and found it occupied he was annoyed.

"Pardon me, but that is my place."

The girl—he supposed she was a girl, for how in heaven's name could you tell these days?—settled her deck chair with the utmost composure, barely glancing at the angry young man. His own belongings had been pushed aside, and he seized them indignantly, saying to the invader:

"I am afraid you must move, please. This space has been cleared for me by the deck steward, and, besides, you will find it is the dull end of the ship. I should ask him to get you a sheltered spot."

"Thanks, he has, and the dull end of the ship happens to appeal to me."

There was a faint and not unfriendly smile in the girl's eyes, which were gray and set wide apart under level brows. She was a graceful creature, but Falconer was in no mood to see these distinctions. Bitterly he was hating the whole tribe of women. They were all the same, lacking in any sense of equity and possessing on their sex. A man would have got out at once like a good fellow, and—chivalry be damned!—he was not going to put up with this barefaced trespass.

"Sorry, but you don't seem to understand that I have engaged this part of the deck. Will you be good enough to have your things taken elsewhere?"

He swung his chair around in readiness and in so doing lost a never too good opinion, for the girl saw his name upon it and immediately gathered up and shoot her and settled down for the afternoon.

"You are talking nonsense," she said coldly. "Nobody can 'engage' the deck, as you must know very well, or is this your first voyage?"

The little thrust got home, but he ignored it, flushing angrily.

"Then you leave me no alternative but to bring the deck steward."

"Bring him by all means. He is as much my servant as yours, remember, and I will only point out there is plenty of room for us both."

"I happen to want to be quiet," said Falconer, stiffly.

"How fortunate," replied the lady. "I am a misanthrope, too, so we can sit side by side and ignore each other with complete propriety for the rest of the voyage."

"Look here, steward, you promised to reserve my place on the deck, and I find a woman in possession. What is the meaning of it?"

"Oh, you won't find Miss Revel will disturb you, sir. The young lady has just left her brother and wishes to be quiet."

"But, good God, can't she be quiet in some other part of the ship?"

"Captain's orders, sir," invented the steward, glibly. "She and the gentleman traveled out with us last year—a cripple he was. . . . Yes, madam, coming immediately."

The steward, a past master at evading issues, hurried away and Falconer took a smart promenade of the deck in order to hide his defeat from the victorious Miss Revel. She would appeal to the captain and parade her discomfiture in order to obtain privileges.

What had she said? . . . "We can sit side by side and ignore each other with complete propriety for the rest of the voyage"! Very well, then. He, tired out, his elation gone, and with it, for the moment, his sense of humor, stalked on and flung himself into the chair beside her. He would not look at her.

Miss Revel did not move. With her chin tucked into the gray fur collar of her coat and her small blue hat over her eyes, she lay as though asleep. He could not tell whether this were a pose without turning to look at her. This he was determined not to do. He opened the Fortnightly, deciding to read and ignore his neighbor, but his awareness of her persisted in spite of himself and at last he gave it up in despair.

Promenading passengers, passing and repassing to look the newcomers over and seeing them sitting silent and in such apparent accord, drew their own conclusions and advertised the fact forthwith. They were married, probably . . . on their honeymoon, no doubt.

Another time would have dissipated the pretty picture, since they were to sit at opposite ends of the saloon, had not Miss Revel chosen to dine in her cabin that evening. She had slept throughout John Falconer's uneasy vigil beside her and, at length awakening, had gone below without giving him so much as a glance. Though she knew him by name, bore him a grudge, and had been amused and astonished to encounter him on the Pericles, their first arms had made little impression on her, for even the most normal of men were liable to be slightly mad on shipboard, she had found; and at the end she was too fatigued to trouble about anything but the need for rest.

Her brother, Hugh, was dead at last, and she was too honest to grieve for him. It was a merciful relief to them both. Her honesty was perhaps the one thing she had shared with Hugh, for they had never pretended any deep affection for each other. The war, which had wrecked Hugh Revel's body, had shattered his mind and his tongue, and for ten years she had accompanied his restless pilgrimage from one warm country to another, Spain, the southern France, Egypt, Madeira, and at last the Cape; but when the end came instead of her devotion and self-sacrifice Hugh laughed and, oddly, that had been a relief to her. He knew it was not for his sake that she shared his exile, but yet for the sake of her work, which made it possible.

Good Morning!

KIND: Rough and tumble farce comedy.

FUNNY? The Oriental audiences think so.

ACTING: Winnie Lightner and Joe Brown run true to form. They clown, they yell and are, altogether as raucous and lively as a pair of chimpanzees on their native heath. The supporting cast does a good enough job of supporting.

PHOTOGRAPHY: All right.

SOUND: Brassy.

DIALOGUE: The sort you like to forget.

DIRECTION: I reckon the director did the best he could with his material.

STORY: Concerns doings in Dr. Winnie O'Neill's Health Sanatarium where wrestlers are made overnight and ladies get tanned without going to the seaside. The Dr's assistant, Jojo, loves the doctor who doesn't love him. There's a contributory romance between a tanee and a youth who falls into Winnie's clutches. Not much, the story, to waste words about.

REMARK: If you must know, "Sit Tight" bored me to tears, but I will have to be honest and say that I was the only one crying at the Oriental the other morning.

THE LONG LOOP

BY B. M. BOWER

INSTALLMENT XXXI.

TWO SETTLEMENTS.

"I'll laugh it off in the courtroom," Owen retorted. "You say yourself you saw beef steers with altered brands—that alone is enough to send the whole rustling bunch of 'em to the pen for fifteen years. And I'll see that they go, you can bank on that!"

"Now I'll tell one," Helen stated with ominous calm. "A tally of the cattle in this basin proves they have been run on shares, Owen Gray——"

"And that ain't countin' the O T stuff we sifted back onto the range," Mart dryly interrupted her. "There's many an O T critter running over on Antelope that their outfit didn't lay an iron to. Don't overlook that fact."

"That won't get you anything," Owen sneered. "There's altered brands in here—I saw a couple myself as we were coming over to the plane here, and so did Clancy. You won't go to the pen for putting my brand on my stock, that's true; but you sure as hell will land behind the bars for working those brands we saw. It's the cattle you stole that'll land you in Rawlins with the nippers on your wrists. Don't overlook that fact. You, too, Dix. You've worked your last brand. Owen gazed with dignity around the tense circle. "A thief's a thief, I don't care who he is."

"That's a thought," said Helen with hard cheerfulness. "Speaking of penitentiaries, is Rawlins where they send the federal prisoners, too, big cousin? Because if it is, you boys might all get to make the trip together. Wouldn't that be a perfect riot?"

"Now what do you think you're talking about?" Owen sent her a hostile look. "This is no time for wisecracking."

"Dear heart, I never was more serious in all my life. I told you you'd be surprised at all I know. For instance, I know a lot about Graypoint Oil that——"

"Aw, be yourself! You can't pull anything like that——"

"But darling, I have proof! A letter signed by the president of the company—or two letters or three—would be just as invincible before a jury as an altered brand on a steer. And I have letters, big cousin, bearing your well known signature and promising certain dividends from Graypoint Oil, at a time when the books of the corporation and the hole itself showed the hopelessness of the investment. Letters asking for more money from honest and unsuspecting women, and one of them a widow living on a civil war pension. And she sent her pension money because she believed the rotten lies in the letter she got. And I ask you, was that nice?

"So the way it stands, I can furnish Dix with all the proof he wants in the world that Graypoint Oil was a gyp from start to finish. Just a scheme to get money out of your neighbors, with the president forgetting himself and writing too enthusiastically to nice old ladies who wouldn't know any better than to believe him. Evidently Dix decided to reimburse himself by taking a bunch of your cattle on shares. And if I were you, Owen, I should write a nice, honest little agreement of contract and date it about three years ago—whenever Dix says to date it—giving him as many head of cattle to run on shares as he says to give him. You've got a record of them, haven't you?" she asked, turning a starry eyed look on Dix.

"Down to the last calf," said Dix shortly, his eyes fixed upon her in a dazed store. "I've got every beef steer chalked down so I could pay 'em back when Chuck was through school."

"You would have," murmured Helen with a little catch in her throat. "Well, you do that, big cousin."

"No, I'll be damned if I do!" growled Owen. "They're going to the pen where they'd ought to have been long ago."

"Owen Gray, you listen to me. If my husband has got to go to prison, then I'll make a good job of it and have a cousin there, too! I will!"

Helen turned and looked at him.

"I know, dear heart. But it just happens to be you I'm going to marry."

"Bee-lieve it or not," whispered Jo in a sudden ecstasy, and gave Frosty a hug that surprised him. But no one paid any attention to Jo at that moment.

"Me?" Dix looked as if he had been hit over the head with a club.

"You? Of course you! You knew all the while—we both knew, only neither one had the sense to say so. So did Larry," she added as an afterthought.

"Sure, I got you both the first time I saw you together," said Chuck. "But it wasn't my put in. You two had to settle it yourselves."

"So the cattle business has simply got to be cleared up right now," Helen declared with nervous tensity. "And, Owen, you're going to give Dix that agreement, as I tell you. Either that or I'll send what evidence I've collected on Graypoint Oil to the federal authorities, and just see what they do about it. Make up your mind, and make it up quick!"

"O, have it your own way—a woman always does!" growled Owen, and limped off toward the crevice, talking to himself as he went. And Clancy Brown trailed after him.

"Reckon I better go bring up a horse for Chuck," Mart muttered, starting off.

"Bring Coaly. Helen's knee is hurt," Dix said, not moving from the spot where he stood, but with his voice expressing more than many a love song yields of worship.

"Come on, Frosty. I'm wild to walk down that precious rustler's gap again." And Jo and Frosty took themselves off, hand in hand, and talking with their heads close together.

"Imagine my embarrassment!" grinned Chuck, turning to Dix and Helen: to where they had been, that is. They were not there now, but sitting under a big cottonwood a hundred yards away, only Dix's gray hat crown showing and one arm of Helen's white sweater.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

THE dapper method of Mr. White of Broadway as a producer of song-and-dance entertainment is brightly exhibited in "Flying High," the musical comedy of his manufacture which came to the Grand Opera house last night. This pastime has the trimness, the jauntiness and the bandbox smartness which have been characteristic of Mr. White's revues. In originality it is below par, and its humor has a certain hard, standardized quality; but it has the slick assurance and the perky precision that are the White trade mark.

"Flying High" is the kind of show that comes to pass when an impresario who patronizes Joseph Urban's scenery factory and the best costume designers of Manhattan tells his favorite librettists: "Write me a piece about aviation." It is a demonstration of what the well dressed airman and airgirl should wear; it tells a marshmallow love story about a gallant pilot who is torn between his devotion to a beautiful stenographer and his duty toward the high born lady of passion who finances his flight; and it contains a crack brained hangar roustabout in the rôle of principal laughmaker.

This comedian, Bert Lahr by name, was the life of the party at the premiere. But for him, I suspect, the imposing swarm of Sunday nighters who attended the proceedings, keen-eyed and expectant, would have had a rather thin time of it. Until Mr. Lahr began to function freely, the show promised to become sappy on the subject of aviation love.

But Mr. Lahr stirred up the customers. Nature gave him a funny face and a clown's temperament; and with this equipment in his favor, he decided to pattern himself after the old masters of the game. He uses the lisp and splutter of Ed Wynn; the agonized woof-woof and ga-ga groans of Leon Errol. Many of his gestures are synthetic. One cannot say of Mr. Lahr that he is unique; but he keeps the laughter going. Eccentrics of his caliber are extremely handy men around the premises of any musical comedy.

Oscar Shaw brings the nasal deftness of his agreeable style to the rôle of the pilot who entrances the ladies. Grace Brinkley is a nice blonde heroine, and Pearl Osgood is a neat soubrette. Russ Brown and Fred Manatt figure vigorously in the proceedings as the fellows who mistreat, maul and commit mayhem upon the person of Mr. Lahr. Diane Seaby, who represents the "threat" in the love story, is a fine figure of a high girl with silver hair. Four limber lassies, all looking more or less alike, dance shyly and do cartwheel tricks under the title of the Gale Quadruplets—Jane, Jean, Joan and June.

I checked three musical numbers on the program for special mention—the title song and "Thank You, Father," because they are unusually good; "Red Hot Chicago," because it is the silliest ditty that has been dedicated to this metropolis for twenty-five years. I also made note of a little incident in a scene of comic medical examination, but I cannot describe it for newspaper circulation.

My motto about that sort of thing in the theater, however, is "on ne passera pas." If there is any authority hereabouts trying to decide—as the recent "Sketch Book" trial suggested—what can and what cannot get by on the stage of Chicago, I recommend its attention to this clinical jest in the otherwise harmless "Flying High." So far as I am concerned, my verdict is, "That's out."

BATTLE GAME RECALLS AMERICA IN DAYS OF NATION'S FATHER

Numerous celebrations were held yesterday by civic organizations, clubs and patriotic groups in commemoration of the 199th anniversary of George Washington's birth. Business offices, banks, stock exchanges, Board of Trade, the public schools and most departments of the city and county governments will be closed today.

Among the more colorful of the hundreds of commemorative ceremonies yesterday were the games and battle demonstrations given by the 124th field artillery in the new armory at 5200 Cottage Grove. Competitive drills by R. O. T. C. units and bands were one feature. Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commander of the sixth corps area, presented the trophies.

A polo game, trick riding events, artillery drill with a complete battery of the French .75's and a battle demonstration in which the 131st infantry participated climaxed the affair.

Prof. George L. Sherger of the history department of the University of Chicago was the main speaker at a patriotic celebration at the Olivet institute, 1441 Cleveland avenue. A dinner was held by the Chicago Woman's club in their rooms at 72 East 11th street. Maj. Gen. Parker was a speaker.

The Junior auxiliary of the Southern Women's club also conducted a Washington day meeting at 410 South Michigan boulevard.

Since the 22d of February, Washington's birthday, fell on a Sunday, the legal holiday will be today. In addition to closing of the schools and city and county officers, Postmaster Arthur C. Lueder announced that all branch postoffices will be closed and only one carrier delivery will be made today. The general delivery window will be open at the main postoffice from 8 to 10 a. m.

Hoovers Attend Old Church of G. Washington

Americans and French Fete Near Paris.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—(AP)—President Hoover led the nation today in celebrating the 199th anniversary of George Washington's birthday by attending services in the church where the first President worshiped.

Accompanied by Mrs. Hoover and their granddaughter, Peggy Ann, the President journeyed to Alexandria, Va., across the Potomac river from Washington. He sat in the pew in Christ's church which once was occupied by George Washington.

In going to Alexandria, Washington's home town, the chief executive viewed from his automobile a farflung landscape being changed rapidly to do honor to the first President. Dredges changing the banks and channels of the beautiful Potomac, steam shovels cutting away grades, and jacks raising the bridges across the river, were seen on every hand preparing the "Washington country" for the nation's celebration next year of his 200th birthday.

Viscount Grey Blames George III. for Revolution.

New York, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The Englishman of today blames King George III. and his ministers for the war which separated the American colonies from the mother country, Viscount Grey of Fallodon said today in a Washington's birthday address in London, broadcast in the United States by the Columbia system.

The man who read Great Britain's declaration of war on Germany in the commons in 1914 said:

"When I ask myself what it was that caused the breach between George Washington and Britain, and what it was that made the breach irrevocable, I think the fair answer by an impartial historian is that it was the want of statesmanship on the part of the British government.

"George Washington's place in history is established. His fame is secure; his work endures. He is one of the men who are called 'great' and to whom the word justly applies.

"The American constitution is a wonderful feat of statesmanship. I know that it is neither politic nor true to overemphasize or exaggerate the importance of the British sentiment in America today, but the fact remains in history that the American constitution was the work of men of British stock, and that warmed our admiration for the statesmanship it showed, for it is one of the most remarkable, if not the most remarkable, instances of statesmanship in history."

Liberty Bell Rings Again as Philadelphia Celebrates.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Back in the stirring days of 1776 the Liberty bell rang a joyous peal of independence and later it summoned the people of Philadelphia to learn the news from the battlefields. Today, after nearly a century of silence, broken only on one or two occasions, its tones, muffled but impelling, called together a nation in solemn observance of the 199th birthday of the father of the republic—George Washington.

PARIS, Feb. 22.—Standing by the partly finished replica of Mount Vernon, which is the American exhibit at the French colonial exposition, to open next May, in Vincennes, Ambassador Walter E. Edge today delivered a tribute to the memory of Gen. La Fayette. Grouped about him were high officials of the French government and leaders of the American colony in Paris.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 22.—"George Washington was a traitor to the land of his birth and allegiance," declared Dr. Henry Smith Leiper, a delegate to the federated council of the Church of Christ in America, to a world convention at Geneva, when speaking before an audience of expatriates in the American church in the Quai d'Orsay at Washington's birthday service.

Introduced by the local pastor as one of the foremost representatives of a new era of religious teachers, Leiper remarked: "We cannot set up Washington as an ideal patriot for every one to follow. He was a successful rebel."

"We are not living in an era of isolation. The patriotism that makes room for the rest of the world is the ideal patriotism of our own day."

Fiance Admits He's Fickle; Girl Wonders If All Fellows Are

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Recently I became engaged to a young man who says he loves me dearly. Still, I don't understand his kind of love. He says if he saw a pretty girl waiting on a corner and she gave him an encouraging smile he would pick her up. He also says he enjoys kissing other girls, even though he is engaged to me.

"He says that is the masculine instinct, that all men are like that. But I disagree with him. Do you think they are? THANKA."

A man with the courage of his convictions, at least, Thanka, though you may not like his convictions. Nor would I, were I planning to take him on for life. Because pretty girls with come-on eyes do keep on standing around corners and there always will be women willing to coöperate with a kissing male, it seems.

The question isn't so much whether it is masculine instinct as it is whether you could do with less of the so-called instinct in the man you're going to be tied up with for life. Some men, happily, have managed, somehow, to curb the instinct and to find in the girls they marry sufficient outlet for their amorous natures.

Some men are sufficiently imbued with the give-and-take instinct to give the girl they ask to marry a clean break. Some men, in other words, are just too decent at heart to want to cause doubts, misgivings, and heartaches in their best girl. I don't know but I'd try to turn in this model that you're now engaged to for a smoother running one. Otherwise, it is going to be rough riding.

Men who conduct themselves on the principle of "masculine instinct" indeed may be fascinating devils—but they make darned uncomfortable husbands. And since the woods are full of the other kind, why pick an unsafe prospect?

Of course, under the circumstances, one might project the "female instinct" as a counter argument, including response to the handsome gent with the come-hither eyes and the ready lips—but why bring that up in decent, law abiding circles?

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Be More Attentive.

"Dear Miss Blake: The girl I love thinks I am trying to break off with her, but I am not. Please advise. "ED."

Perhaps you've not been so attentive as heretofore, and she feels you're losing interest.

Faith Needed.

"Dear Miss Blake: People tell the boy who loves me I go out with other fellows. He believes them. Please advise. BLUE LOU."

Tell him you'll believe in his love when he can have faith in you and trust you.

Sun Seems to Spend Winter as Chicagoan

BY THALIA

"WE are having a very gay time going about when the weather permits, but it's not been such a sunny south as people like to write about."

That's the word from Miami Beach, where there's a sizable colony of Chicagoans just now. My correspondent adds, "I can tell you that if the weather does not improve I'm going back to Chi after a short visit."

There are many Chicagoans at the King Cole hotel, several of them having cottages there for the season. Eleanor Holden has been visiting the Vincent Healys at their cottage and Mr. and Mrs. Mason Phelps are there for the golf and fishing. The Howard Linns and the Wayne Chatfield-Taylors are expected to arrive the first part of next month, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Poor are to be seen almost every day at the Bath club. The Harold Fleemans and the A. R. Franks are sharing a cottage and the Robert Uptons, who went to Miami Beach with the Paul Walkers and the Orville Taylors, are continuing to occupy the Earl Reynolds' cottage, the Reynolds planning to occupy it themselves in March. The Oscar W. Johnsons, Mrs. Clair Rice, and the Edward N. Hurleys are others at the King Cole.

Mrs. R. H. Brewster Visiting Here; She's Aviatrix, Too.

This and that, reportorially speaking—Mrs. Benjamin H. Brewster III, just back here from Baltimore, visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William B. McIlvaine. [She is an accomplished aviatrix now, and has a plane of her own, but she didn't fly here in it this time . . . the Charles C. Haffners Jr. are in Santa Barbara at the Biltmore. Col. and Mrs. Joseph H. Barnard of Santa Barbara gave a dinner for the Silas H. Strawns and Mrs. Wesley Sturges at the Biltmore one evening last week, and Mrs. Lorenzo Johnson gave a tea at the Montecito Country club for her daughter, Mrs. Stewart Johnson, who is at Las Olas, Mrs. Johnson's place, for her first visit. Among the guests were Mrs. Cecil Clark Davis, Mrs. Walter Franklyn Cobb, Mrs. Craig Heberton, and Mr. and Mrs. August Magnus.

Don't you think—That the concert Mrs. Francis T. A. Junkin is to give tomorrow night at the Chicago Lighthouse for the Blind, arranged by the Lighthouse Volunteer Aids, will be a big one? . . . that Elinor Durbin probably will be thoroughly congratulated and twitted about that Phi Beta Kappa key when she comes home? . . . that the new evening dresses with jackets that have fur handed down are sweet? . . . that it will be interesting to see Carroll Sudler's fiancée, Miss Marion Elizabeth Roberts of Baltimore, when she comes on for a Chicago visit? [Her pictures are terribly attractive!]

American Opera Society to Hold Meeting Today.

Today's the day for . . . the American Opera society's meeting at Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick's residence for the program of excerpts from Deems Taylor's "Peter Ibbetson," and for the first of the Cenacle Louise lectures at Mrs. Edward I. Cudahy's residence.

And tonight there is . . . the Association of Arts and Industries' benefit, "Torch Song," at the Blackstone, for which Mrs. Patrick Valentine, Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, Mrs. James A. Patten, Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy, Mrs. Wilhelm Ludwig Baum, Mrs. John A. Spoor and others have purchased tickets . . . the Playwrights theater production of Alice Gerstenberg's "Latchkeys," at the Goodman theater [among those who have reservations for that are the Arthur Rissells, the William O. Goodmans, Miss Harriet Stuart, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Noyes, Mr. and Mrs. Harris Rosenfield, whose daughter, Helen Walton, plays the leading rôle, Mrs. Charles Conrad, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Humphreys, and Mrs. Howard Van Doren Shaw] . . . and the College club's special program with Mrs. Patrick Campbell giving her "Beautiful Speech and the Art of Acting" . . . and the first annual mess of the Illinois National Guard and naval militia at the 124th Field Artillery armory [if any one wants the army or navy tonight, they'll find all the local sojers and sailors and officers there].

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—The secretary of commerce and Mrs. Lamont had with them at dinner today Miss Gertrude Lamont's fiancé, Charles Partridge Saltzman of New York. He is spending the week-end with his parents, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Charles McK. Saltzman. The wedding will take place during the Easter season.

Miss Helen Cannon returned yesterday from a visit to her home in Danville, Ill. She was accompanied there by her niece, Mrs. Helen Leseure Richardson, who now makes her home with her. They were joined there by Mrs. Richardson's sister, Mrs. William Roughsedling of California, who returned here with them to make a spring visit, after which Miss Cannon and Mrs. Richardson will go to Europe for several months.

Mrs. W. H. Bennett of Milwaukee has announced the engagement of her daughter, Grace Victoria, to Albert Arthur Yort of the Ambassador hotel. The wedding is to take place in March, after which Mr. Yort and his bride are to reside in Chicago. Miss Bennett is the daughter of the late W. H. More recently she has been associated with the National Broadcasting company.

Rev. G. Schuessler, Pastor for 30 Years, Honored by Followers

The Rev. G. Schuessler, pastor of the Redeemer English Lutheran church, 6418 Harvard avenue yesterday celebrated his 30th year as pastor of the church. He was the founder of the church. During his ministry the parish has become one of the largest in the city. Two services were held in the pastor's honor. Last night, the Rev. E. F. Haertel, who preached the Rev. Mr. Schuessler's installation sermon 30 years ago was the special preacher. Other speakers were the Rev. Dr. W. H. T. Dau of Valparaiso university, and President W. C. Kohn of Concordia college, River Forest.

Lent Day by Day

ENTANGLING ALLIANCES.

THE REV. HAROLD HOLT.

[Rector of Grace Episcopal Church, Oak Park.]

"No man that farreth entangleth himself with the affairs of this life; that he may please him who hath called him to be a soldier."—St. Paul.

"Like an army" scarcely describes the Christian warring against evil. We speak of ourselves as soldiers of Christ, but we are not like the regular army, always distinct both in spirit and life from the rest of the world. We are like the National Guard, indistinguishable from the rest of the population until some emergency develops. It is then we take on the characteristics of a soldier.

Once a year the National Guard lays aside its civilian character and moves into camp. It lives, acts and thinks in terms of the military. It learns to maneuver as it will in a national crisis. The lessons are so intensive that they stick for the rest of the year. The summer camps are the hope of the nation in time of war.

Lent is the Christians' mobilization time. No more desultory, weekly drill, but intensive maneuvers against evil. For forty days we are to be a closely knit army facing a warfare. We disentangle ourselves from the world, the flesh and the devil during this period. We become peculiar, that is, distinguishable from our neighbors as to what we do, where we go; and we attend drills, not just on Sundays, but daily. Our drills are prayers, services, thoughts and deeds of Christly character.

The Lenten army is in the field. Will you join it?

PRAYER:

O Heavenly Father, who hast chosen us out of all the world to be thy faithful soldier and servant and to fight against sin, the world, and the devil, give us grace so to free ourselves from worldly interests during these forty days that ye may do thy will, learn thy life and bring thy kingdom among men; through Jesus Christ, the captain of our salvation.

LENTEN NOTES

The Rt. Rev. Frank E. Wilson, former Chicago rector, will be the noonday Lenten preacher this week at the Garrick theater. These services, conducted by the Episcopal Church club, will begin at 12:10 and close at 12:35.

Cathedral Shelter, Washington and Peoria streets; holy communion at 12:10.

St. Patrick's Catholic church, Adams and Des Plaines streets; low mass at 12:10.

Holy Name cathedral, State and Superior streets; low mass at 12:10.

St. Patrick's Catholic church will celebrate in April the diamond jubilee of its construction, the Rev. William J. McNamee, its pastor, announced last night at the first of a series of three Sunday evening Lenten concerts to be given in the church by the choir, which is under the direction of Dr. J. Lewis Browne.

CIVIC ORCHESTRA AGAIN PROVES ITS PLACE IN CHICAGO

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Every time that the Civic orchestra gives a concert, yesterday afternoon no less than the other occasions, there is further reason to believe that its existence is one of the most important features, at least in possibilities, of Chicago's musical life. It is an organization of young musicians under the musical direction of Frederick Stock and the conductorship of Eric DeLamarter who are being trained in the lore of orchestral playing. By the time they get to the stage of public appearances they have learned a great part of it.

Mr. DeLamarter had them in Orchestra hall yesterday in a program that had Goldmark's "Sakuntala" for an overture, Glazounow's fourth for a symphony, and briefer works by Rameau, Dukas, Tschaikowsky, and Brahms for the rest of the concert. They played like an adult orchestra, for that matter better than a number of adult orchestras, in spirit, in transparency of string tone, and in several other of the major orchestral virtues.

Vera Gillette, winner of the recent competition of the Society of American Musicians, appeared in a recital at the Civic theater in token of her victory. An attractive recital program had been prepared, beginning with a Chopin group and impinging upon a number of the more notable classical and modern composers. Miss Gillette has evidently been a faithful student, having developed dexterity and speed, sometimes at the expense of tone, but generally to the loudly expressed liking on her audience.

The Chicago String quartet, playing at the Chicago Woman's club theater, presented an all-American program. The first number, a quartet in G by Walter Helfer, composed in 1923, was particularly interesting as an earnest and frequently successful attempt to handle American syncopation in terms of well bred music. For those who still look down upon jazz, be it added that there is nothing ignoble in its rhythms. It all depends on the one who handles them. Mr. Helfer had an idea that something could be made out of them. Elsewhere on the program was a single movement of polytonal character from a quartet by Robert Sanders of Chicago and Daniel Gregory Mason's Quartet on Negro Themes.

A joint recital at the Playhouse was visited in time to hear Leon Rosenbloom, pianist, play the Handel-Brahms Variations and Fugue, a ponderous work which Mr. Rosenbloom, though studious and earnest to a degree, did little to lighten. Kai de Vermond, basso, and his associate, was heard in some songs which disclosed a voice of power and quality employed with dramatic manner and excellent use of several languages.

Meanwhile Clifford Blair, tenor, was giving what would seem to have been a debut recital next door at the Studebaker. Here was a light voice, though sufficient in range and quality for a wide variety of songs, a slight tendency to sing sharp, and a refined and attractive style in singing.

PALM BEACH SOCIETY

Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 22.—Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Horace E. Dodge gave a luncheon today. Tennis and swimming followed. Among the guests were Mrs. John F. Jelke Jr. and her house guest, Mrs. Arthur Burrows, Mr. and Mrs. Horace H. Work, and Vincent Bendix and his house guests.

More than 300 persons attended the Washington's birthday dinner dance given at the Everglades club tonight. Mrs. Frank O. Butler entertained a large group of friends. Her table decorations were a reproduction of Washington's passage across the Delaware.

Mrs. Butler's guests included Mr. and Mrs. Paul T. Zizinal of New York, in whose honor the party was given, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vernon Skiff, Dr. and Mrs. Edmund Leroy Dow, Mayor and Mrs. John Shepard Jr., Mrs. Joseph B. Long, Mr. and Mrs. J. Terry West, Mr. and Mrs. Emil J. Stehli and Mrs. Elden C. Dewitt.

The Joseph M. Cudahy home on Grace Trail is being opened this week preparatory to the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Cudahy later in the season.

Johanna Gadski Here.

Johanna Gadski, contralto of the German Opera company, arrived here yesterday. She is to sing this week in "Tristan and Isolde" and "Die Walkuere." She was for many years a member of the Metropolitan Opera company of New York.

Princess Selects Two Colored Hat and Gilet.

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—Special Correspondence.]—Two colored accessories lend gayety to smart ensembles this season. The piebald vogue has invaded everything from shoes to jewelry. Coral and jade, hematite and ivory are smarter than corals or ivory alone, though these are worn, too. A hat featuring two or three colors puts it all over the staid one color affair. Reboux and Agnes, to name only two of the Paris modistes who are playing the bi-color game, make two faced hats that turn one color with one cheek and a contrasting shade with t'other.

You may match these hats to your shoes, your handbag, your handkerchief—in fact, to almost any detail of your costume and look all right.

Bright Sayings of the Children

Dickie, 5 years old, came in and said, "Don't cry, mother. I'll tell daddy to buy a bird with more common sense next time." H. H.

Little Betty Lou, aged 20 months, likes to watch the smoke pour out of the chimneys in the neighborhood. Recently she noticed her father smoking a new pipe.

Bobbed Hair Here to Stay, but It's a Lengthened Bob

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

At a recent beauty experts' convention in Detroit word was passed out that bobbed hair is here to stay, in spite of suspicions to the contrary, to say nothing of evidence, also to the contrary.

Is it? Possibly the word "bobbed" should join up in the cannery with boyish form and flapper and a few other now extinct expressions, since what they were meant to describe has long since gone the way of forgotten customs.

There ought, for convenience sake, to be a new word to take the place of bob. Even the Detroit gathering had not the really bobbed head in mind when it pronounced its verdict. It's something else they're talking about, now. A lengthy short hair dressing is what is here to stay, as ordered by the beauty experts' vote.

"No amount of talking or example setting ever will succeed in bringing back long hair," it was explained at the convention. "Women all know the comfort and youthfulness of the bob."

On the other hand, talking and example setting seems to be making large inroads on the short hair, allies sames! Look at the fashion magazine heads, for instance. Look at the store window mannequins! Look at the girls, themselves, you see here and there and everywhere.

Comfort isn't one of the things you can count on when predicting about a woman. Youthfulness, yes! She'll fight with all the power that's in her for it, but comfort doesn't enter her scheme of thinking when her appearance is the thing at stake. And if it is true, as the early summer fashion reports indicate, that we're going to have a season of large, floppy hats, she'll have hair to let them flop over.

Of course, my prediction is no more authentic than the next one's. But I think it is going to take a radical change in dress styles to keep women away from trying long hair for the lengthened skirt.

The decision rests with the younger women. What they decide, the older ones will copy—for the youth effect implied. Just as surely as young women rule the dress styles, so they dictate coiffure trends.

THE MODERNIST TEN PRESENT THEIR ART, OFTEN WELL DISGUISED

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

There is in the Marshall Field gallery another exhibit of paintings by the "Ten." That almost mystic name has become the password of the combination of ten of Chicago's modernist painters, some more modernist than others, but all of them tarred with the brush which frequently commits disastrous episodes in color and occasionally perpetrates an ecstasy. Jean Crawford Adams, Emil Armin, Charles and Fred Biesel, Gustaf Dahlstrom, Frances Foy, Emile J. Grumieaux, V. M. S. Hannell, George Josimovich, and Frances Strain comprise the "Ten."

It is difficult to evaluate correctly the paintings which are hung in their name. Josimovich is a particularly disturbing element. His paint is heavy and his idiosyncrasy is to apply it in swirls like so many raging worms. It is restless painting and conducive to no pleasant adjectives. Gustaf Dahlstrom is at the far end of the gamut, and his pictures are mild. The "Cat on a Table" is the best of his three. Charles Biesel is more or less conventional, and both his "Dune Flowers" and "Near Sister Bay" are open to admiration.

Fred Biesel gives us a nicely neat still life and a "Woods" and "Model" that are doubtful Thomases. Jean Crawford Adams goes a lonely road of subtle nonchalance, suggesting more than perpetrating landscapes that smack of various French painters. "Spring" is bright; "Country Road," chipper, and the "Still Life" is pursued in my notes by nothing more explicit than the word "modernist." Emil Armin offers three jiggildy, tipply-topply conceptions of current affairs, two staged in Chicago and one in the west where men are men and goats are skitchery creatures at their best.

Frances Foy brings in an intelligent and sane note with her portrait of Mr. Foy, a restrained and really delightful painting in grays. Her "Beach Party" is essentially charming, and the "Picnic Beside a Lagoon" is amusing in character and delightful in color. Frances Strain offers a portrait of J. Z. Jacobson in which the paint is heavily laid on, another portrait of a girl about which doubts rise, and a third painting of "The Ravine" that is overwrought in treatment. Grumieaux has three strong paintings, well built up and sanely colored, and Mr. Hannell shows an odd portrait, a blurred village store and "Furnesville" whose chief characteristic apparently is its color, for "blue" tags it in my notes.

The exhibition undoubtedly leaves one in a restless frame of mind. You hate to admit this sort of painting is worth while, and still, would intelligent men and women concern themselves with it if it were valueless? We wonder.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

This daytime dress has a smart simplicity that is becoming and satisfying. A purple blue flat crêpe was used for the original and a matching shade in an enamel buckle fastened the narrow belt at the natural waistline. This particular shade promises to be decidedly smart for spring wear. The curved seaming of the skirt has a narrowing effect and the cowl neckline disguises the breadth beautifully.

The pattern, No. 2984, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3⅞ yards of 39 inch material.

Food Talk.

That delicious little fish which one finds served in so many hors d'oeuvres is the anchovy. Anchovies have a peculiarly fine flavor that almost defies description. The distinctive piquant seasoned flavor is one characteristic of the herring family. Anchovies are a member of this family. Anchovies are found in several parts of Europe and America. The catch in the Mediterranean, however, is of the best quality. Domestic anchovies are found all along our entire coast line. Our choicest production is the comparatively large "California anchovy."

Anchovies are prepared for exportation by removing the heads, intestines, and pectoral fins and packing in rock salt in small kegs to be later bottled whole or filleted in oil or salt or otherwise packed for retailing. The small fish are valued more highly than the large by epicures.

Anchovies are also pounded into a butter or paste and a sauce or essence—the latter is pink in color and thick and oily and consists of the pounded fish and spices. It is used as a flavoring for soups and sauces. Anchovies find their place at the table almost exclusively among the hors d'oeuvres. A fillet of anchovy arranged on a small toasted round of bread and garnished with some pimiento is a familiar method of service. But there are other ways slightly different and therefore more interesting.

Anchovies and olives is another delightful method of preparation. Roll the anchovy over a round stick of wood ⅜ of an inch in diameter so that an olive can be inserted in the center. The olives should be stoned with a small cylindrical cutter and the empty space filled with hard cooked egg yolk rubbed through a fine sieve or with anchovy butter. Stuffed olives may be used without the bother of pitting and filling the olives. In stores where imported products are sold, one can find olives stuffed with anchovies and these are most delicious.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

New revised edition of the Sex Education booklet is now ready and will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a stamped self-addressed envelope.

It was obvious that the boy hated school. He dreaded each day before it came.

"Suppose," said the principal to the boy, "suppose I let you cut out arithmetic for a while."

The lad's face shone. "O, gosh," he said, "then I'd love school!"

How many poor youngsters feel that way. Arithmetic is the bane of their days and the bad dream of their nights.

So many children can master every other subject—reading, literature, geography, foreign languages, the various arts and crafts, but are floored by arithmetic.

Unfortunately, through the generations arithmetic has been the ruler by which a child's progress was measured. Even his promotions have depended upon his ability to figure. It used to be and still is the three R's that loom largest in many educational systems—reading and 'riting and 'rithmetic, with a tremendous accent on the arithmetic. And many a child's life has been made miserable by his inability to master it at the required rate of speed.

Is your child one of these? If he is I am sorry for him, and sorry for you. And if you have both gotten upset and unhappy over it, perhaps I can help you both just a little by giving you a different point of view.

The advanced schools are putting arithmetic in its proper place. They are making of it not an end, but a means to an end. It is called, as you know, a "tool subject," just as reading and writing are. For, after all, that is all that reading and writing and arithmetic can be called—tools.

We don't learn to write so we can make beautiful flourishes, but to be able to put down our thoughts for others to read.

So, we don't learn to do arithmetic in order to juggle figures, but to be able to handle the everyday affairs of life—personal accounts, bills, taxes and business.

Tomorrow we will go on with the child and arithmetic problem.

GOLDEN GLOVES FIGHTS ON SOUTH SIDE TONIGHT

TULSA OILERS UPSET, 3 TO 0, BY SHAMROCKS

Burns and Wiseman Attend to Scoring.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Tulsa Oilers, leaders in the American Hockey league, received an unpleasant surprise at the Chicago stadium last night when the second place Shamrocks presented them with a 3 to 0 defeat. The victory ended some strange power the Oilers have exercised over the Chicagoans this year, for it was only the second time the Shamrocks have been able to subdue the Oklahomans in seven games.

To make the evening more pleasing to the victors, 11,000 customers were present, constituting the largest home crowd of the season at a Shamrock game.

Burns, Wiseman Lead Way.

The Oilers will have no alibi to offer for their defeat other than that the Shamrocks were just too good for them. The Chicagoans outskated and outfought the Tulsa sextet and kept up such a barrage of shots that the visitors didn't have much time to display an organized attack.

Bobby Burns and Peewee Wiseman were responsible for all of the Shamrocks' goals. The former scored two of his games from the latter in the third period, and Bobby reciprocated in the second session by shoving the puck to Burns for an easy score.

The Shamrocks wasted no time in scoring. After Mulligan, Taylor and Wiseman had eluded the Tulsa defense for single shots, only to be halted by Red McCusker, guardian of the visitors' net, Bobby Burns took the puck from the center of the rink and passed to Jack Riley. The latter shot the disc past McCusker. It required only one minute and 55 seconds for this score.

Taylor Halts Tulsa Star.

The Oilers' offensive efforts were considerably embarrassed by the vigilance of the Shamrock defense men, Taylor, Mulligan, and Headley. Taylor had much to do with preventing Leo La France, the Oilers' scoring star, from contributing any points.

The Shamrocks held control of the puck the greater part of the first period, with the front line of Riley, Burns and Wiseman carrying the burden of the work. Burns skated past Williams and Trapp at one time in what appeared to be a certain score, but the puck bounced off Goalie McCusker's chest after Bobby had shot.

Wiseman, who had been distinguishing himself by spirited skating, caught the puck alone for what proved to be the Shamrocks' second goal. Pewee skated down the side of the ice, slid past the Tulsa defense, and passed to Burns, who was loitering in the neighborhood of the Oilers' goal. McCusker didn't have a chance to block the shot and the Shamrocks took a 2 to 0 lead.

Only ten men appeared for action in the second period, both teams having lost a man in the closing minutes of the first session. Duke Keats of the Oilers had been sentenced to the penalty box for charging Riley, while Mulligan was banished on a tripping charge.

Score Third Point.

Burns and Wiseman collaborated for the Shamrocks' third goal after 15:45. Bobby took charge of the puck in the center of the rink, carried it down and passed McCusker into coming so far out of his cage that Wiseman, who got Burns' pass, probably could have made the shot backwards.

Sam Timmins, the keeper of the Shamrocks' gate, who had a dull time in the first period, found much in the way of employment in the second. The Oilers indicated that they had designs on a point or two soon after the intermission, and Sam spent the first few minutes either sprawled on the ice in front of his net or leaping out to intimidate the charging Tulsa wings. Frank Sheppard coasted down to within ten feet of the Shamrocks' net for what appeared to be an easy shot, but Timmins came out to meet him and despatched the puck out of danger and joined Sheppard on the ice after the ensuing collision.

Curley Headley, Shamrock defense star, was eliminated for the evening, at least, after attempting to check Keats. He succeeded, but came up limping and was assisted from the ice.

Oilers Harry Timmins.

Shortly after the final period opened the Oilers organized three man raiding parties against the Shamrock goal and Timmins again was forced to call himself. After one of these drives, when three other Shamrocks were forced to rally to Sam's assistance, a wild scramble resulted in which all four of the defenders found themselves prone on the ice and the puck mysteriously missing. McFadyen finally found it somewhere about his person and turned it over to the referee. Summary:

BLACKHAWKS AND FALCONS BATTLE TO 1-1 DEADLOCK

Gottselig Ties Score in Second Period.

Hockey Results

NATIONAL LEAGUE.
Black Hawks, 1; Detroit, 1 [overtime].
Rangers, 6; Philadelphia, 1.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.
Chicago, 3; Tulsa, 0.
Kansas City, 2; Minneapolis, 0.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Chicago's Blackhawks drew a 1 to 1 tie in a fast, hard played National league hockey match with the Detroit Falcons here tonight, boosting their league average by a point and dropping the Falcons into fourth place.

A pair of long shots accounted for the scoring. The first came early in the opening period when Johnny Sorrell, Falcon wingman, sent a hard shot from the defense line that Chuck Gardiner, Hawk goalie, couldn't touch. The second came after six minutes of play in the second period, when Johnny Gottselig drove a similar shot at Dolly Dolson in the Falcon net.

Dull Overtime Period.

Except for a dull overtime session, the game kept 12,000 spectators roaring throughout. Play was clean and fast, only eight penalties, all minors, being called.

From the first whistle, the game was a wide open affair. Mush March had the first try, driving through to swing back of the net and punch the rubber at Dolson, but the Falcon goalie saved.

Then the Falcons got the first goal, less than two minutes after play opened. Johnny Sorrell made it, lone handed. With Goodfellow swinging down center, and the Hawk defense watching Goodfellow, Sorrell swung across the line and shot a high, slanting one that Gardner never saw.

Somers drew the first penalty for holding Filmore, but the Hawks ragged the puck until he came out again. Lewis slipped through in a flashy drive on Gardiner, and the Hawk netman dove out ten feet to sweep the puck away. Then McInenly got the first Falcon penalty and the Hawks, led by March and Cook, put up a fighting attack that had the Detroit team on the defense and Dolson scrambling all over the net to save.

Gottselig Ties Score.

The Hawks unleashed a drive in the late minutes of the period, and Dolson was bombarded continually. Jenkins almost scored when the Falcon goalie juggled his hard, slanting drive. Then Noble got a tripping penalty, and the Hawks put on even more speed, but Dolson batted out everything that came his way. Noble came out just as the period ended with the score Detroit, 1; Chicago, 0.

The Hawks opened the second period with their first line of forwards, but Manager Jack Adams sent out the Detroit second line, and both teams played several minutes of defensive hockey. Then the lines switched, and the wide open game was on again.

Then Gottselig tied the score. Breaking away three abreast, with Gottselig carrying the puck down the left boards, the Hawks split the Falcon defense. Gottselig shot from just inside the red line, and Dolson took too much time in moving out to save. The puck bulged the twine.

Gardiner Outguesses Goodfellow.

Gottselig was sent out for tripping McInenly, and the Falcons, with a one man advantage, carried the offensive as the Hawks golfed long ones down the ice. Goodfellow got through with only Gardiner to beat, but the Hawk goalie outguessed him and stopped what looked like an easy goal.

Both teams were wary at the start of the third period but before five minutes passed the game again was wide open. Gardiner came out ten feet to spoil Herbie Lewis' try and March sped down the ice to test Dolson with a sweeping shot that he carried around the net. Ingram took

Cubs' Pitchers Have Their Day at Bat; Malones Win, 6-5

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., Feb. 22.—Our Cubs inspired the first box score of 1931 this afternoon as their way of paying respects to George Washington. We cannot tell a lie, and ask you to believe that the game was won by the Malones on the slugging of Bob Osborn, who made two hits all last year, and three today. The score was: Malones, 6; Hartnetts, 5; and the result cost the losers a box of cigars.

Capt. Malone, who now weighs less than he did at the close of the National league season, saved the day for his team. He took over the pitching job at the half way mark when his team was trailing, 5 to 2, and allowed nary a hit or run the rest of the way. In the same span his sluggers pounded Uncle Jess Petty right merrily.

A Great Day for Pitchers.

While the world will not pulsate at news of the contest, it is doubtful if the cast that played this afternoon will take any game this year more seriously than they did the one today. Pitchers were leading off and pitchers were batting in the cleanup position. From now on they'll be batting right down in the old No. 9 spot, a standard practice which makes pitchers very unhappy and puzzles them very much.

It was the first look that this year's observers have had at Ed Baecht, the Coast league giant right hander who won 26 games for Los Angeles last year.

The big boy looked pretty good for so early in the year. His zeal brought a formal protest from Capt. Malone, who complained the young man was throwing too fast for his batsmen. Big Ed didn't get the batting thrill enjoyed by the other pitchers, however. He was the only player to strike out twice.

Osborn Chief Slugger.

Osborn carried off stellar batting honors with two singles and a double, the double driving in the deciding run in the Malones' final inning.

The players like the all batteryman idea so well that they petitioned Manager Hornsby to stage another for the edification of the second squad immediately upon the arrival of the regulars Tuesday noon. The boss has taken the matter under advisement, inasmuch as he hasn't decided whether to give the second squad an afternoon off Tuesday.

GRIMM VOTES FOR SOCCER

Amarillo, Tex., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—There's a first class eighteen carat shock coming to the natives of Bill Wrigley's Catalina domain when Charlie Grimm trots on to the field for his first practice session this week.

It seems that word seeped through to Charlie in St. Louis that Manager Hornsby has instituted soccer football as a regular training stunt. Maybe you didn't know it, but Grimm used to be an Al soccer performer.

He gives his word for that and he takes his soccer seriously. So seriously, in fact, that he has stowed away in a corner of his suitcase a slightly worn but comparatively complete pair of soccer trunks. Anything less complete would be barred by the board of censors. Charlie insists that he is going to wear those trunks for the soccer drill and show the boys a thing or two about the way the game should be played.

Of course the players on this party heading west favor Charlie's idea highly. To be sure, certain snickers might indicate an insulting lack of belief in his confidence, but they are for it anyway. What Hornsby will say is a different matter.

In the meantime the much harassed Dan Cahill, undersecretary, will be quoted as being glad that the matter will not come under his jurisdiction as he disclaims responsibility beyond the Santa Fé depot in Los Angeles, where he delivers his charges into the hands of Secretary Lewis.

"Barnacle Bill" Is Theme Song.

Incidentally, Mr. Cahill will welcome the arrival of the party in Los Angeles for another reason. Theme songs are all the rage just now, so the Cub players adopted a theme song for the trip. It was introduced by Woody English on his portable phonograph and Woody confessed to visiting four music stores before locating the record he wanted. The title is none other than "Barnacle Bill."

Undersecretary Cahill does not join in the players' enthusiasm for the number, however, and despite his authority on the trip he cannot seem to suppress it. The tune, with its two parts impersonated by various and sundry players, rings through the special car morning, noon and night. Hack Wilson, Cliff Heathcote, and Charlie Grimm are the most serious offenders. Dan hopes that the arrival of the boys in the training camp will take the tune from their minds and out of his ears.

He may succeed, but as long as he admits annoyance at the song he probably won't.

Condition of Ban Johnson Still Serious

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Ban Johnson, former president of the American league, tonight was fighting an even battle against two enemies to his health. At St. John's hospital, where the veteran baseball executive is suffering from diabetes and a general breakdown, it was reported his condition is still serious.

Dr. Robert F. Hyland, Johnson's physician, ordered a blood transfusion last week which bettered the former czar's condition, temporarily at least, as Johnson rallied in spirit and his naturally vigorous mind responded.

Ill health forced him to relinquish the reins of the American league in 1927, although he held a contract with eight years to run at an annual stipend of $40,000. He also forswore the $220,000 accruing to him under it, and devoted his energies to overcoming the diabetic condition that first affected him in 1925.

Johnson's broken health and poor blood condition necessitated amputation of a toe recently, although previously, when threatened with the loss of a leg, he rallied sufficiently to overcome the need for an operation.

Walsh-Robinson Race Tops Track Program Tonight

Stella Walsh, Betty Robinson, and Myrtle Cook of Canada will race tonight in the 100 yard dash, feature event of the first annual indoor track meet of the Illinois National Guard and Naval Militia at the new 124th Field Artillery armory, 52d street and Cottage Grove avenue.

Miss Walsh, holder of several American records, was reported out of the race Saturday night when a dispatch from Cleveland stated that the champion had strained a tendon and would be unable to compete. She arrived in Chicago last night and upon examination her doctor declared that she would race.

Miss Robinson, who is a member of the Illinois Women's Athletic club, holds the 100 meter Olympic championship. In addition to holding the sprint championship of Canada, Miss Cook also was an Olympic finalist.

A four man football relay, in which the runner carries a football instead of a baton, will be held. Marty Brill and Clarence Kaplan will run for Notre Dame, while Northwestern and Chicago also have entered teams.

Athletes of Chicago's public and Catholic schools will race in the 440 yard relay. St. George, De Paul, Loyola and De La Salle will be the Catholic league's representatives.

SO FAR, SO GOOD, BUSH REPORTS ON ARRIVAL OF SOX

Hose Start Training at San Antonio Today.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 22.—Thus far the White Sox spring training expedition appears to be a success. There were no casualties as the boys worked off the keen appetites developed over the winter months.

Moreover, Donie Bush, the smallish manager, is delighted over the fact that the few fellows who were chronic cripples last fall declare themselves physically sound. However, more will be known about these affairs after the inaugural workout tomorrow morning.

Bush Seeks New Stunt.

Having read of various training novelties introduced into some of the camps, Mr. Bush has been endeavoring to think up a new wrinkle for his own charges, but he hasn't hit upon anything. He thinks he may have to stick to the timeworn orthodox stunts, for the first few days at least, such as light bits of throwing and some running.

Somebody suggested to Donie that ping pong was a great leg conditioner and would keep the boys close to the fireside during the evening hours. Mr. Bush, being a handdown from the harder days in baseball, thought he was being kidded.

One item that the diminutive manager is more or less opposed to is golf. He is going to play it himself, having been bitten by the pasture game germ only recently, but he doesn't want the athletes to follow in his footsteps. He doesn't believe the game harmful for fellows trying to get in condition, but he does think that if they have golf on the mind they will loaf at their work so as to conserve their strength for the exercises on the course.

And Above All, Thomas.

Bush took particular pains to call the attention of Tommy Thomas to this restriction. Tommy, of course, is hopeful that the order will not be strictly enforced. Some of Bush's apparent concern about Thomas and the golf game may be because of that right arm of the Baltimore bachelor. The manager doesn't want the arm used any more than necessary. Tommy, however, insists there is no reason to worry over the possibilities of his being as helpless as he was last season.

Thomas was incapacitated by a chipping of the elbow bone, but X-ray pictures taken during the winter indicate the chip has been absorbed. If he is back in his normal stride it will mean considerable, as he, with Lyons, Faber, Caraway, Braxton, and McKain, will comprise a formidable staff, not counting on what some of the younger fellows might do.

McKain Says He's Ready.

McKain is another of last year's cripples who reports himself ready for work of any and all kinds. He was having a big time for himself last year when a wrenched back suddenly put him on the shelf. The injury refused to respond to the ministrations of doctors, so Hal went home before the race ended. The several months of rest induced the peculiar ailment to vanish. What makes McKain a much needed item is that he is the only man on the staff who has the rare knack of saving games for distressed mates.

The Sunshine special delivered the Sox party here at 8:30 this evening. The Giants' advance squad, made up of more newspaper men than athletes, beat the Sox to town by four hours. The Giants also start work tomorrow, but not in the same park assigned to the Comiskey employés.

Of the nine Sox billed to be on hand when Bush arrived, only four are accounted for. The skilled Ted Lyons and Catcher Butch Henline were among the four. The two others were rookies, Siegel and Intelkofer. Infielder Jeffries also reported, although not due until next week. The battery absentees, some of whom may arrive in the morning, are Moore, Braxton, Berg, Caraway and Frasier.

Cleveland May Get Schmeling Fight in June

Miami, Fla., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Selection of Cleveland, with Detroit as an alternative, instead of Chicago, for the Max Schmeling-Young Stribling heavyweight championship match in June loomed as a strong possibility today after a conference between Damon Runyon, representing the New York milk fund, and the managers of the principals, Joe Jacobs and Pa Stribling.

Has "Attractive Offer."

"We have an attractive offer from Cleveland, where a municipal stadium, seating at least 100,000, will be available the latter part of June," Runyon said. "Selection of this city may furnish an ideal solution to the problems that have arisen so far in attempting to arrange the Stribling-Schmeling match either for Chicago or somewhere near New York.

"Pa Stribling and Jacobs both have told me they would like to have the match held in Cleveland, which never has put on a heavyweight title fight.

"Detroit also is regarded as a fine location for the match. Then there is the bid of Jersey City, where a new stadium is under course of construction, in addition to the dickering with Chicago. However, no definite announcement of the site will be made until 90 days before the fight."

Milk Fund Interests Protected.

To clear any misunderstanding over the arrangements for the Stribling-Schmeling battle, Runyon added:

"We are working in coöperation with the Madison Square Garden corporation of Illinois, but the milk fund signed this match and its interests will be protected in any arrangements made.

"The Garden corporation was invited to participate in the promotion and at the same time enabled to handle the second title match of the year between the winner and Primo Carnera."

Walker, with his hold on the middleweight crown apparently of little importance to him, hopes to insert himself into the heavyweight picture by a decisive victory over the rugged Risko. If he wins, the Toy Bulldog may be matched this summer with Jack Sharkey.

Alvis Calls Off Fight; Stadium Says Bout Is On

Ray Alvis, manager of King Levinsky, ex-fish peddler and heavyweight boxer, announced last night that he would not permit his slugger to meet Tuffy Griffith at the Chicago Stadium on March 6. Stadium officials countered with a statement that the contract is signed and the bout must go on.

Alvis charged that the Stadium did not go through with its agreement to line up the supporting card he sought. He will go before the boxing commission today to present his case, he said. Sidney Strotz, president of the Stadium, last night said the Stadium has a contract with Alvis binding Levinsky to the match and that he would be forced to carry out the contract.

When contracts for the fight were drawn up, Alvis said, he agreed to guarantee Griffith $25,000 to meet Levinsky and the Stadium promised him 60 per cent of the net receipts, with the proviso that the Stadium would get certain fighters on the supporting card.

Alvis declared that the Stadium, while making no effort to sign the boxers he wanted, explained that the boxers under consideration were not available for the March 6 show.

Nate Lewis, Stadium matchmaker, said Alvis was a "little offside" since the preliminary card had not yet been arranged.

"Alvis wanted Tony Herrera on the card and we attempted to get Goldie Hess for him, which was agreeable to Alvis," Lewis said. "We have a wire from Hess saying he would not take the match, but we are endeavoring to persuade him with a better offer. As far as the Levinsky angle is concerned, Alvis has signed the contracts and I am certain the commission will force him to go through with the Griffith match."

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Tonight, tomorrow night and Wednesday night and Chicago's list of 48 amateur boxers, qualified to enter in the Golden Gloves tournament of champions at the Coliseum March 2, 3 and 4, will be completed. For the south sectional preliminary bouts, the last of the metropolitan divisions, opens at 7 o'clock tonight at White City.

Sixteen boys, two in each weight division, will be chosen from the White City meet. Thirty-two of Chicago's best boxers already have been named on the west and north sides.

Golden Gloves preliminaries twice have broken attendance records. More boxers have participated than ever before. But the south division already has smashed the entry mark, and it is expected to shatter attendance records.

Light Boys Fight Tonight.

The entry for the south sectional has exceeded each of the other city meets by one hundred. Consequently the tournament was extended an extra day. The preliminary rounds in the first four weight divisions [112, 118, 126 and 135 pound classes] are scheduled tonight. The other classes [147, 160 and 175 pounds and heavyweights] will fight tomorrow night. Wednesday, the semi-final and final qualifying bouts in all eight divisions will be held.

Boxers must report between 4 o'clock and 6 o'clock for physical examinations. Drawings will be held each night at 6:30.

The White City roller skating rink, where the fights will be held, will seat 4,500. This exceeds the capacity of Ashland Boulevard auditorium and the Rainbo Fronton, where the west and north sectional matches were staged. It now seems that the followers of amateur boxing on the south side will establish a new record. More than 12,000 watched Chicago's Golden Gloves bouts last week. The south side may equal this figure in its three day tournament.

Wrecking Crew Thrives on Work.

THE TRIBUNE'S "wrecking crew," a corps of officials which for four years has officiated at Golden Gloves tournaments, is ready for the White City sectional. More entries mean more work, but these men, who night after night donate their services, thrive on this program.

From 3 o'clock, when the first of the crew reaches the arena, until the last bout at midnight or later, the units of the organization work as smoothly as a machine. Back of this service and loyalty, of course, is the intense desire to see a Golden Gloves team that can march into Madison Square Garden on March 30 and give the New York boys a masterful whipping.

And if the out of town teams live up to advance predictions [Chicago already has recognized the ability of

PURPLE CAGERS INVADE GOPHER COURT TONIGHT

Wildcats Are Seeking to Clinch Title.

Northwestern either will have a decisive grip on the Western conference basketball title tonight or will be sharing the leadership of the league with Minnesota.

If the Gophers expect to remain in the race, they must defeat Northwestern at Minneapolis in the feature game of tonight's Big Ten program. When they met at Evanston, Minnesota made a great bid, but fell short in the second half, throwing away a fairly substantial lead and was defeated, 35 to 26.

Gophers Have Good Chance.

With everything depending upon victory and the advantage of playing before a partisan crowd, the Gophers figure to have a great chance of going into a tie with Northwestern at eight victories and two defeats.

Down at Lafayette, Ind., Purdue will strive to erase an early season defeat by Michigan, and at the same time will try for a tie with the Wolverines for third place. Indiana may also gain a tie for the same position by defeating Illinois at Bloomington. The latter task may be rather difficult, for the Illini have won four straight and have shown remarkable improvement. The fourth game on the list will bring together Ohio State and Wisconsin at Madison.

More Games Saturday.

Saturday night another full set of games will be played, with their importance depending upon the outcome of tonight's engagements. Northwestern will play at Ohio State, Minnesota will tackle Purdue at Lafayette, Michigan will go to Wisconsin's new fieldhouse, Indiana meets Chicago at Chicago, and Iowa opposes Illinois at Champaign. All will be return engagements.

Hawks Battle Falcons to 1-1 Overtime Tie another penalty for tripping and the Hawks had their backs to the wall for a minute. Then Goodfellow was sent out for holding. Lewis got through but Gardiner beat him while he was flat on the ice.

Falcons Wait for Break.

Goldsworthy and Aurie teamed in a passing play that missed by inches midway in the period. The Hawks kept up their driving offensive tactics as the game drew toward the final minutes. The Falcons seemed slowed a little and waited for breaks before rushing the Hawk defense line.

With four minutes left to play, Goodfellow broke away but Taffy Abel spilled him at the goal mouth and drew a penalty. It was the break the Falcons were waiting for but they couldn't make it count. Every time the Hawks got a stick to the puck they lifted it down the arena and every time Cooper, Hay, and Sorrell started a three man drive the Hawk line broke up their play.

Slow Overtime Period.

The overtime period started with both teams shoveling long shots at the goalies, but as time went on the Falcons took the initiative, with little success. At the half way mark the Hawks opened a stalling game, ragging the puck and shooting long ones at Dolson.

Goodfellow and Sorrell tried a run on the Hawk defense, but had no luck. Gottselig slipped through for a shot at Dolson, but the period for the most part was so dull that spectators opened up a protracted booing session. For the last three minutes action was scarce.

WALKER FAVORED TO WIN FROM RISKO TOMORROW

New York, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The fistic barometer points due south this week as Mickey Walker, a slightly larger "toy bulldog" than he used to be, prepares for a ten round engagement with John Risko of Cleveland at Miami, Fla., Tuesday night.

Walker, whose campaign among the heavyweights has been conspicuously successful, will be favored over the veteran Clevelander despite the fact he will have to give away something like 25 or 30 pounds. Mickey holds one decision over Risko and experts believe the game little fighting man from Rumson, N. J., can repeat.

Overshadows N. Y. Show.

It takes an outdoor extravaganza such as the Walker-Risko bout to overshadow Madison Square Garden's card this week. The Garden is offering a return battle between those deadly sluggers, Billy Petrolle of Fargo, N. D., and King Tut of Minneapolis. They will battle it out on Friday night at ten rounds or less.

A decisive defeat at Tut's hands forced Petrolle into retirement a year or so ago. Then he came back with a bang, whipping one lightweight after another, and climaxed a spectacular campaign with a crushing victory over Jimmy McLarnin. He took on Tut again a few weeks ago and was knocked out in a round. If he fails to win on Friday, Petrolle threatens to quite the ring for good. Fights on the national schedule include:

MONDAY—At Philadelphia, Harry Biltman, Philadelphia, vs. Lew Massey, Philadelphia; Pete Mehr, Key West, Fla., vs. Steve Smith, Bridgeport, Conn.; all lightweights, each 10; at West Palm Beach, Fla., Young Bob Godwin, Daytona Beach, vs. Gordon Fortenberry, light heavyweights, 10; at New York, Jamaica Arena, 2nd Sandowian, Sioux City, Ia., vs. Umberto Torriani, Italy, heavyweights, 8; at Dayton, O., Eddie Shea, Chicago, vs. Billy Shaw, featherweights, 10.

TUESDAY—At Akron, O., K. O. Christner, Akron, vs. Emmet Rocco, Ellwood City, Pa., heavyweights, 10; at Miami, Fla., Johnny Risko, Cleveland, vs. Mickey Walker, Rumson, N. J., heavyweights, 10; at Indianapolis, Phil Zwick, Cleveland, vs. Midget Mike O'Dowd, Columbus, O., featherweights, 10; at Bowling Green, Ky., Tommy Phelps, Montana, vs. Sailor Enright, Philadelphia, light heavyweights, 10; at Los Angeles, Ernie Schaaf, Boston, vs. Dynamite Jackson, Santa Monica, heavyweights, 10.

CHICAGOANS TAKE INTERNATIONAL PIN MEET LEAD

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Rolling the second highest score in the organization's history, Frank Kartheiser and Joe Fliger, Chicago, today went into first place in the doubles event at the International Bowling association tournament with a total of 1,393 pins.

The Chicago pair had scores of 423, 415, and 555. The I. B. A. record for the doubles, 1,441, was set last year by Jess Young and Leo Mueller, Minneapolis. Al Grouse and Frank Tousino, who had been leading with 1,261, were forced to second place. Harry Steers and Robert Pieke, Chicago, rolled 1,252 for fourth place, and Louis Levine and William Lenzen, Chicago, finished eighth with 1,248.

Charles Daw, Milwaukee, took second place in the individual event with 739, seven pins behind the leader, Lester Reisberg, Minneapolis, who had 746. George Geiser, Chicago, scored 707 for third place and R. P. Boyd, Eau Claire, Wis., was fourth with 694.

Gus Moreland Defeats Goodman in Houston Meet

Houston, Tex., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Gus Moreland, 19 year old Dallas golfer, today won the championship of the Houston Country club's 17th annual tournament, defeating Johnny Goodman of Omaha, two up in 36 holes. The last 18 holes were played in rain, ranging from a drizzle to a deluge. The greens resembled lakes and in the afternoon both players were far above par. Moreland had a 74, three over par, for the first 18 holes and Goodman a 76.

Stage Two Hockey Games in Carnival Tonight

Golden Gloves Fights Tonight on South Side

Forty Bouts for 75 Cents.

Forty bouts is the estimated card tonight. These, and those on each of the other nights of fighting, may be seen for 75 cents. It almost is unnecessary to add that this is a boxing bargain that stands alone. Golden Gloves matches advertise themselves. And the basis of their attraction is the sincerity of the contestants.

From among Chicago's 750 entries and 1,500 out of town contestants, will come eight champions included in a varsity team of 24. Golden Gloves will be theirs by conquest, but the triumph will be the greater by the very severity of competition.

Mike Harrison, who conducts professional bouts at White City, officials of the Loop Financial and White City Basketball leagues have canceled their week's attractions to coöperate with the Golden Gloves tournament.

SWEDES BEAT DETROIT SOCCER SQUAD, 2 TO 1

Carlender's goal in the last half gave the Swedish-American soccer team, International league champions, a 2 to 1 victory over the Workers' club of Detroit yesterday at De Paul field in the second round of the national cup games.

Neilsen scored early in the first half and the Detroit squad led until Brun tied the score just as the half ended. Then Carlender booted in the inning goal.

The Bricklayers, led by Martin, who scored two goals, triumphed over the Olympias, 5 to 2, at Olympia field, 47th avenue and 19th street. Krabeck scored the losers' only goals.

SAM DREYFUSS, VICE PRESIDENT OF PIRATES, DIES

Pittsburgh, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Sam Dreyfuss, vice president and treasurer of the Pittsburgh National League baseball club, died today. He was the son of Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pirates.

SLACK INTEREST RETARDS WHEAT MARKET RISKS

Traders Unwilling to Take Chances.

All leading stock and commodity exchanges and banks will be closed today in observance of Washington's birthday, which occurred 119 years ago yesterday—Sunday. The Chicago Board of Trade will be closed, but the live stock market will remain open.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Low prices for grains offer no inducement to speculative buyers who usually are attracted, as they see nothing in the immediate future to warrant assumption of risks.

On the other hand there is nothing to induce other than the professional trader to take the short side of the market with expectations of securing large profits. This makes the markets highly professional, and keeps prices within a narrow range.

July wheat, the leading speculative future, sold between 67¾@70¾c during the week, against 67¾@72⅝c the previous week. The close on Saturday was 68¼@68⅜c, a loss of 1c for the week. September closed at 68¾@69c, having advanced from a discount of around 1⅛@1⅜c under July a few weeks ago to a premium of ⅛c.

Oil crop futures, although receiving more attention, closed unchanged to ⅛c lower, March being neglected, with a close at 79½c, while old May was 83⅛c. There was selling of March and buying of May, also closing of spreads between old and new May with a little buying to take off hedges in both months, and for a day or two a feature of the trade was the buying of September and selling of May.

All Watch Farm Board.

Winnipeg, although strong early in the week, weakened at the last and finally closed at 63¾c and July 65c, a gain of ¼c for the week. Liverpool closed at 65¾c, up 2¼c, and Argentine May 61c, up 2⅝c.

A leading factor before the trade is uncertainty as to what the farm board will do, the trade being greatly stirred up at the close by a report that it was marketing wheat abroad at low prices, which was denied by farm board officials. The trade is constantly looking for surprises in the way of new announcements regarding farm board's moves.

What the trade would really like to know is how soon the farm board will announce its policy as regards delivery, and how it is to adjust hedges in March and May against cash wheat held by them in different parts of the country ranging from New York to Portland, Ore., and Montreal and gulf ports. There is wheat in all these positions that is said to have been hedged by sales of futures in Chicago, mostly May. The wheat in most instances cannot be brought to Chicago for delivery, mainly because there is no storage room and the farm board does not want its holdings concentrated.

Canadian Competition.

Canada continues to compete with Argentina and Australia. No. 3 Canadian wheat is said to be selling in competition with that from the southern hemisphere. Europe is buying fair quantities, but it is not bidding up to any extent. Stocks abroad are decreasing and in the United States increasing, holdings at Chicago, Minneapolis and Duluth being estimated at 1,500,000 bu more than a week ago.

Primary receipts continue liberal, and marketing in Canada is also in excess of last year. Prices for the week follow:

	March.	May.	July.
Mon.	79¼-79½	82 -82¼	67¾-69¾
Tues.	79¼-79¾	82 -82¾	67¾-68¾

Thursday	79¼-79¾	82 -82¼	68 -69¾
Friday	79¼-79¾	82¼-82¾	69¾-70¾
Saturday	79¼-79¾	82¼-82¾	68¾-69
Mon. week	79¼-80	82 -83¼	67¾-72¾
Tues.	1.07¾-14	1.12¼-18⅜	1.14¼-21¾

Thurs.	72¾-73	1.11 -73	-1.14 61¾-62
Fri.	1.07¾	1.63	1.12¼-64	1.14¾-43¾

Liberal offerings of cash corn from terminal markets featured the market. Farmers' offerings, however, were not large but terminal markets are anxious to move their winter shelled corn and will last week at more advantageous prices to industries and elevator interests. Aggregate purchases of corn to arrive from terminals were well toward 1,000,000 bu, with the week's receipts 2,022,000 bu, against 2,099,000 bu a year ago. Shipments were 410,000 bu, while a year ago they were 44,000 bu. Primary receipts of 6,680,000 bu compared with 5,186,000 bu a week ago and 7,748,000 bu last year.

Range of Prices.

Speculatively there was little in the market. Prices advanced early, largely on short covering only to meet hedge sales, and with an absence of outside support they declined 2⅝c, nearly 3c from the high and closed around the bottom, and at the lowest of the season for March, and only slightly above for distant futures. May finished at 64⅝@64¾c, with the week's range 63⅝@66⅝c compared with 65⅝@65½c a year ago. Net loss was ⅝@1⅜c for the week. Prices follow:

	March.	May.	July.
Mon.	63⅜-63⅝	65⅝-65¾	67¼-67⅝
Tues.	62⅝-63⅜	65⅛-65½	66¾-67¼
Wednesday	62⅝-63⅜	64½-65⅛	66⅜-67¼
Thursday	63⅜-64	64⅝-65⅜	66 - 67¼
Friday	63⅜-64	64⅝-65¾	66⅜-67¼
Saturday	63⅜-64	64⅝-65¾	66 - 67
Mon. week	64	62¾-66¾	65¾-68¼
Tues.	62⅞-63⅜	65 -65¾	66⅝- 70⅜
Wed.	63 - 65⅜	65⅞-66¾	69¾ - 72
Thurs.	64½-65	66¾- 69¾	69 - 72
Fri.	63⅛-63⅜	63¾-1.03¾	64¼- 67¼
Sat.	63 -1.07⅜	86¾-1.00⅝	69 -1.02¼

Quite after nothing to the average speculator as an investment. Prices are low, consumption large and movement to leading distributing points is heavy. There are, however, plenty of bears to go around. The close was at ⅛@⅜c lower to ⅛c higher for the week. March was 32¾c; May, 32¾c; July,

Blames Legislation for Losses Under Farm Board

BY SCRUTATOR.

For about a year and a half the federal farm board has been operating under the agricultural marketing act that gave it life. It is difficult from any angle to see where it has accomplished anything justifying the loss of millions, on paper at least, that have been lost.

Only in small part has this been due to the membership of the board itself. The legislation was to blame. It outlined a program that was wrong, was based on false assumptions in economic law, and seemingly impossible to get over. The board, once in existence, had, in view of all the facts, nothing left to it but to try out all the suggested experiments with the government's half billion dollars.

One of the objects of the act was to minimize speculation in farm products. The fact that the big wheat pit on the Chicago Board of Trade has been turned to other uses and a desultory trade in wheat conducted in a smaller pit may be taken as evidence that speculation by the people who used to speculate has been minimized.

But Speculation Goes On.

But speculation is still going on. The farm board, through its stabilization corporation, is taking the place of these speculators. It is long of so many million bushels that if it were a private rather than a legalized agency it would be a cornerer. For a time, in the earlier history of the farm board, it was the farmer who was persuaded to be his own speculator.

He was told, in October, 1929, by the board: "The federal farm board believes that, based on known world supply, the present prevailing prices for wheat are too low. The board believes that this unsatisfactory price level is chiefly due to the rapid or disorderly movement which is putting a large part of the year's supply of wheat on the market within a short time."

Wheat was selling then for $1.34 a bushel in Chicago. The information was not good, probably because not even the farm board's sources could know how severe a general depression the world over could become. The logical step, once committed to the proposition that wheat was too low, was to have the government take over the speculative function.

It is now not only suggested but urged that the way to stabilize wheat and cotton at higher prices is to have acreage reduction. Perhaps the mere demonstration that nothing else will be worth while has been worth the losses in trying other means—if the halt in experimentation is made now.

Big Co-ops Least Successful.

In another way, some experts hold, the farm board and the law have erred. That was in assuming that big national coöperatives can succeed and do their members any good. Prof. James E. Boyle of Cornell university asserts that the big centralized coöperatives have been the least successful, naming the three big tobacco co-ops, the potato pools of Maine and Minnesota, the Canadian wheat pool and the onetime Farmers' Grain company as examples of failure.

On the other hand, there are 5,000 local farmers' elevators in the United States, with a volume of 700 million dollars a year. These grew up naturally and are home managed. According to Prof. Boyle, farmers have shown they can, with local management, take good care of their business and maintain full control. In addition to taking control and giving it to strangers, the supercorporation needs supermen to run it. Supermen are scarce.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 22.—Charging that Pathe Exchange, Inc., was sold to the R.-K.-O. interests for only one-fifth of its real value, Mrs. Lena M. Vincent, a stockholder, has filed suit in Supreme court demanding a receiver for Pathe and that its officers and directors account for their acts and pay any losses incurred in the sale, as determined by the court.

Pathe was sold to R.-K.-O. in December, 1930, for approximately $5,500,000, Mrs. Vincent said. She declared that would scarcely cover "a primary obligation represented by ten year 7 per cent sinking fund gold debentures in an amount approximating $5,339,000."

She said the studios, equipment, films in storage, story rights, productions under way when the sale took place, and other assets were worth approximately $25,000,000. The price received, she said, practically wiped out the stockholders after the ten year gold debentures were taken care of.

SEE LIABILITIES OF $23,000,000 IN WHEAT POOL

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Twenty-three million dollars will be the approximate contingent liabilities of the western governments in guaranteeing financing of the 1929 crop of the prairies.

The guarantee of the prairie administrations to the banks for the financing of wheat pool advances to its thousands of members brings a liability of $12,400,000 to Saskatchewan; $5,584,558 to Alberta, and a possible $5,000,000 to Manitoba.

The Manitoba loss is an unofficial estimate, Premier John Bracken refusing to disclose official figures until he makes a statement in the legislature.

Until the unsold stocks of the 1929 crop are disposed of only approximately liabilities can be calculated. What the unsold stocks are today is unknown, and officials of the central selling agency of the wheat pools here refuse to divulge the figures. Increases in market values would reduce the liability of all governments.

City Bank Farmers Trust Bldg. to Open in New York

The latest addition to New York's galaxy of skyscrapers will open its doors tomorrow. It is the new 54 story City Bank Farmers Trust building occupying the block bounded by William street, Exchange place, Hanover street, and Beaver street. The building will house the head office of the trust company and a branch of its parent organization, the National City Bank of New York. With the exception of the first story, which is of Mohegan granite, the entire building is constructed of white Rockwood Alabama stone and is the largest and tallest building ever to have its exterior constructed of this stone.

The General Electric company of Schenectady, N. Y., has disposed of its trolley line material business to the Ohio Brass company of Mansfield, O. This includes overhead materials for electric railways, electrified mines, industrial haulage, and electrified steam roads. This is a field in which the Ohio Brass company has specialized quite intensively for many years.

At the annual meeting of the American Mutual Liability Insurance company, President Charles E. Hodges announced to policyholders that, despite the general business depression, the company's surplus had increased during the last year to $4,098,466. The earnings of American Mutual for 1930 showed a substantial margin over dividend requirements.

FINDS AVERAGE OF CORP. EARNINGS 35% BELOW 1929 FIGURES

New York, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The latest and most complete tabulation of 1930 corporate earnings reports to be prepared indicates a shrinkage in net income of 35 per cent from that unprecedentedly prosperous year, 1929.

This is a somewhat more severe shrinkage than earlier tabulations had shown, and is in keeping with the tendency of the less pleasing earnings reports to appear late. This tabulation, prepared by the Standard Statistics company, includes 709 companies, and as there are no duplications through inclusion of subsidiary companies, is believed to be more inclusive than other calculations showing a larger number.

Standard Statistics company believes the trend thus far tends to confirm its forecast that aggregate corporate profits in 1930 shrank about 40 per cent from 1929.

The railroads continue to make the least satisfactory comparison, a total of 63 carriers showing a drop of 44 per cent. So far there are reports from 573 miscellaneous industrials, excluding for purposes of better comparison the United States Steel and General Motors corporations. They show a drop of 26 per cent.

The utilities, however, continue to bolster up the general average. Seventy-one reports now available show a decline of only 1 per cent.

The least favorable results were in the tire and rubber industries, cotton and cotton goods, and sugar production, which in the aggregate reported deficits. Apparel was also unfavorable, showing a drop of 79 per cent from 1929.

Among the more favorable showings were motion picture theaters, etc., off only 9 per cent, and food products, with a drop of 11 per cent. Other groups showed the following declines: Railroad equipment, 14 per cent; advertising and printing, 16 per cent; meat packing, 22 per cent; cigars and manufactured tobacco, as distinct from cigarets, 24 per cent; paper and paper products, 25 per cent; chemicals, 30 per cent; oil, 31 per cent; leather and shoes, 32 per cent; retail trade, 33 per cent; building and real estate, 34 per cent; machinery and machine equipment, 40 per cent; iron and steel, 46 per cent, and automobiles and trucks, 49 per cent.

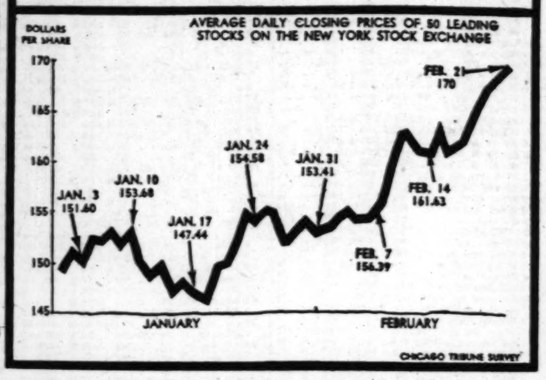
The price at which new shares may be purchased is 5 per cent under the price current when such rights were exercised.

THE STOCK MARKET WAS STRONG LAST WEEK



BULL FORCES HOLD CONTROL OF CURB MART

New York, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Strength was well distributed through the curb market last week and the bull party had little difficulty in maintaining control.

Numerous features stood out in the trading. Heavy buying of the Canadian Ford shares, consistent gains in numbers of specialties, a late rally in the oils, new 1931 tops for most of the utility favorites, and some unfavorable news in the investment trust group were high spots of the week.

The best advances in Ford of Canada "A" and "B" appeared before the announcement of a higher dominion tariff on American cars. Stocks of the English company reacted sharply towards the end of the week, accompanied by reports that dividends accruing to the holding concern from various European subsidiaries would not be taken. It was pointed out, however, that this income would probably go to a new Swedish company owned by Ford Limited, which would receive the dividends, thereby effecting a saving in taxes.

Mead Johnson, Driver Harris, Swift Internacional, Cuneo Press, American Cynamid, De Forest Radio, Anglo-Chilean Nitrate, Great Atlantic and Pacific, and Aluminum of America were prominent specialties on the move upward. Electric Bond and Share asserted its leadership of the utilities with a rally to 58. Oils were aided by the discussion on government restriction of crude and refined petroleum imports.

CHICAGO ORDERS FOR AUTOMOBILES ARE IMPROVING

Chicago motorists last week evinced added interest in new automobiles, orders assuming a slightly accelerated pace, according to trade observers of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Sales in the low and medium price fields constituted the bulk of the business. Chicago's mild weather has been helping sales ever since the annual automobile show.

High tonnage totals for wholesale mercantile shipments also prevailed during the week. Dollar volume was low, in line with generally reduced prices. The customary spring and summer lines are the goods in best demand.

Firm demand for labor by manufacturers was noted, with most plants gradually working into position to take immediate advantage of increased business. Generally speaking, the period of curtailed employment appears to have definitely passed its low point.

Germany's Foreign Trade Decline Continues in Jan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 22.—Germany's foreign trade in January again showed a decline with exports $30,000,000 lower than December, and imports $20,000,000 down, according to the figures published here. Exports amounted to $184,000,000, including $12,000,000 deliveries in kind. Deliveries in kind amounted to $36,000,000 in December, leaving $6,000,000 of the decline directly traceable to the depression. Imports in January amounted to $150,000,000. The favorable balance of $30,000,000 closely approximates the monthly average last year.

Reduced exports are chiefly due to the drop in manufactured goods, especially nonelectric machines, ironware and textiles, with toys showing a natural seasonal drop.

FOREMAN-STATE BANK AGAINST WIDESPREAD REDUCTION OF WAGES

Taking issue with the opinions recently voiced by prominent bankers, the Foreman-State National Bank of Chicago in the current issue of its review, the Business Observers, says that any widespread reductions in wages would intensify commodity price recessions and prolong the depression.

"When all factors in the situation are examined, the movement to reduce wages in the interest of business recovery appears to be largely unsound," the review says.

"By permitting wages to hold while prices decline, purchasing power will be enhanced and such commodity prices as have already fallen beyond the general trend of prices will tend to be brought back in line. This will result only if wage costs entering into them are not reduced.

"On the contrary, if wage reductions were to become a widespread policy at the present time, it would only intensify the commodity price recession, curtail buying power still further, and prolong the depression."

The review goes on to say that present conditions are riper for an upturn than at any time in a year and a half. The improvement will not be automatic, however, it asserts, but can come only with readjustments which tend to improve purchasing power.

Rising Building Trend Is Bright Spot in Business

New York, Feb. 22.—(AP)—With March only a week away, business has heard a chirp or two that sounded very much like a spring robin.

The great steel, motor, and building industries, while still very much depressed, have shown gratifying improvement for February, a month when little is expected. If this foreshadows marked improvement in March and April, months of normal seasonal acceleration, it is good news indeed.

Business executives, however, are keeping their feet on the ground. They recall that the early signs of spring last year, figuratively, were followed by killing frosts, and the seasonal stirrings of industrial activity last August failed to develop into the expected autumn harvest of profitable business. Hopes for this spring, however, are bolstered by the historical experience that the longer a cyclical business recession endures the riper it grows for recovery.

Daily Average Moves Up.

The brightest business news of the last week was perhaps the F. W. Dodge report on building contracts let in first half of February. The daily average was about $2,500,000 above that of January. February usually records a gain over January, but the average is little better than 16 per cent, while the present rate of gain, if maintained through the month, will bring an upturn of fully 27 per cent. This is a cheering prospect after a disappointing January.

Motor production continues to increase, in a rather spotty manner perhaps, but clearly in excess of expectations a month ago. Some makers have found that their purchases of raw material had been too conservative and have urged steel mills to make rush deliveries. Operations are yet at a level which would seem to assure duplication of last year's output for the first half of the year, but executives state very definitely that the recent pickup has been due to a real consumer demand, which is decidedly encouraging for the outlook for the spring months.

Steel Ingot Production.

The sudden bulge in demand for automotive steel has brought an increase in the country's total steel ingot output for the eighth successive week. Ingot output is now variously estimated around 50 per cent of capacity, with one estimate placing it as high as between 52 and 53 per cent. There have been rather steady increases in demand for miscellaneous finished steel products. Owing to the reduction in railway earnings, buying of railroad equipment has been far below normal, but the last few days have brought a little more inquiry from the carriers. More business in the pipe line and structural steel is expected with the approach of open weather.

Among lighter lines of manufacturing, textile mills show sustained improvement, and observers are again recalling that this industry was the first to turn upward after the preceding severe business slump, that of 1921. There has been a good demand for finished cotton and print cloths in primary markets. Woolen and silk fabrics also continue to sell well. The leather trade also reports some improvement, and a better inquiry for hides at lower prices.

Wholesale and retail trade, however, continue rather quiet. Although the early date for Easter this year is expected to help the apparel business, wholesalers say that merchants are reluctant to build up their stocks.

The report shows that net income after all deductions was $8,750,914 in 1930, equal after 6 per cent preferred dividend requirements to 76 cents a share on 5,730,258 common shares outstanding against $14,000,689, or $1.73 a share on 5,560,424 shares in 1929. Gross income was $134,367,145 in 1930, against $175,922,744 in 1929.

WALL ST. SENSES BRIGHTENING OF FINANCE SCENE

Outlook Now Seen More Reassuring.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 22.—It would be quite within the visible facts to say that the financial scene brightened perceptibly last week.

This was not because signs of recovery in trade came distinctly into view; on the contrary, business reviews again emphasized the caution of merchants and the slow receipt of orders by producers. But an indefinable sense of a slowly changing attitude seemed to provide the markets and to direct their course whenever they moved at all.

It was objected by those who preferred to wait for visible proof of betterment that we had enough a year ago of the faith which is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen, and that we shall be wise not to repeat the markets' blunder of that season.

Perhaps it might be rejoined that this very point of view, which is widely prevalent, is itself a reassuring indication. When the markets rise, as they did last February and March, in response to general assertion that the whole situation is sure to change at once and very rapidly, the prudent looker-on will examine the underlying facts with reserve, perhaps with suspicion.

Persistent Strength.

When, however, markets persist in an obstinate show of strength, in the face of widespread incredulity over trade recovery, the case is somewhat different. The question cannot then be waved aside on the part of practitioners with an experienced finger on the pulse of business.

The fact that the stock market falls back for a day or two whenever its rise has become violent is as signifi-

MORE LIQUID BANK POSITION IS REVEALED

Reserve Reports Decline in Outstanding Credit.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—Banks of the country at the opening of 1931 were in a position of greatly increased liquidity because of decreases in the total volume of their outstanding credit and in the proportion of their assets that depend on local situations under the influence of customer relationships.

The federal reserve board in its monthly review of business and finance said this readjustment was the result of the conditions during the fifteen months prior to the opening of the present year, when there were an unusually large number of bank suspensions. In January there were 197 bank suspensions, as compared with 34 in December and 99 in January, 1930.

Period of Readjustment.

"The period of 15 months between October, 1929, and the end of 1930 was one of readjustment and liquidation for the banks of the country, as well as of an unusually large number of bank suspensions," the board said. "At the end of the period the active banks taken as a whole were in a position of greatly increased liquidity resulting both from a decrease in the total volume of their outstanding credit and a decrease in the proportion of their assets that depend upon local situations and are under influence of the customer relationship.

"The banks' open market holdings, which are in part in the nature of secondary reserves on the other hand, increased during the period in relation to their total resources. Furthermore, the liquidation of $5,500,000,000 of loans to the security market made by nonbanking lenders also strengthened the banking situation."

Currency Demand Rises.

The board said the demand for currency which had decreased during the first ten months of 1930 increased in November and December at more than seasonal rate. Unsettled conditions, it said, resulted in bank failures and withdrawal of currency from the reserve banks to increase the cash in local banks to meet the increased public demand.

The greater demand than the usual seasonal increase, it said, was felt in the New York, Richmond, San Francisco and Chicago district.

IMPROVEMENT IS REPORTED IN IRON AND STEEL

Officials of the Newton Steel company announced they expected to advance operations at the Monroe plant to 50 per cent of capacity April 1, although fewer units will be under power as production starts about March 1. Approximately 1,250 men will return to work at Monroe by April 1.

The Monroe plant, opened about a year ago, has been closed for nearly eight months and all operations have been centered at the Newton Falls, O., plant. Operations at Newton Falls will be better than 70 per cent next week, it was said. The company reports improvement in demand not only for automobile sheets but for other lines.

A slight increase in operations at the Sharon Steel Hoop company plant and a brighter outlook at the Carnegie Steel company mark this week in Shenango valley industrial circles, Dow, Jones & Co. says. Steel hoop plant officials are of the opinion the first quarter will be better than the comparative period of 1930.

From Cleveland came the report that the steady increase in operating schedules of the Otis Steel company has pushed the rate of production up to 65 per cent of capacity.

BOND MARKET HOLDS FIRM IN FACE OF BONUS

New York, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The best that can be said for the bond market last week was that it held its ground in the face of favorable action by congress on the soldiers' bonus legislation.

Only nominal interest was displayed by buyers in home investment issues and price movement was in a narrow rut most of the week. The sustained rally in the share market was reflected in increased activity and pronounced strength in convertibles and other obligations of a semi-speculative character.

Inquiry for some of the standard European governments picked up toward the close of the week, some advancing to new highs for the year. French 7s sold at a record high and the 7½s duplicated their record peak. There was heavy trading in German loans with firming price tendencies in evidence. The widest moves were in Australian Bonds, which reached new minimums for recent years before rallying briskly to recover several points.

RAILROAD NOTES

Gross operating revenue of the Chesapeake and Ohio and Hocking Valley railroads last month was $10,378,013, a decrease of $1,949,864 from January last year. Net operating income was $2,761,647, off $924,601. Net income of the Tennessee Central for the full year 1930 was $127,756, against $219,904 in 1929.

The interstate commerce commission has assigned for hearing here on March 24 the petition filed by the Railroad Engineman's union asking that the commission require all railroads to install automatic stokers and automatic reverse gear on locomotives. The unions allege that the failure of carriers to install this equipment constitutes a violation of the interstate commerce act. The hearing will be before Examiner J. L. Rogers.
